THIS TILING MACHINE was purchased by the Casey County Soil and Water Conservation District with money borrowed from the revolving equipment fund operated by the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources' Division of Soil and Water Conservation. Tiling machines bought through the fund have accounted for more than 1.5 million feet of tile drainage since the fund was established in 1948. Through June 30, 1966, a total of $7,203,388 has been loaned to local conservation districts from the fund to purchase heavy conservation equipment.

"Keep Our School System Progressing"

Ward Opens

The Paducah native did refer to an area of concern. "All of us are entitled to view with alarm the tactics employed by the knockers -- candidates and their backers who think and act negatively," he warned.

Expressing an opinion that "voters are smarter than some politicians believe," Ward offered his record for inspection, expressed an admiration for the growing interest being shown in politics by young men and women, then pledged to continue building great things for their Kentucky.

He asked for statewide support from persons who believe in his abilities and programs to help him gain the Democratic nomination, then the governorship next November.

Gubernatorial candidate Henry Ward opened his campaign for the Democratic nomination Saturday at the Sheraton Hotel in Louisville. There were approximately 1,000 persons attending. Leaders of the present state administration were present and former Highway Commissioner Henry Ward was introduced by former Governor Bert Combs. Combs is headed for a federal judgeship after Senate confirmation of his appointment.

Combs in his introduction in referring to the principal candidates for the Republican nomination, former Barren County Judge Loule B. Nunn and Jefferson County Judge Marlow W. Cook, Combs predicted:

"Loule will languish and Cookie will crumble. It doesn't matter which of them gets the nomination. It doesn't matter which one of them loses in November."

In speaking before the crowd Ward said:

"I get righteously indignant when I hear some Republicans question the sincerity, the moral integrity and the honesty of the people who have really done something for Kentucky, and the progress that has been made.

"I view with alarm evidence that some of these people hold Kentucky voters in contempt, and think they can get away with confusing, bemuddling or deceiving the people of Kentucky with reckless and irresponsible statements, distortions of the truth and slick propaganda."

Ward predicted that Kentuckians will vote in May and November to continue -- by electing Henry Ward -- the highway, parks and education programs he said were conceived during the administrations of Govs. Bert T. Combs and Edward T. Breathitt.

Most of the candidates for other offices in Democratic primaries were present to take advantage of the crowd.

Mrs. Walter Kendall, Democratic Committee woman of Nicholas County was present for the meeting and reports with enthusiasm the sincerity of Mr. Ward and the charm of Mrs. Ward.

Also at the meeting from Carlisle were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice King.

New Burley Tobacco Vote Set For Feb. 27-March 3

Burley tobacco growers will vote in a mail referendum Feb. 27-Mar. 3 on whether they want to use acreage - poundage quotas in marketing their 1967, 1968, and 1969 crops, Freeman M. Hockensmith, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, announced today. The program is authorized by tobacco legislation enacted in 1965.

Ballots will be sent to all known growers of burley tobacco. They may be returned to the ASCS county office by mail or in person.

Mr. Hockensmith emphasized the sacred right of the secret ballot is preserved. He explained it this way: The farmer receives his ballot, a plain white envelope and a second envelope addressed to the ASC County Committee, all in one envelope. The ballot is marked indicating the farmer's preference. It is then placed in this plain white envelope and sealed. This envelope is placed in the second envelope and sealed. The voter signs and dates the back of this envelope. On March 8, the county committee will check the envelopes for signatures and determine if they are in order. (Unsigned envelopes will not be opened.) Eligivility of each voter is determined by the county committee. All eligible signed envelopes are opened and the plain white envelopes are removed unopened. When all envelopes are opened and the opes have been put in a pile they are shuffled and then are opened. The public is invited to witness the canvassing of all ballots.

Farmers eligible to vote in the referendum are all those who shared in the 1966 burley tobacco crop or its proceeds; where no tobacco was produced in 1966 on a tobacco allotment farm, only the owner and operator are eligible to vote.

Growers have previously approved burley tobacco marketing quotas on an acreage basis for the 1965-67 crops, with 99 percent of the ballots favoring the quotas. These quotas will remain in effect for 1967 if the acreage - poundage quotas are not approved; in this case, most 1967 farm allotments would be the same as in 1966. If more than two - thirds of the growers voting approve the acreage - poundage quotas they will become effective in 1967.

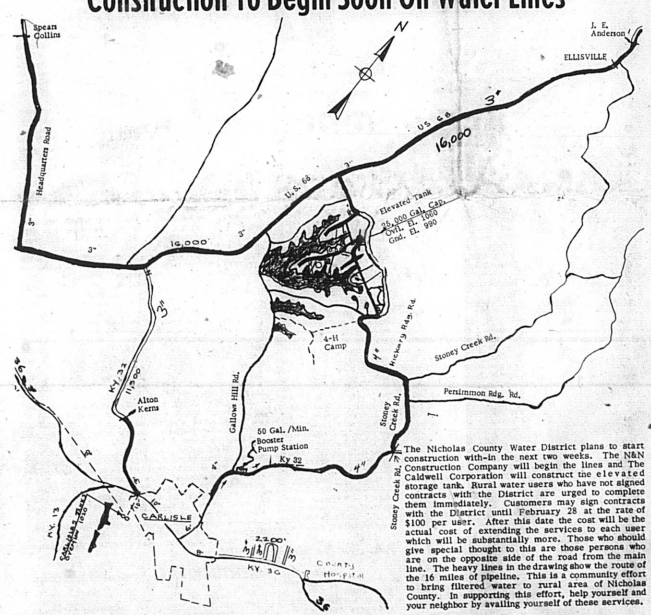
Chairman Hockensmith expalined that excessive supplies of burley tobacco have accumulated in recent years because of substantial increases in yields per acre. During the 5 years 1956-60, burley yields averaged 1,620 pounds per acre. For 1966, the indicated yield per acre rose to a new high -- 2,284 pounds. Thus, yields have increased about 40 percent within the past 6 years, and the end is not in sight. The 1966-67 total supply is equal to 3.2 times the estimated disappearance; 2.8 years is considered a normal supply.

According to the Chairman, farm operators will receive an official notice before the referendum showing the farm's new acreage allotment and poundage quota as well as the acreage allotted under the program now in effect. The allotment - and - poundage quota will be based on the new national marketing quota of 610 million pounds and the acreage allotment of 277, 273 acres, recently announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. Under the acreage allotment program now in effect, the acreage available for allotment in 1967 will be 250,153 acres. The acreage allotted in 1966 was 249,944 acres. Any questions about a farm allotment or quota should be taken up immediately with the A S C County Committee.

Under the acreage-poundage method, the farm acreage allotment will be about 10.8 percent larger than under quotas based on acreage alone, since the poundage quota provides protection against excessive marketings. Each farmer can thus aim at producing high-quality tobacco without losing part of his share of the market to other farmers who strive for high per-acre yields at the expense of quality.

If the farm's acreage allotment produces less than the poundage quota, the farmer can carryover the unused part of the quota to the next year. Price support in 1967 will be available on marketings equal to 120 percent of the farm's poundage quota (and on 110 percent in the following years) if the farm's harvested acreage is within the new acreage allotment.

Construction To Begin Soon On Water Lines



The Nicholas County Water District plans to start construction with-in the next two weeks. The N&N Construction Company will begin the lines and The Caldwell Corporation will construct the elevated storage tank. Rural water users who have not signed contracts with the District are urged to complete them immediately. Customers may sign contracts with the District until February 28 at the rate of $100 per user. After this date the cost will be the actual cost of extending the services to each user which will be substantially more. Those who should give special thought to this are those persons who are on the opposite side of the road from the main line. The heavy lines in the drawing show the route of the 16 miles of pipeline. This is a community effort to bring filtered water to rural area of Nicholas County. In supporting this effort, help yourself and your neighbor by availing yourself of these services.

Meetings To Explain Acreage-Poundage

The Acreage-Poundage questions to be explained at a series of meetings to be held in Nicholas County. Four meetings are being sponsored by the County Referendum Committee, County AFCS Committee and Extension Service. They will be held as follows:

Friday, Feb. 17 at Moorefield School

Monday, Feb. 20 at Courthouse in Carlisle

Tuesday, Feb. 21 at Headquarters School

Thursday, Feb. 23 at Blue Licks Lodge Hall

All meetings will start at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of these meetings is to acquaint producers with the facts regarding the program so they can decide for themselves how they should vote. Some new information on how this program will affect small growers and the possible effect on the future of the Burley program will be presented.

Every Nicholas County tobacco grower should attend one of these meetings and obtain all the information he can on the new program. It is his obligation to vote intelligently in the referendum Feb. 27 to March 3. We will try to help answer your questions. Everyone is welcome.
