MERCURY VAPOURS

By Warren R. Fisher
Pecans against Eugene Neal was telling us he picked his crop of pecans in the "Pecan Grove" section, page 126, December 10. The "Pecan Grove" was well worth the trouble. There had to be a lot of it. It was a "cut from the tree" of the "Pecan Grove" section, page 126, December 10. It was a "cut from the tree" of the "Pecan Grove" section, page 126, December 10.

Agree Or Not,

By S. C. Van Curen
I Say What I Think
Frankfort, Ky.—Sentiment is increasing among legislators to adopt the continuing committee system in the 1968 session of the General Assembly to make government more responsive to the people.

Farm & Home

4-H Club Work in Kentucky
The first 4-H Clubs were started in Fayette County, Kentucky in 1909. The first handbook was published in 1912 under the direction of Prof. T. B. Bryman, Head of Extension Work of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

4-H enrollment had grown to 18,500 in 1954 and has about 83,000 members.

The projects have been developed to interest all boys and girls whether they are farmers or city dwellers.

There've been many smiles and chuckles in our makeup or paste-up department this week.

One of these weeks, before long, the Mercury will treat readers to a special feature.

Local Business

By S. & T. Talbot, Chairman
The retailer who claims to be doing no advertising, looks like a fool. Everyone who sells anything does some kind of advertising.

I believe in my County, my State, my Community and in my responsibility for their development.

Opportunities Offered You in 4-H
Have you ever asked yourself or anyone else just what opportunities you have in 4-H?

The 4-H Emblem and Colors
The exact origin of the 4-H emblem is somewhat questionable.

The 4-H Club has been developed to help 4-H members understand their club and its part in our community.

No Advertising Claimers Fool Only Themselves

In business, inefficient and individualized plans for advertising result in excessive charges.

YOUR LIBRARY

The Nicholas County Library has received a shipment of new books from the Department of Libraries in Frankfort, among them are:

The First Ten, by Allan Galloway. An interesting history of the organization of the administration of our first President, George Washington through John Tyler.

The Frontiersmen, by Allan Eckert. A fascinating and dramatic account of the remarkable breed of men who opened the West.

Just Around The Corner, by Robert M. La Follette. A lively and diverting history of the era of the depression.

Secrets of Magic, by Walter Gibson. Seventy amazing facts of science and medieval magic.

Donovan Reaps Grid Honors
By Robby Lane
Use on his outstanding participation on the Nicholas football squad through-out his high school years.

Pat was selected by coaches all over Kentucky to the Class A, first all-state team.

Pat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Donovan, was participated in football six years in Junior varsity football two years, during his freshman year.

Pat has received letters from and visited several outstanding colleges in Kentucky. He plans to attend college next fall.

I'll tell you, by Edmond Scherfeld. A realistic look behind the scenes in professional baseball combines with exciting moments on the diamond in this fast, funny and usually well-written sports story.

The Magic Worker, by Joyce Vayner. The story of a young boy always in trouble and the nice teacher who comes to his aid.

The Indian Chork, by Edward Lear. An imaginative picture book of nonsense verses, a pure delight.

The Devil's Shadow, by Clifford Alderson. A story of witchcraft in Massachusetts. This is one of the few stories written for young people about a historical period in American history.

Clint and the Wedding Bells, by Catherine Woyner. Clint was to be a junior bridesmaid but calamity struck and Clint had to cancel her plans. How she did it to the wedding she'll tell you.
