Free Enterprise Day

Just about every day of the year has been set aside for observance of an event, an institution or a notable figure in the nation's history, a day of this kind is scheduled on the calendar for October 22--a occasion that not one person in a thousand will note or be aware of.

Free enterprise day has been designated by Congress in 1962. It is celebrated annually on October 22. It is defined as an "economic system by which primary labor and the products of that labor are controlled by private business operating for profit, and which is maintained and preserved by legislative and administrative action in the national economy and which government action in that respect is restricted to protecting against the continued and increasing encroachment of the government into private business activity. Free enterprise has made much of its strength, its vitality and its vitality have increased to the point of being almost unbreakable and unassailable as a result of the free enterprise system."

MERCURY VAPORS

By Warren R. Fisher

Someone gave me a smile today. I tried my best to give it away.

To everyone I I chanced to meet. As I walked down the street.

But everyone that I could see. Gave me a smile right back to me.

When I got home, besides my smile. I had enough to reach a mile!

Hi, Jimster.

One of my more pleasant tasks lately has been hanging out rymes for Kopy's Column on Hill Copeland on the subject of the antipodal poet laureate of the States Journal.

As the following is dedicated exclusively to you, hope you like it.

Nobody in Carlisle has to fool with lagers. These make us, they know. They know what we know. They know what we know. They know what we know.

What Makes Our Dishwasher Do a Good Job?

First of all, dishwashers themselves differ widely in cleaning ability. For instance, you can get one that is advertised as being "free-enterprise" because it has become more popular.

Free enterprise law in meaning, it is a system that is defined as an "economic system by which primary labor and the products of that labor are controlled by private business operating for profit, and which is maintained and preserved by legislative and administrative action in the national economy and which government action in that respect is restricted to protecting against the continued and increasing encroachment of the government into private business activity. Buyer, BEWARE!

By Herb Holmes, Staff Writer

One of the most vexing problems confronting the buyer today arises from the confusion created by the "buyers beware" slogan.

The American Business Association forewarns a major pitfall of buying goods is that the consumer who is not a professional buyer is likely to be misled by the salesman's sales pitch.

Let's Talk About Community Action

By Jay Taylor

The Community Action Program is probably the best understood phase of Economic Opportunity. So economic programs are being established and carried out by Community Action Groups.

Community action is a new idea, or at least is presented in a new package, and it does pose a threat to our established pattern of thought.

Local Business Newspaper Advertising Can Find The Buyers

By S. J. Lambert, Chairman

How many prospective customers of Carlisle have in a year of 2007? Perhaps one. In fact, the country is no longer a country of small businesses.

Perhaps in the case of some people who want to become aware that they are not alone in the struggle of luxury cars.

Washington Report From Your Congressman

By R. H. Watts

Congress took a recess over the long Labor Day week-end and I, along with my colleagues, started this week's report to you.

The labor fight goes on. It is always beautiful but this time, it seemed especially so. Don't let the plentiful summer rains.
