What Kind Of Crazy Year Is This?

College football players haven't worn their game jerseys long enough to get rid of the "new" smell, and already it has been a crazy season. Even a casual fan is still in shock after last Saturday. You don't have to ramble far and wide to point it out either. Just consider the Southeastern Conference.

Since coming to Kentucky, Coach Charlie Bradshaw's forte has been opening games. Never has he seen his Wildcats drop their curtain raiser. That is, he never had until last Saturday when Indiana spoiled things by winning 12 to 10. It was an untypical Kentucky loss. A team that prides itself on conditioning, got whipped soundly in the second half after taking a 10 to 0 lead in the first two quarters.

Then, there's Mississippi, the team Kentucky faces this week-end. The Johnny Reba had never lost to Memphis State, their traditional season opener. They hadn't, that is, until last Saturday night, when Memphis State took a 27 to 17 victory. It was their first win in 22 tries against Ole Miss. This was supposed to have been one of those old Ole Miss seasons.

And let's not forget Alabama, tied 37-37 by Florida State, Bama's high national ranking came mostly on the strength of its defensive team, returning almost intact from last season's unbeaten campaign. Last year, though, the Tide gave up 37 points to the TEN teams on the schedule, the same amount Florida scored in the opener.

For all these teams, last Saturday was the opener of the 1967 season and already, what kind of crazy year is this?

Students Being Considered For Draft Deferments

Frankfort--Kentucky Selective Service local boards are commencing to consider registrants for student deferment at all levels of education under the provisions of the Military Selective Service Act of 1967, according to Colonel Taylor L. Davidson, State Director.

"Our new regulations are broad enough to allow those registrants who have the capacity for academic pursuits and are willing to make application of the ability and opportunity to futher their education and training resulting in a greater contribution to the national health, safety, and interest," Colonel Davidson said.

The State Director and members of his staff recently met with the Kentucky Selective Service Educational Advisory Committee and the Kentucky Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers to discuss the recent changes in the law, which would affect college students. Commenting on this meeting, Colonel Davidson stated he was convinced that Kentucky educators now have a better understanding of the requirements for student deferment, and that he anticipated no difficulty when fall enrollment begins.

All local boards in Kentucky have been furnished a new state regulation with respect to student deferments. These guidelines implement the regulations prescribed by the President.

Colonel Davidson said, "Undergraduate students just commencing their course of study in the Fall 1967 semester or quarter or those with previous training who re-enroll at a college, university or similar institution of learning will be considered for student deferment and the school verifies that they are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of education. They will continue to be deferred as students until they complete the requirement for the baccalaureate degree, fail to pursue satisfactorily a full-time course of instruction, or attain the twenty-fourth anniversary of the date of birth, whichever comes first. Selective Service Forms 104, for requesting a college student deferment, will be available shortly at any local board office or college admissions or registrars office in Kentucky. It will be necessary to submit this form or request in writing only once after July 1, 1967.

"A student's 'academic year' shall include the 12-month period following the beginning of his course of study. A student pursuing a full-time course of instruction should be making proportionate progress each academic year.

"It shall be the student's duty to provide his local board each year with evidence that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at a college, university, or similar institution of learning. He can make arrangements with his school admissions officer or registrar to submit the necessary information to his local board.

"Graduate students may be deferred if they are pursuing a course of graduate study in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy or optometry, or in such other subjects as necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest as are identified by the Director of Selective Service upon the advice of the National Security Council. The National Security Council is not expected to make any additional recommendations for several months.

"Any student entering his first year of graduate study (all courses) on October 1, 1967, will be considered for deferment for one academic year providing he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course and he has entered the first class commencing after the date he completed the requirements for admission. Continued deferment will not be granted these students unless the course of study is one of the above mentioned healing arts subjects or is later identified to be in the national health, safety, or interest by the Director of Selective Service upon the advice of the National Security Council.

He pointed out all Selective Service registrants are reminded that by law local boards must place an individual in Class I-A (available for military service) unless evidence or written information is furnished the local boards which, in their opinion, entitles the registrant to a deferment or exemption subject to a right of appeal.

It is the responsibility of the registrant to furnish the local board with any change of address, change in status, or change in occupation.

"Henry Ward intends to have the kind of administration that works for the people of Kentucky -- and that is why we are seeking the broadest type of people-participation," Ockerman said.

"We must preserve Kentucky's characteristic respect for the principle of law and order, we must build schools, build roads, we must increase the number of available good jobs all across Kentucky," he said.

"Working together, the people and Henry Ward will build a sound Kentucky with Henry Ward," he said.

Council Votes To Move City Dump To Hollar Property On Myers Road

City Council voted Tuesday night to move the city dump to property owned by O.L. Hollar on the Myers Road. The new dump will cost the city $400 for one year, with the option to lease the property again the second year. The contract on the present city dump expired on Oct. 1. The old site is to be cleaned with a bulldozer as soon as it can be arranged.

Bids on painting and repairing the water tanks at the reservoir were read from four companies. All four bids were rejected by council as being too high for the job.

City taxes on property will bring revenue of $21, 663.37, it was announced. Notices, the check list, will be mailed on Monday. The tax rate is 23.6 per $100 of assessed value.

Charles Watkins appeared before council to discuss running water lines through the industrial site. He said that the water lines were running to the left, therefore, in a position to supply water to three customers on the other side of the industrial site. They are Feeder Supply, County Farm, and Quarry. Council voted to allow the Water District to run the lines, excluding any service to the industrial site, which is a condition already in effect.

County truckers will be required to pay 30 cents per 100 gallons of water, effective Oct. 15, as opposed to the present 15 cents they are now paying. This increase brings their rates up to the rates being paid by city users.

It was announced at the meeting that the Fiscal Court adopted a "workable program" on Tuesday relative to the City-County Planning Commission. Such a "program" is required before becoming eligible for government funds for community improvements. It also entails adopting various plumbing and electrical codes, etc., it was stated. The question was raised by two councilmen as to why the county has accepted the program, the city is automatically covered by the same codes. Since the council did not have enough information on the subject, it was suggested that a representative from Frankfort be contacted to meet with the group before any further action is taken.

Mayor William Power brought to the attention of council that Glen Clay's apartment building on Chestnut Street is creating two problems: first, water drainage on the alley side is going directly into the basement of Mrs. Billy Frey's on the other side of the alley; second, that the diagonal parking in the front of the building is interferring with two-way traffic on Chestnut Street. Joe F. Conley, City Attorney, was directed to write a letter that the water drainage problem be corrected immediately. It was also suggested that parallel parking might be the only answer to the traffic problem.

The problem of trucks parking on certain streets was discussed after complaints from several residents. The owners of the trucks will be contacted to investigate solution to this problem.

2,500 car stickers will be ordered from Dudley Vaught at a cost of $243.50. The receipts in duplicate will cost the city $66.90.

A motion was passed to adopt the work schedule which had been devised by councilmen and other city employees. The schedule will allow for time-off for the employees, regular pay for overtime, and became effective as of Sept. 1. The policemen were not included in the schedule.

Council voted to rehire Elizabeth Eaunce immediately as janitor at the city building. She had been fired by council previously through a misunderstanding.

Earl Watkins salary was raised from $300 to $325 per month. Clarence Baughus' salary was raised from $350 to $400 per month.

A building permit was granted to John Clinkenbard, School Street, to replace a porch.

Council voted to give $100 toward the Blue Grass party as it has done for several years. Also, council agreed to match the $299 State aid with an additional $299 for new fire hose. It directed that two fire hydrants on Broadway and on Walnut be replaced if they cannot be repaired.

Since next council meeting night is election night it was decided to meet the following Tuesday instead.

The police report was as follows; Parking 2; careless driving, 1; reckless driving, 3; speeding, 2; running stop sign, 2; breach of peace, 1; improper muffler, 1; no operators license, 1; total arrests, 11.

Total fines, $304.00; meter deposits, $401.04.

ASC County Committee Named

The Nicholas County ASC committee election was held at a county convention, Sept. 27, at the ASCS office. Farmers recently elected as community committeemen were the delegates to the convention. Only one member of the three member committee was due to be elected this year.

Roy Snapp was re-elected for a three-year term. The other two members are Harvey Wagoner whose term will expire in 1968 and H.S. Vice whose term will expire in 1969. Mr. Wagoner was elected as chairman, Mr. Snapp, vice chairman and Mr. Vice as regular member of the committee. The position of chairman and vice chairman are elected on each year at the county convention.

Alternates elected were: R.M. Hilbreth, Jr., and Lyell Wilson. Chairman Wagoner pointed out that the ASC County and community committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Cropland Adjustment Program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas and the National Wool Act.

The ASCS county office at 246 East Main Street, is headquarters for the county committee and serves as the farmers local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the committees. These programs encourage conservation and increase farm returns by means of price supports and market supply-management, as well as by the payments.

Office personnel of the Nicholas County ASCS Office are: Alma Atkinson, office manager, and Virginia Fryman and Athylene Sosby, clerks.

Congressman Watts In County On Oct. 7

Representative John C. Watts today informed the Editor of this newspaper that he plans to visit Nicholas County in order to afford the people an opportunity to personally discuss any governmental problems they may have as well as any other matter affecting their national government.

"I have personal plans call for his being in the County, Saturday, Oct. 7, at the courthouse, 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The Congressman expressed regret that time and the delay of the adjournment of Congress this year would not permit him to make a personal call on each of his friends and constituents. However, he did evidence the hope that as many as possible would endeavor to meet him on the occasion and at the place of his visit so that he might have the opportunity of talking to them.

Representative Watts said, "I have always felt that the opportunity to meet with the constituency is of substantial advantage to both the folks and myself, and I certainly hope that the response to my visit will be quite representative."

Lowe To Represent

James C. Lowe of Carlisle, will represent Southern States Cooperative at the Carlisle area at the cooperative's district election meeting to be held October 12 at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington. James Cable manager of the local Southern States retail outlet in the above area will also attend.

The session will elect a member of the cooperative to serve on its Board of Directors for the next three years.

Skeleton Outlines

Framed, its skeletal outlines against the noon-day sky, stands the Nicholas County Water District's pressure tank. The tank will supply adequate pressure to the district's some 200 customers in the very near future.

Frey Hospital Fund

The Vaughn Frey Hospital Fund to date totals $1,474.54. Frey is up and around, though on crutches and his recovery is expected to be complete due to the success of the rare heart surgery.

Nine County 4H Jamboree Oct. 7 At North Central

A 4-H Jamboree for club members from nine counties including Nicholas county will be held at North Central 4-H Camp, Carlisle, Saturday evening, Oct. 7. It was announced today by Mrs. Ann Hisel, area youth agent in the Blue Grass Area. The event will start at 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

The event will include folk games, a cake-walk, camp fire program and sessions on project work. All 4-H members and their families are invited to the program.

Dr. John Woeste, area director, who is making plans for the Jamboree said "I feel this will be a very informative and enjoyable event for all those attending".

The Jamboree is the first of it's kind to be held. Judy Hisel, a Scott 4-H member and an area director originated the program idea and is instrumental in the Jamboree planning.

"It is my goal that this program be informative, inspirational and enjoyable" Miss Hisel said.

She said an award will be given for "best original name tag" which all members are requested to make. Other awards will be to the county with most members present and to county which has done the best job emphasizing 4-H week. Plaques will be given by Scott Hi-Teens Club.

Those attending are requested to bring a sack lunch and drinks will be available at the camp.

Surtax Action Is Tabled

A vote Tuesday on a motion by Rep. John C. Watts (D, Ky.) member of the House Ways and Means Committee, suspended all action on the tax bill (President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge) until such a time as the President and Congress reach an understanding on a means of implementing controls of expenditures."

The bill was temporarily tabled because the committee was unable to get any firm commitments from top administration officials on its demand that federal spending be trimmed at least $5 billion.

MAYOR TO WELCOME

Fox Hunters At Show Monday; Invitations Out For 35th Hunt

Formal invitations to the Central Kentucky Foxhunters' thirty fifth annual Field Trials and Bench Show have been issued. The general public is invited and urged to attend all functions and phases of the hunt. Final arrangements have been made and all committees appointed, Herbert McClanahan, as president, and Shirley A. Reid, as secretary, are in charge, generally, of all phases of the hunt, Edmond Stone, of Lexington, as Master of Hounds, will direct all proceedings in the field and Mr. Stone, as Bench Show Judge will conduct the Bench Show, assisted by Jimmy Richardson, of Owingsville, as Ring Master.

Homemakers Federation Music Workshop Held

A music workshop was held at Lexington, Sept. 29, by the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers according to Mrs. J.M. Pitman, Nicholas County Chorus Director who works with the Homemakers music program.

The program at the workshop included introduction of new music for Kentucky Homemakers Chorus presentation at the 1968 state homemakers convention, instruction on proper use of the voice, and rehearsal sections both for different vocal sections and for the entire group.

Although the workshop introduced music for the Kentucky Homemakers Chorus it was open to anyone interested in music and singing, whether or not she is a homemaker club member, Mrs. Pitman pointed out.

The homemakers music program stresses the formation of county choruses for those who wish to sing in singing groups and encourages these county groups to join together in the State Chorus. However, club and community singing, as well as music understanding and appreciation, and the importance of volunteer leadership in county music programs, also are emphasized. Those participating in the Nicholas County program are Mrs. Omer Berry, Mrs. John Clinkenbard, Mrs. Boone Clark, Mrs. Billy Marvin Gudgell, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Herman Vice, Mrs. Bonnie Jemima, Miss Lucille Bustin, Mrs. Harvey Wilson and Miss Lavina McFarland.

Anyone who enjoys music and singing is invited to attend the sessions and participate in the program. Contact one of the above people for time and place.
