Senate Designates April 21-27 As Scholastic Publications Week

A resolution proclaiming Kentucky Scholastic Publications Week was unanimously adopted by the Kentucky Senate on Feb. 14, April 21 through 27 was designated as scholastic publications week.

Senator Edward A. Murphy introduced the measure at the request of Glen Kleine, assistant professor of English and advisor to the student newspaper at Eastern Kentucky University.

The resolution states that scholastic publications were honored because they "play an increasing important role in the preparation of young men and women to be professional journalists of the future."

"Scholastic publications also continue to serve as an immediate training ground for youth in the exercise of the highest type of responsible citizenship through the opportunities afforded by the inculcation of American ideals of democracy and international good will," was included as another reason.

That students who enter the profession of journalism are "so imbued with the journalist's credo of the public journal as a public trust," was cited as another justification.

The last week in April has traditionally been designated as scholastic publications week in Minnesota and Missouri during the past several years.

19,000 Children Expected To Enroll In Head Start

Frankfort, Ky.--

Nineteen thousand children are expected to enroll in this summer's Head Start program in Kentucky, according to the Kentucky Office of Economic Opportunity which administers the Federal program.

This summer's program will be funded by over $5 million--a slight increase over any previous summer program since 1965 when Head Start first began in Kentucky, a spokesman for OEO said.

This summer's enrollment will be in addition to 6,000 children from low income families who are attending full-year Head Start programs, the spokesman said. He also noted that school districts in 117 counties in Kentucky have either summer or full-year programs.

He said staffs operating the programs will be trained at five State Universities, Kentucky State College and the University of Louisville.

Among the board goals of Head Start are: Improvement of the child's health; his ability to think, reason and speak clearly; build his self-confidence, and provide him with wider and varied experiences in broadening his horizons.

Angus Association Grants Membership To Steve Faul

Steve Faul, 17, Carlisle has been granted a junior membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Mo., announces Glen Bratcher, secretary.

This new junior membership entitles the member to register purebred Angus at regular membership rates and to the privileges of the Association until the age of 21. At that time junior members are eligible to convert to lifetime membership in the Association.

There were 230 young people in the United States to receive junior memberships last month.

YOUR LIBRARY

The Nicholas County Library has received a shipment of new books from the Department of Libraries. Among them are:

The Mark Fein Case, by William A. Reubin. The complete story of a young millionaire accused, tried, and convicted of murdering his bookie.

Slowly Down the Ganges, by Eric Newby. This is the story of a 1,200-mile journey made by two Europeans down the Ganges, the holy river of India. Serious, entertaining, colorfully descriptive, this is a remarkable travel book.

The World of Budget Decorating, by Jo Ann Francis. This book opens up a whole world of choices for creating a warm, welcome home or apartment.

The Ray Harm Nature Sketchbook, by Ray Harm. In this book, Ray Harm virtually evokes the sights and sounds of the forest as he takes the reader into the fascinating woodland realm of birds and animals.

Shady Grove, by Janice Holt Giles. The author, who knows Appalachia from the inside, shows it to us through this story of a people who don't like to walk proud but will always stand by their own. Shady Grove is a novel that is in its way a social document, but one that makes us laugh at the same time touches the heart.

To Seek a Newer World, by Robert Kennedy. These essays by R.F. Kennedy, which grew out of speeches, travel and his experience as Attorney General and a United States Senator, pose a simple question for American in the 60's and 70's, "are we willing to dare?"

Animal Gardens, by Emily Hahn. A history of zoos from pre-Christian era in China and Egypt to the construction of the new Milwaukee Zoo.

Applique Old and New, by Nedda Anders. For modern needleworkers, the book gives techniques for all forms of applique.

We Nehrus, by Krishna Hutheesing. The personal, dramatic history of one of the world's most important political families told by the younger sister of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

My Favorite Funny Story, by Bill Adler. This book represents the spectrum of public life--from statesman to sportsman, from cinema queen to business tycoon.

Sherlock Holmes Investigates, by A. Conan Doyle. Here in one volume are a half dozen of the most popular adventures of Sherlock Holmes.

The Wit and Wisdom of Billy Graham as Told by Billy Graham. Records in his own words the great evangelist's philosophy and feelings on today's most important issues.

The R.C. Kash Scholarship at the University of Kentucky is provided by Dr. R.C. Kash for a sophomore boy who has demonstrated outstanding academic and leadership qualities by supporting himself through part-time work in his freshman year.

Announcing
Chevrolet's new Torque-Drive.

Nobody else offers anything like it at the price.

Torque-Drive does away with the clutch pedal. Most of the shifting, too. And for the most economy, it's available exclusively on all Camaro exes and Chevy II Nova 4- and 6-cylinder models.

Look how simple it is. You accelerate in 1st, then shift to hi for cruising. That's all. If you like, you can even start in Hi. And accelerate from standstill to cruising speed. It's just a little slower that way.

The shift lever is conveniently located on the steering column, and there's a selector quadrant with easy-to-read indicators. Park-Neutral. Only your Chevrolet dealer has it—clutchless driving—at only $68.65.

The first no clutch one shift $68.65* transmission

Only Chevrolet has it.

CHEVROLET

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price including Federal Excise Tax. State and local taxes additional.

Services Restricted

Providing a funeral detail and bugler at the graveside services of deceased military personnel has been a long standing tradition by means of which the army has shown honor and respect to those who have served their country. In recent years, this headquarters has provided support for graveside services of deceased veterans within a fifty mile radius of this station. The magnitude of the Army's present commitment in the Republic of Vietnam and the severely limited personnel resources in CONUS have necessitated restricting this service to deceased Active Army personnel and retired personnel only.

Selective Service

Question: I am 23 years of age and attend summer school to make up deficiencies during my second year of college. This fall will be my third year of college and I will be ranked as a sophomore. Will I be deferred to go another school year?

Answer: Since you are apparently out of progression and have not made satisfactory progress under the new regulations, your local board is not required to grant you a student deferment. However, it will be to your best interest to make a written request stating the reasons why you are out of progression and how you propose to overcome this deficiency.

Question: In regard to college student deferments, is a junior college considered an institution of higher learning?

Answer: Yes, if the credits given by the junior college are acceptable toward the granting of a baccalaureate degree by a college, university or similar institution of learning.

Question: What requirements must I meet to qualify for a II-S calssification as an undergraduate college student?

Answer: You must file a written request with your local board for deferment as an undergraduate college student. Additionally, you must provide your local board each year with convincing evidence that you are continuing to pursue satisfactorily a full-time course of instruction at a college, university or similar institution of learning and have completed a proportionate share of work.

Question: I have completed three years of college and earned 75% of the units required for my degree but my class standing is very low. Can I be deferred for my senior year?

Answer: You may be considered for a classification of II-S by your local board for the fourth year of undergraduate study. Class standing does not have a relationship to the deferment so long as you are full-time and satisfactory student.
