Agree Or Not, I Say What I Think

By S. C. Van Courton

Frankfort, Ky.—Finance Commissioner Albert Christian has announced that several small savings here and there in his latest economic measure add up to a substantial figure in the state's multi-million dollar budget.

The Finance Department has been taking a look at out-of-state travel, use of state cars, gasoline credit cards, supply purchasing, purchase of office machines and equipment.

Finance is also keeping a close watch on the state's investment of surplus state funds, monthly bond money that has not been invested in short-term securities.

Christian has instituted a rule that department heads must have out-of-state travel reports in "Yankee at least one day before the travel begins."
