Mothers March For Birth Defects Saturday, Jan. 25

These two children are the victims of Birth Defects, a disease that cripples many children each year. Jennifer Louise Hunt, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt, was born Sept. 14, 1966, with a birth defect called congenital tracheo-esophageal fistula, which affected her trachea and prevented her from the benefit of normal breathing and speaking. Jennifer was first operated on two days after her birth. Since then she has had to live with a trachea tube in her throat. She has, since her birth, received constant adult supervision and attention to make sure that the device does not become clogged or accidentally dislodged. Jennifer has had several operations, all in an attempt to correct her defect and enable her to breathe without this mechanical aid. All three operations have failed to improve her condition but as yet doctors have been unable to remove the trachea tube permanently. It is now believed that she will have to depend upon this device for the rest of her life. There is a possibility, however, that with our contributions she may be helped. The cost of treatment has reached a figure over $5,000 at the U.S. Medical Center. She also requires out-patient care every two weeks. The local March of Dimes has been able to help some but your immediate response to the March of Dimes solicitation will help expand their efforts.

Birth Defect Victims Cong. Waits Announces Grant To Mentally Retarded Schooling

Congressman John C. Watts has announced the awarding of a federal grant in the amount of $48,000 which will provide on-the-job training for mentally retarded persons in Covington, Lexington, Louisville, Owensboro, and Bowling Green and surrounding areas. The U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship Training, awarded the contract to the Kentucky Association for Retarded Children, a non-profit organization, whose office is in Frankfort. It will pay trainees $25 per week for up to 26 weeks, plus housing allowances to participate in the program. Robert Hardier, representative of the Bureau of Apprenticeship Training, said, "The primary objective of the project is to seek employment for 100 retarded, making them tax payers rather than tax burdens. We are optimistic that the project will help to develop intellectual, social, and vocational behavior in the retarded by placing them in a public setting." Mrs. Dorothy Lucile, director of the CRT project and executive secretary of KARC, stated that "the policy of KARC under usual circumstances is to obtain, rather than provide, services for the retarded; however, these are opportunities and circumstances when the association is in a position to provide direct services to the retarded and their families. For example, in locating employers willing to hire handicapped persons."

Nicholas Tobacco Brings High $ On Paris Market

14.3 Per Cent In County In Government Employ

The number of Nicholas County residents on government payroll is relatively small. Compared with other communities across the state, only 14.3 per cent of the local people in government jobs—state, county and local—only 10 per cent. This is seen in revised figures, updated on the basis of new, national data compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Tax Foundation and others. In the local area, it appears, about one out of every seven employed persons work for some branch of government. Taken into consideration are all those employed in a civilian capacity by the Federal government, by the state and by counties, municipalities and other agencies of government. Those in armed forces are not included. The survey shows that, in almost every part of the country, there has been a sharp increase in recent years in the number of people in public jobs. Since 1960, their total has grown from 8.3 million to over 11.5 million, a rise of 38 percent. During the same period, the national population rose only 10 percent. In Nicholas County, the number of people who are holding down government jobs at this time is estimated at 300. What it amounts to, in terms of the total working population, is that approximately 14.3 percent are publicly employed. Elsewhere in the United States, an average of 15.7 percent are so employed and, in the East South Central States 15.8 percent. The Labor Department notes that, contrary to general belief, the great increase in the number of government workers in recent years has been limited to state and local jobs, which have multiplied at five times the rate of Federal jobs. Payroll for teachers and other school employees have become the major item in most local budgets.

Motor Vehicle Inspection Law Now In Effect

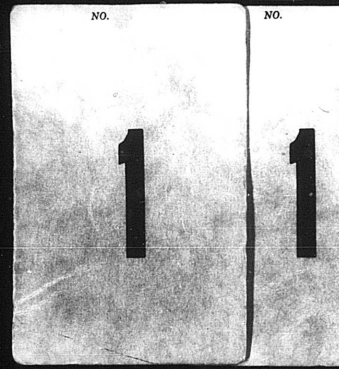

Kentucky's new motor vehicle inspection law has begun. During January 1968, it is expected that 100,000 vehicles will be inspected. The maximum inspection fee that can be charged by the owner will be $2.50. If the vehicle needs repair or replacement, the owner must bear the cost. If the repairs are made in five days of the inspection, the fee will be reduced to $1.50. If the vehicle is not inspected during January and February, 1968, it will be inspected by the state on a table announced. To use the table the state owner must first be on the list of the 1968 Kentucky license plates for the car when it is received. If the last number is three, the vehicle must be inspected by March 31st; if the last number is 4 it must be inspected by May 31st; if the last number is 5 it must be inspected by July 31st; if the last number is 6 it must be inspected by September 30th. For the last number of zero the vehicle must be inspected by October 31st. When the last number is one it must be inspected by November 30th.
