Controlling Federal Spending

After months of wrangling, Congress passed a long-expended tax increase on the same time, voted to force cuts in government spending by $5 billion, in commenting on passage of the tax increase bill. "At this point, you are sure of the bill," says one source. "You cannot be really sure that spending will go down. It is a good idea to have a spending cut, but it is a very difficult task to do. The pressure is almost irresistible. These pressures are not only from the people themselves, but also from the government itself. These pressures are not only from the people themselves, but also from the government itself."

DOOR TO DOOM!

Agree Or Not,

I Say What I Think
By S. C. Van Curen

Franklin D. Roosevelt's policy of appeasement toward Hitler, which culminated in the Munich agreement of 1938, is being compared to the present-day situation in the Middle East. The author argues that the current situation is a repeat of the Munich agreement, where the appeasement of Hitler led to the outbreak of World War II. He suggests that a similar policy of appeasement toward the Soviet Union and China would be equally disastrous.
