Post Office Employment Cutback

Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson today moved to comply with the employment cutback required by Congress under the recently enacted tax bill (Public Law 90-364) by ordering some postal services and hiring curtailed.

"This is not a matter of dollars but of people," Postmaster General Watson explained in a statement issued in California, where he is inspecting postal facilities. "Under the manpower restrictions imposed by the tax bill we simply will not have enough people to continue all postal services at their present level." "Hopefully," he said, "Congress will correct this situation."

"The Department agreed with the need for a cut back in funds for the fiscal year that began July 1. We are not asking for a restoration of any money cut from our budget. We believe we can operate within our budget and maintain postal services at or near their present levels if we do not have to reduce employment to the June 1966 level."

The following actions were ordered: Effective July 27 all Saturday and Sunday window service at first and second class post offices and classified units will be discontinued except that a general delivery or call window may be opened for not more than two hours to deliver mail regularly addressed to general delivery patrons and to hand out mail to business firms whose mail is regularly handled in this manner.

Effective July 27 Saturday collection of mail from street deposit boxes will be adjusted to conform to Sunday collection service.

Effective immediately postmaster vacancies existing or occuring in third or fourth class post offices won't be filled and vacancies existing or occuring on rural routes will not be filled until it is determined whether the route can be consolidated with another one or eliminated.

250 fourth class post offices will be discontinued effective Aug. 2 and another 97 fourth class offices will be discontinued Aug. 30. Arrangements will be made to provide rural delivery service to the persons affected by the shutdowns.

Postmasters also have been directed to submit to the Department by Sept. 1 their plans for elimination of all Saturday delivery on city residential routes. The effective date for the elimination of Saturday residential delivery will be established by the Department.

The tax bill requires the Post Office Department to reduce its employment to the level of June 30, 1966. This will mean a reduction of 83,238 positions.

To make the cutback in jobs, Post Offices have been ordered to fill only three out of four vacancies as they occur.

Wheat Certificate Payments Will Be $1.38 Per Bushel

Lexington, Ky.--

Farmers participating in the 1968 wheat program this year will get wheat "certificate" payments with a value of $1.38 per bushel.

That's the word from the USDA and the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) office, the U.K. Cooperative Extension Service notes.

Wheat marketing certificates are authorized by the Food and Agricultural Act of 1965, guaranteeing participating farmers 100 per cent of wheat parity prices for their share of the wheat used for domestic food.

Certificate payments to farmers participating in the 1968 wheat program will begin about July 15 from ASCS county offices. Payments will be based on the projected production of 40 per cent of the farm's planted acreage within the 1968 wheat acreage allotment. About 40 per cent of the State's wheat allotment is on participating farms.

A small quantity of corn from the 1967 crop produced in certain southeastern states and taken over by the Commodity Credit Corporation under the price-support program will be moved into export channels in an orderly manner as it is delivered from farms, USDA announces. Warm humid climates and lack of adequate storage facilities in the region make storage impractical. Farmers in North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Florida and Kentucky probably will be delivering the corn to CCC by August 1, 1968.

Murray, Kentucky, a fishing and vacation town, is also the site of one of the world's largest dark-fired tobacco markets. Ten percent of the U.S. popcorn supply is processed here also.

Kentucky Film Wins Acclaim

"Kentucky Feathered Rainbow," a color film of Kentucky's birds produced for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources by Karl Maslowski of Cincinnati, received national acclaim for the second time this year in ceremonies in New Orleans, La., recently.

The award "For Motion Picture Excellence" was presented by the American Association for Conservation Information, a national organization aimed at promoting public understanding of basic conservation practices.

AACI President William C. Dillinger, of the California Department of Fish and Game, presented the 1967 First Place International Award plaque to Harry Towles, director of Kentucky's Fish and Wildlife Public Relations division, during the group's annual conference.

"Feathered Rainbow" -- already honored as best in the nation by the Outdoor Writers Association of America--was judged in competition with other conservation entries from 33 states and provinces.

Kentucky's overall conservation information program was rated fourth among 149 entries. Magazines, news programs, motion pictures, radio and television programs, publications, exhibits, special information programs and photography were considered in the overall contest.

"Kentucky's Feathered Rainbow" shows 65 species of the approximately 300 kinds of birds that live in or visit our state. Producer and photographer Maslowski, who spent more than a year filming the array of avian activities portrayed in the 16mm movie is a noted wildlife writer and lecturer.

Judges of the AACI's motion picture category were Roy Wilcox of Roy Wilcox Productions, Meriden, Conn., and Dick Borden of Dick Borden Productions, Concord, Mass.

Information on showings of the film can be obtained by writing to the Department of Fish and Wildlife, State Office Building, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601.
