Record 1967 Farm Output Results In 10% Income Drop

Lexington, Ky. -- Output and declining prices in 1967 caused a 10 percent drop in net farm income. This situation may have a carry-over into 1968, particularly in the grain and livestock sectors.

Walter Browning, economist, author of the current letter, says, "Large feed-grain production and low prices from 1967 may exert downward pressure on farm prices and income from both grain and livestock in the year ahead, 1968."

John Faulconer, Director of the U.S. Army in Vietnam, said he is available to serve with the U.S. Army in Vietnam.

John Faulconer is the son of Mrs. James Hampton Faulconer of Florida. His wife, Mrs. C. C. Faulconer, is a 1961 graduate of Nicholas County High School.

Deciduous (broadleaf) trees. Like other plants, usually they are fertilized periodically. Tree appearance, resistance to certain insects and disease-causing organisms, and general vigor can be greatly maintained by proper fertilization.

One to two pounds of fertilizer should be applied for each inch of trunk diameter for trees less than six inches in diameter. Larger trees should receive two to four pounds of fertilizer per inch.
