Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q--My refund hasn't come. Where should I write?

A--If it has been less than ten weeks since you filed your return, please be patient. Most taxpayers either get their refund or receive a letter about it within this ten-week period.

If it has been over ten weeks since you filed your return, write the regional service center where you filed. Be sure to give your social security number as well as your name and address, and indicate when you filed your return.

Millions of tax returns were filed in April, and our personnel are working on processing these returns as speedily and efficiently as they can. Requests to check on refunds slow this processing.

However, if you receive nothing after waiting ten weeks, and then write a thorough investigation will be made to determine the status of your refund.

Q--What's the rate I should pay when I report my maid's social security taxes this quarter?

A--The rate is 4.4% for the employee and 4.4% for the employer making the combined rate 8.8%. Employers who paid a household employee $50 or more in total cash wages during January, February and March, should pay 8.8% of the total wages to IRS using Form 942.

The deadline for paying these taxes is April 30.

Q--My refund has arrived. Does that mean that my return was okay and will not be audited?

A--No, it does not. The fact that you have your refund indicates that your return contained all the required information and that there were no mistakes in arithmetic.

IRS generally has three years from the filing deadline of the return to examine the return and propose an adjustment in the tax liability.

For this reason, keep your tax records for at least three years from the due date of the return. Some records, such as those relating to the acquisition of a house or other property should be kept longer.

Q--My refund was less than I expected. Who do I write about it?

A--Whenever a change is made on a return that affects the amount of tax due, an explanation is sent to the taxpayer, generally within two weeks from the date the refund check is mailed.

If you do not receive this notice, write to your IRS Service Center where you filed for an explanation. Please be sure to give your full name, address and social security number so that your return can be identified.

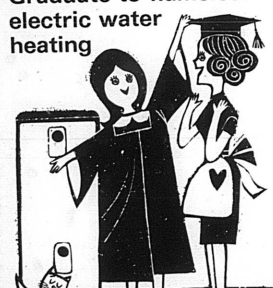
Graduate to flameless electric water heating



...there's no match for it!

Mom deserves the honor — and how she'll enjoy it! — when she makes the wise choice of an electric water heater. Safely flameless, worry-free operation. Rapid recovery, too, with full-time service: use all the hot water you want, more is already heating up, whatever the hour. A real blessing with all the extra clothes laundering, and child laundering, of summer vacation time. See your dealer!

UP TO 125.0% YOUR WIRING BILL IF YOU BUY AN ELECTRIC WATER HEATER NOW! If you change from 2 wire to 3 wire, 100 ampere service, and install an electric water heater anytime in 1968, we'll pay 125% on your wiring bill. Until June 30, if you have 3 wire service and an electric water heater, we'll pay 50% of the additional wiring needed. See your KU or CSP manager for eligibility

Job opportunities for construction men, there may be a place for you in Seabee "Greens". The Seabees work covers every phase of the construction industry, no matter whether you are an apprentice, journeyman or in a supervisory category the Seabees have a job for you regardless of your race, creed, or national origin.

Depending upon your level of experience, you may be eligible for a direct advancement rate in one of the Seabee ratings. If you have earned your livelihood for the past three years in a construction trade you are eligible for enlistment or re-enlistment in the U.S. Navy Seabees. Under this new program you may enlist for a tour of two, three and four years and your job experience earns you an advanced pay grade.

In the Seebees there's no such thing as a "related civilian occupation," because you work in a rating which is exactly the same as your chosen civilian occupation. The only difference is you're wearing Seabee Greens--earning 30 days paid vacation a year--losing no time changing jobs, etc.--enjoying complete family benefits and allowances while you're contributing your experience and know-how as an American citizen when it is needed.

Blossom End-Rot In Field Tomatoes Needs Controlling For Profit Crop

Lexington, Ky.---

Blossom end-rot of staked tomatoes can be a big loss-cause in Kentucky, says Dr. Richard Roberts, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist.

Two control measures are recommended, he says, One is a "more favorable calcium magnesium sodium salts or other salts in the soils. The condition usually is associated with unfavorable moisture conditions. Wet weather may bring an excess of the previously mentioned salts into the plant's root zones or cause a deficiency of calcium salts there. If not enough calcium is taken up by the plant cell walls cannot form the blossom end of the tomato. This makes an unsalable fruit.

"Soluble salts accumulate in the upper few inches of the soil after a prolonged dry spell, or from fertilizer side-dressings, when rains come, the salts move into the root zone, and this causes the calcium rath," Dr. Roberts says.

Calcium can be applied to the foliage as calcium chloride sprays. Use four pounds of anhydrous calcium chloride in 100 gallons of water. Spraying at the proper time is a critical item. Sprays should usually be applied 24 to 48 hours after a rain; during periods of rapid growth; or as long as excess accumulated salts are considered a problem.

Sprays may be applied as often as twice a week in problem time. Too much spraying, however, may cause leaf burn.

Check area extension offices in the counties for more detailed information, Dr. Roberst urges.

Maysville Community College To Offer Two Year Ag Program

Maysville Community College definitely will offer a two-year program in agriculture technology when the College opens on August 27, 1968, Dr. Charles Wethington Jr., director, announced late Friday afternoon the the Community College System and he were in agreement that this program was necessary to meet the needs of students and of agriculture in the area to be served by Maysville Community College.

The program will lead to an associate degree in agriculture at the end of two academic years. The first year of the program will be exactly the same regardless of whether students are interested in a two-year program or whether they wish to transfer to a four-year program in agriculture at the University of Kentucky. In the second year, courses of an applied and technical nature in agriculture will be added for those students choosing the two-year program.

Dr. Wethington also stated that a major reason for this program's being offered was the interest and support shown by the Farm Bureau, the vocational agriculture teachers, and other representatives of agriculture in Mason, Bracken, Fleming, Lewis and Robertson counties. An advisory group has been working with the Community College for the last several weeks to survey local schools and agriculture-related businesses to determine the number of students interested and the number of jobs available for graduates of a two-year program. The result of these surveys and the willingness of this advisory group to support the Community College efforts in agriculture were the deciding factors in going ahead with this program.

Students interested in this agriculture program are being encouraged to submit applications immediately to the Community College. The thirty to thirty-five boys who indicated an interest in this program when the survey was made are being contacted directly and encouraged to enroll. Other interested prospective students are encouraged to get in touch with their vocational agriculture teachers, their counselor, or the Maysville Community College office to obtain more information and application forms.

Make Memorial Day A Memorable One

Frankfort, Ky.--

Kentuckians and their visitors have the opportunity if they obey driving laws and use common courtesy, to make the coming Memorial Day holiday a memorable occasion.

So stated Col. C.B. Crutchfield, as he prepared the Kentucky State Police for the onslaught of traffic which the holiday period is sure to bring to Kentucky.

Col. Crutchfield further stated we are faced with the possibility of an extremely long holiday (National Safety Council states holiday period begins Wednesday, May 29, at 6:00 p.m.) or a double holiday. Many people will fill our highways on Thursday (Memorial Day) then rush back home to work Friday--then once again travel for the remaining weekend.

Motorists can do much to assist law enforcement in keeping down traffic deaths by driving only when well rested, driving defensively and respecting the rights of other motorists on our streets and highways.

A concerted effort will be made by the Kentucky State Police to make this holiday a safe one. Enforcement will be aimed at those violators that tend to create traffic problems, speeders, reckless drivers, and the drinking driver.

Col. Crutchfield said, "Only the cooperation of the motoring public will keep the tragic statistics of last year, nine people died during this Memorial Day holiday, from being repeated or being worse.
