Deaths

4:30 a.m. Wednesday Oct. 30, at the Haggin Memorial Hospital after a long illness. He was a native of Nicholas County, the son of J. B. and Lizzie Bringear Linville, a retired farmer, a former employee of the State Reformatory at La Grange, a member of the Carlisle Christian Church and a member of Daughter Lodge No. 65.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. I. C. James III, Harrodsburg; a sister, Mrs. Thelma Hovermale, Carlisle; a granddaughter, Miss Elizabeth Purnell James and a grandson, I. C. James IV, both of Harrodsburg.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1, at the Alexander and Royalty Funeral Home by the Rev. James N. Kelly. Burial with Masonic rites were in the Carlisle Cemetery.

Raymond Willoughby

Raymond Willoughby, 79, died at 2 p.m. Monday, Nov. 11, in the Nicholas County Hospital after a three-day illness. He was a native of Montgomery County, a retired farmer and a member of the Christian Church.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Julie Willoughby; a son, Sterling Willoughby, Carlisle; a brother Floyd Willoughby, Little Rock; a sister, Mrs. Lenle Abner, Winchester; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Journalism Student Gains Experience

A University of Kentucky journalism junior interning last summer on his hometown newspaper, the "Kentucky New Era" at Hopkinsville, found himself seated in the sports editor's chair within a few weeks.

When the time approached for his return to the UK campus, Mike Herndon successfully recommended his father, C. M. Herndon, as sports editor of the Christian county daily. The elder Herndon had been in the insurance business for 15 years, but "he has always loved sports and really likes to write," young Herndon explains.

Mike has been in newspapering since he was a sophomore at Hopkinsville High School, where he was graduated in 1965.

He was sports editor of the school's newspaper, the "Tiger." He later became assistant sports editor of the New Era and student editor of the Hopkinsville Community College "Chronicle."

When Herndon reported as an intern to the Hopkinsville paper early in the summer, he started out as a replacement for staff members on vacation. An internship is recommended for all UK journalism majors.

"I wrote a few news stories, covered speeches, police news and auto wrecks, made photos of the wrecks, and you name it," he recalls.

During the last school year Herndon served nine months on the sports staff of "The Lexington Leader," and was assigned to cover all high school sports.

This year, however, he is devoting full time to school work, hoping to prepare himself for all phases of newspaper management. He is putting extra effort into making advertising layouts in his typography class, taught by R. W. Wild, UK associate professor of journalism.

Herndon expects to be working in Hopkinsville again next summer and plans to return there after he graduates.

His advice to journalism majors desiring a journalism career:

"Read newspapers; study them.

THIRD TIME, NO CHARM

Dicky Lyons returned the opening kickoff. The Kentucky senior skipped by would-be tacklers for a 34-yard runback and then and there broke a national record for returning punts and kickoffs.

But something snapped in the Louisville star's shoulder and he left the game after the next play. Vanderbilt Coach Bill Pace must have heaved a sigh of relief. Dicky Lyons had personally whipped Vandy his first two years as a varsity player. This time, his last season, Vandy had to face him only briefly and won the game Saturday 6 to 0.

As a sophomore, Lyons and his team mates took the field in Lexington on a rainy and cold afternoon with snow still standing under some of the Stoll Field seats. Vanderbilt led ten to nothing after three quarters. Kentucky scored in the fourth. The "Cats trailed 10 to 8 with three minutes to go in the game. Kentucky was backed up deep in its own territory. Sophomore Dicky Lyons took a pitchout, rolled out to his right, cocked his right arm and arched one long bomb-field to Dan Spanish. The play covered 75 yards and set up the winning touchdown as Kentucky won 14 to 10.

The weatherman turned sour again last season, Lyons' junior year. It rained and the field was slick and muddy. Vandy again struck first and actually carried a 7 to 6 lead into the fourth quarter. The game seemed destined to end that way. But as the clock ticked off the final minutes of play, Lyons again was destined to destroy the Commodores. He gathered in a Vandy punt, dodged away from the first tackler down field, found his footing in the ooze and dashed down the right sideline for 59 yards! That set it up, and with a minute and a half to play, Kentucky scored. The Wildcats won 12 to 7.

Lyons hardly got to play Saturday and Vandy won. Dicky was hurt and couldn't pull it off for the Cats this time.

Kentucky Burley Growers Produce Outstanding Crop

Kentucky burley growers have produced another outstanding crop, State Agriculture Commissioner J. Robert Miller says. He said field work by the Department's tobacco specialist, E. T. Reed, has revealed a highly usable crop.

Miller said this year's crop appears now to be much like the 1967 crop in terms of quality. The yield is expected to be some 25 to 40 million pounds above the 1967 production, Miller noted that farmers in areas with a light crop in 1967 have housed an excellent crop this year.

Reed feels that the market will be about the same as last year, even though there will be a three percent increase in the floor price.

"This increase has been placed on the lower grades, including variegated and special factor grades which means it will not help the overall average," Reed stated. On this basis, Reed expects the market to open near last year's record price with the crop to average about $70 per hundred.

Reed reports that the total disappearance of burley tobacco during the first half of the 1967-1968 marketing year was 192 million pounds. This is a 10 million pound drop from the first half of the previous marketing year and a 27 million pound decrease from the peak year of 1964-1965.

The decline during the first half of this year represents a drop of 6 million pounds in exports and 4 million in domestic use. Reed says the decline in domestic use is due to technology which enables manufacturers to make more cigarettes from less tobacco, plus the continuing increase of oriental and reconstituted tobaccos in modern blended cigarettes.

Reed said the usage of oriental and reconstituted tobaccos in blends has risen from about 6 percent in 1957 to more than 16 percent in 1967.

"This is alarming," Reed added, "when we consider it in terms of the 576 billion cigarettes manufactured last year."

Commenting on the drop in exports, Commissioner Miller said this has been brought about by increased tobacco production in foreign countries.

"This foreign tobacco is not only giving us competition from the export standpoint," Miller said, "but imports of foreign tobacco is increasing. The rapid growth in imports is one of the most alarming trends facing our burley industry."

Ray Harm Named Campaign Chairman

Ray Harm, bird and wildlife artist, has been named chairman of the 1968 Christmas Seal Campaign for Kentucky, Dr. E. N. Maxwell, president of the Kentucky TB and Respiratory Disease Association, has announced.

Harm, whose bird and wildlife prints are widely sought by collectors, said in accepting the chairmanship, "If this appointment actually means that I can have a part in conserving human lives as well as the lives of the wild creatures I've been interested in for so long, it would really be something."

He expressed "a deep concern" for those whose lives are blighted or lost by tuberculosis, emphysema and other lung crippling diseases.

Harm's appointment is especially appropriate in that the 1968 Christmas Seal design is of a "partridge in a pear tree" and one of Harm's most celebrated sketches is of a bob white or quail, also known as a partridge in various parts of the world.
