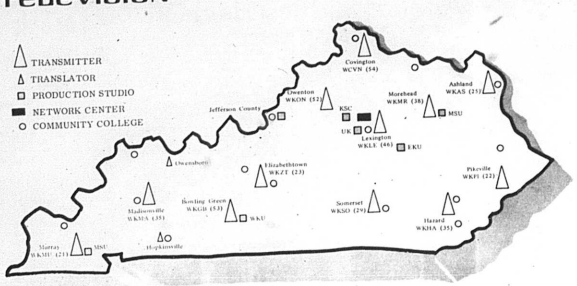
Kentucky Educational Television



Kentucky Educational Television Being Viewed In Nicholas Schools

Kentucky Educational Television in-school broadcasting went on the air on Sept. 23.

TV Channel 46 (Lexington) is the best channel for receiving it here in Carlisle. The following is a list of channels which are best in the cities listed.

Ashland, 25; Bowling Green, 53; Covington, 54*; Elizabethtown, 23; Hazard, 35; Lexington, 46; Madisonville, 35; Morehead, 38; Murray, 21; Owenton, 52; Pikeville, 22; Somerset, 29.

*Will be on the air on or before January 6, 1969. Will be on the air on or before November 1, 1968.

Though this is primarily an in-school schedule for children, there are some adult-level programs included in it. These listed as "Teacher Orientation," for example, are directed at teachers and are designed to instruct the teacher in the in-class use of a particular television course.

The teacher orientation program for Spanish is the first program that was aired by the network--this was the program Governor Nunn activated Sept. 23--and is also the network's first original production. This series features KAET's Bill Neill, a veteran classroom and television teacher, and should provide interesting viewing for parents curious about the techniques of teaching a foreign language to youngsters at the primary level.

The "Leadership for Youth" program, produced by the Girl Scouts of America (Tuesdays, 4:30 p.m., E.T.; 3:30 C.T.), was designed to provide how-to techniques for adult lay leaders of youth groups but is applicable to adults who lead all civictype organizations.

CAPITAL BRIEFS

EXPENDITURE CUTS—"...I think we can make meaningful cuts in expenditures. I think that with such cuts--but only with such cuts--we can have an increase in the income tax; and I think, with the cuts, we can provide a set of priorities and a sense of direction which this country, in my opinion, has lacked for several years.

"So the challenge has been put up to us by the President. I hope that Congress will accept its responsibility, state its priorities, set out its aim for expenditure limitation, and, in addition, take such other steps as will increase the income tax and bring our balance of payments back to a more favorable position," says Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.).
