

Nicholas County Memories

By Lewis P. Scott

When throughout the United States of America millions of citizens are giving serious thought to the choice of the next President, it seems fitting at this time to recall incidents relating to an earlier National election as remembered by the writer who was then a student at the University of Kentucky. This date, this particular election was that of 1908, and the Presidential candidates as remembered by the writer who was then a student at the University of Kentucky.
