

Little Jets Defeated 9-0; Paris Tigers Trim Blue Jets 27-19

By Pat Conley

In the first game of a double-header Little League contest at Paris, Wednesday night, the Little Jets were defeated 9-0 by the Wee Tigers. The Little Jets offense got off to a booming start going 30 yards in three plays but the Wee Tigers held to make the first quarter scoreless. Midway to the 2nd quarter the Wee Tigers made it to the Jet 20, but fumbled to the Jets. After two plays the Jets were nailed in their own end zone for a safety. This made the halftime score Wee Tigers 2 Little Jets 0. In the 3rd quarter the Wee Tigers scored on a 25 yard run. The extra point was good. There was no score in the 4th quarter. Greg Leitcher and Steve Smoot played exceptionally good defense and Damon Booth, Hill Clark and Anthony Williams were leading rushers for the Little Jets.

In the big game a much improved Blue Jet team was put down 27-19 by the Paris Tigers. In the last quarter Paris made the final score by rumping 50 yards for a touchdown; the extra point was good. Paris scored again on a 10 yard pass play in the 2nd quarter. The Jets struck back with John Super hauling in a 30 yard pass from Dennis Berry to put the Jets on the Tiger 10. On the next play Hill Allison busted up the middle for the first Jet touchdown. The extra point effort failed. After a period of about 3 minutes (Paris' third quarter) the Jets scored on a magnificent pass from Berry. He caught the ball on his left side. The Paris tacklers and went all the way. The extra point effort failed. In the 3rd quarter,

Dennis Berry scored on a three yard quarterback sneak. Eric Blair ran over for the extra point to make the score Jets 19-Tigers 14. In the 4th quarter Paris scored on a 10 yard pass. This touchdown was questioned severely because the receiver seemingly should have full possession of the ball. The extra point was good. Then Paris scored again on a one yard run late in the 4th quarter. The extra point failed and the final score was Paris Tigers 27-blue Jets 19. This was the last of the Blue Jet ball game and it is clearly evident that the Jets have improved considerably since the start of the season. The Little League Football Tournament is tentatively set for Sunday, Nov. 10. Details as to time and place will be published next week.

Specifically designed electronic equipment, including a radiation counter, a reactor model, a Van de Graaff generator and a number of electronically-activated panels, will be used in the presentations to illustrate M-1.

The Kentucky exhibit of "This Atomic World" is one of the most interesting in the nation's high schools, Dr. Payne said. The Morehead State-operated unit will be available to all schools in Kentucky during the next two school years, Mays said. He is visiting the schools west of Louisville next year. "We think this is a tremendous opportunity for high school principals to bring a vitally important and meaningful program to their students and teachers," Dr. Payne said.

MODERN-DAY FELD
To go way back, the Hatfields and the McCoyes battled in one of this country's most famous feuds. One family lived on the Kentucky side of the river, the other in West Virginia. The modern-day "feud" between the two states will be staged Saturday afternoon as Kentucky travels to West Virginia for a football game.

While Kentucky and West Virginia have not had the same only fifteen times, it is one of the oldest rivalries between two state universities. They first met in Morgantown, West Virginia in 1903 with the Mountaineers racking the Kentuckians 45 to nothing. The two teams didn't get together again for 34 years, starting in 1939 they met regularly until 1947, another pause of 17 years followed until the two clubs met in 1964. The game is a natural and in time could build into one of those fierce college football rivalries.

Since the series was resumed four years ago, Kentucky has won its two home games rather comfortably, but hasn't been able to handle the Mountaineers in those West Virginia hills. In 1964 the Mountaineers upset the Wildcats, 20 to 21 and two years ago they won the 'Cats 14-0.

Kentucky's two victories this season have come against good teams outside the Southeastern Conference while it has been unable to win in four starts inside the league. West Virginia considers Kentucky a big game, perhaps it is for the same reason. The other side of the river than it is on this by the fact that the game will be the Homecoming game for the Mountaineers and you can bet they will be spurred up for the visiting Wildcats. Still, the last honorable mention will be credited by the Kentucky-West Virginia football feud.

Deaths

MRS. GARDNER FEIBACK
Mrs. Georgia Allison Feiback, 52, wife of Gardner Feiback, Route 2, Carlisle, died at 6:00 a.m. Wednesday, October 30, in the Harrison Memorial Hospital, Cynthiana, after a long illness.

Other survivors are two sons, G.H. Feiback and Harry Lee Feiback, her mother, Mrs. Rosa Allison and four sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Gaunce, Mrs. George Ritchey, Mrs. Claude Fryman and Mrs. Isabel Smith.

MRS. DAN E. WELLS
Mrs. Elizabeth E. Wells, 86, wife of Dan E. Wells, died at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 29, in the Nicholas County Hospital after a brief illness. She was a native of Nicholas County and a member of the Blue Lick Christian Church.

Other survivors are five daughters, Mrs. Robert Feiback and Miss Katherine Wells, Carlisle; Mrs. Osborne Anderson and Mrs. John Cleaver, Nicholas County; and Mrs. Haddon Pumpbrey, Iowa City. Four great-grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Mathers-Sheaver Funeral Home.

The Hunt-Morgan House, Lexington, was built in 1814 by Kentucky's first millionaire, John Wesley Hunt, General Hunt Morgan's grandfather. The house is also lived there.

Former Carlisle Resident Missionary Day Speaker

Mrs. Arthur Morris, formerly Ruth River, Carlisle will be guest of the Women's Missionary Society of the Carlisle Christian Church and will speak at 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 6, in the John Rogers Memorial Building.

Baptist Women's Day To Be Observed Nov. 4

The Carlisle Baptist Church will be observing Baptist Women's Day of prayer, November 4.

The first Monday in November has been set aside for Baptist Women throughout the world to meet and unite their hearts in praying and giving for a world engulfed in spiritual darkness and physical suffering.

What a great source of inspiration it is to know that one's fellow Baptist Women from every continent of the world will be united in prayer and interceding for the extension of the Kingdom of God on earth.

The program will be held at 7:30 while Kentucky and West Virginia have on the program only fifteen times, it is one of the oldest rivalries between two state universities. They first met in Morgantown, West Virginia in 1903 with the Mountaineers racking the Kentuckians 45 to nothing. Old Tales ment, if not a reasonable wariness of these witches and "haunts."

On Indian Creek, upstairs in a house where a murder was believed to have been committed years ago a bloodstain cannot be removed from the floor. The man thought to have done the deed started hearing sounds at night, "like somebody was a-gianting, a struggling, a-draging," he said out and moved away, but the folks who bought the property heard the midnight sounds, too.

In Morgan County where a hanging was stopped by Captain John T. Williams of Civil War fame a horse and rider were heard for many years but were never seen. A friend of the Captain's, who sympathized with the Union, was being hanged when Captain Williams heard about it and galloped to the hanging tree to save the deed.

Thereafter—and perhaps yet—in the dark of the night a horse was heard to gallop out the Licking River Road, past the farm house, to suddenly stop at the hanging tree, Mrs. Pearl Beardsley says. A few feet from the tree has heard the galloping many times, but she is sure she has never been able to see the horse.

It is to be noted that Mrs. Beardsley says she was 25 years old when she saw the horse. In the coal mines and in the Cannelton area of a beautiful woman child in misty white robes joined the day together.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Parrish and daughter Trudy of near Paris and Mrs. Stanley Kenney were also present.
