Mrs. Alexander Speaks At Head Start Meet

On Wednesday, June 18, the Nicholas County Head Start Staff presented a health program at the Carlisle Elementary School. 18 parents were present.

Mrs. Katie Alexander, R.N. of the Nicholas County Health Center gave a talk on the pre-school child and the different immunizations a child must have before he can enter school in the fall, in accordance of the Kentucky Immunization Law.

Mrs. Alexander said she could see the difference in the child receiving the immunizations as a Head Starter, because the fear of the shot was practically eliminated. She said the tax dollars of Nicholas County citizens maintained the Health Center and the services rendered are free to each child. All parents should feel free to take advantage of these services.

On Wednesday, July 7, the dental program will be presented. All parents are urged to come.
