K.R.E.C.C. Orientation Meetings Begin Mar. 10

Approximately 750 officers, directors, employees and members of Kentucky's rural electric cooperatives are expected to attend a series of three Employee Orientation Meetings beginning March 10. The annual orientation meetings will be held on successive days in Louisville, Owensboro, and Lexington.

The theme for this year's series of meetings will be, "Why Do We Need To Grow" and the programs will feature out-of-state speakers as well as recognized Kentucky cooperative leaders. Robert Cleveland, Director of Administrative Services for the State Association of Rural Electrics, will preside at each meeting and J. K. Smith, General Manager of Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation (KRECC) will welcome those attending.

David Askegaard, Director of the Office of Program Analyst for the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, D. C., will outline a growth program for cooperatives as each of the three orientation meetings. Sharing guest speaker honors with Mr. Askegaard will be John Myhre of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, Washington, D. C. Myhre will speak to the group regarding the challenges and problems which face rural electric systems in the decade ahead.

The employee orientation meetings will also deal with the need for area development in the Commonwealth. A film will be shown at each meeting in an effort to develop better understanding about the ways in which rural areas can grow and develop.

Rounding out a full program at the up-coming meetings will be role-playing situations which will demonstrate ways in which cooperatives can establish effective member relations. In addition, a panel of cooperative leaders will conduct question and answer sessions with those who attend the meetings.

Sheeprofit Day To Be Held In Lexington On March 7

LEXINGTON -- A new name and a new format will be featured at the annual one-day meeting for Kentucky sheep producers, sponsored by the University of Kentucky and the Blue Grass Sheep Association.

Sheeprofit Day is the new name for the meeting which has been called the Sheep Short Course in past years. Set for Mar. 7 at the University of Kentucky's Carnahan House here, Sheeprofit Day is open to all persons interested in the Kentucky sheep industry. The meeting has been planned to provide up-to-date information of interest to sheep producers, according to Dr. Monty Chappell, UK Extension sheep specialist.

The session opens at 9:15 a.m. (EST) with registration and a coffee hour. Dr. C. E. Barnhart, associate dean of the Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Kentucky, will open the morning session.

Dr. C. C. Beck, Extension veterinarian, Michigan State University, will then discuss "Profits Begin in the Lambing Pen." Also on the morning program, Dr. Charles Parker, Ohio State University sheep researcher, will talk on "Roughages, Sheep and Money in the Bank."

Speaking at the noon luncheon will be H. C. Bender, Clark County Southdown breeder; his topic will be "At the Sheep Barn' Recollections and Reflections." This special noon get-together is another new feature of this year's program, Chappell points out.

The afternoon session will include presentation of the Master Shepherd awards, given each year to outstanding sheepmen. A business meeting of the Blue Grass State Sheep Association will concluded the day's activities, with Sheeprofit Day scheduled to end at 3 p.m.

False Rumor

A false and misleading rumor widespread in Kentucky is plaguing the Veterans Administration and leading hundreds of veterans to write or call requesting dividends on GI insurance based on service in World War II.

Congress has not passed a law giving all World War II veterans a 500 per $1,000 dividend on GI policies. The VA has not requested veterans to write regarding such a dividend. It is a hoax.

The only dividends that the VA is currently paying are to World War I and World War II veterans who have continued their Government life insurance in force. These dividends are paid on an annual basis and are distributed on the anniversary date of the policies.

the proved way to give pigs the right start— PURINA PIG STARTENA

Purina Pig Startena is a proved complete starter. It's the result of constantly improved Purina complete starters. In research tests the latest improvement boosted growth by 12.4 percent from 5.2 percent less feed, over the former ration—and that ration did a great job.

Purina Pig Startena is fed from the time pigs have been started on Purina Baby Pig Chow at one week until pigs weigh about 50 pounds.

If scours is a problem feed extra highly-fortified Purina Pig Startena (Special) for a week to ten days.

Tylan* is available in Pig Startena when you have swine dysentery problems.
