Mrs. Wilmer's 8th grade at Hall quarters Elementary. Speciality Act a vocal quartet singing "Mockingbird Hill."

I am over 65 years of age and have no dependents. I have not applied for a pension previously because my income was above the $1,800 limit. This year, however, I expect to limit my income to an amount that will bring my taxable income under that limit.

Will this make any difference?

A—No. Payment for a VA pension is based on annual income from which certain exclusions are deducted by the veteran. The full amount of your pension income and its source—all legal exclusions will be considered.

Medical expenses do not reduce your pension income. Whether they are treated in a condition for which you are receiving disability retirement benefits.

If, as you say, the income maximum is exceeded by a few dollars, the pension will be reduced from $1,800 to $2,000 a year. Check with your nearest VA office.

Q—Is the veteran himself required to purchase a business in order to receive the current Four-Reason GI loan? Or can he purchase a business for his wife?

A—Under the current Four-Reason GI loan program, veterans may purchase such as you, the Veterans Administration does not guarantee only home and farm loans. Business loans were not included in the present G. I. bill.

However, the small-business Administration does make loans to veterans. You should contact the nearest SBA office for information concerning such loans.

Q—I was retired on disability from the Armed Forces. Are my wife and children eligible for medical care at Veterans Hospitals as my dependents?

A—No, only you are entitled to Veterans Administration hospital or medical care.

However, your dependents as well as you are eligible for medical care at U.S. military installations or under the provisions of Military Medicare program.

Check with the military service from which you are receiving disability retirement for further information concerning the medical care entitlement of your dependents.

Q—Am I receiving a nonservice-connected disability pension from the Veterans Administration and was under the impression that I would get an increase starting in January 1969. However I am receiving the same amount. Please explain.

A—The new pension system does not provide for automatic, across-the-board increases. Pensions are now keyed to $1000 variations in income. This will cause an increase in pensions for some, but no change for others such as yourself.

VA representatives will be happy to explain the new pension system and answer any additional questions you may have.

Q—I have just completed three years of Army service and plan to enter college under the G. I. Bill this coming fall. If I work while attending college, will the amount of money I earn be deducted from my G. I. Bill allowance?

A—No. The amount of G. I. Bill education allowance paid by the Veterans Administration is determined only by the amount of schooling you receive (i.e., full-time, half-time or quarter-time training), plus the number of your dependents.

Whether you work or have other income does not affect your VA allowance.

However, an outside job could affect your school schedule—that is whether or not you will be allowed to carry a full-time course.

Q—My pension from the Veterans Administration was increased the first of the year. Was this an automatic cost-of-living increase and will the pension be raised again next year if living costs continue to rise?

A—The increase in your VA pension was not automatic. It resulted from a law passed by Congress last year restructuring the VA pension program and providing for increases depending upon the amount of the recipient's income. Since it is not automatic, any future increases in pension amounts must be legislated by Congress.

Q—When I was discharged from the army a couple of months ago, I converted my $10,000 Servicemen's Group Life Insurance policy to a permanent policy. I have recently been advised by the Veterans Administration that I can apply for up to $10,000 government life insurance since I have a service-connected disability. Can I obtain this insurance and keep my converted SGLI policy also?

A—Yes. SGLI is not issued by VA but by private insurance companies. National Service Life Insurance is issued and administered by the VA and is also available to veterans with a service-connected disability who were separated from service on or after April 25, 1951.

You must apply within one year from the date VA determines your disability to be service-connected.

$10,000 is the maximum amount of Government life insurance any veteran may have, but this is in addition to the SGLI.

The maximum interest rate for GI loans was increased to 7 1/2% effective January 24, 1969. This increase in the permitted interest rate applies to both guaranteed loans and VA direct loans. Olney B. Owen, Manager of the Louisville Veterans Administration Regional Office, pointed out today.

Guaranteed loans are obtained by veterans from private lenders and the VA guarantees to the lendor against loss up to 60% of the loan not to exceed $12,500.

Direct loans of Government funds are those made by the VA to the veteran and cannot exceed $17,500.

VA direct loans for housing are available Throughout Kentucky except in Boyd, Boone, Kenton Campbell, Jefferson Fayette and Henderson counties and the metropolitan areas of Hopkinsville, Paducah, Elizabethtown, Radcliff, Bowling Green, Owensboro, Frankfort, Georgetown and Versailles.

1040 U.S. Individual
Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q—I have a stock sale to report. What form do I use and where can I get a copy?

A—Stock sales and other sales or exchanges of property should be reported on Schedule D. The net profit or loss from these sales should be entered on line 5, Part II of your form 1040.

Copies of Schedule D are available at local IRS offices as well as many banks and post offices.

Q—My refund was held up last year. What can I do to avoid the same thing happening this year?

A—File a complete, accurate return and send it in early. Refund claims filed now can be processed and the refund issued in five to six weeks.

A major reason for refund delays last year was incomplete returns. Thousands and some half million returns are received with a missing or incorrect social security number, the most frequent error. Failure to sign the return and failure to include all statements.

Missing supplementary forms, such as those to claim the low income or a moving expense deduction, are delayed some refunds.

Q—My check has been amended the last few weeks. Have taxes already?

A—The social security tax rate for individuals increased from 4.4 percent to 4.8 per cent in January. This may account for the increased withholding from your last check.

Q—A W-2 form came last week from my son who is now in the Navy. Do I have to file a tax return?

A—Yes, he does if his income was $600 or more last year. A return should also have to be filed to obtain a refund if tax withheld even if income was less than $600. However, if his income is unusual or irregular he may qualify for a waiver of the usual time to file his return.

Taxpayers out of the country have an automatic extension from April 15 to June 16 to file 1968 returns. If your son is in Vietnam, his return can be until 180 days after he leaves that area.

Q—I am a widower. Given the fact that my nephew now makes his home with me allow me to file as a head of household?

A—If your nephew also qualifies as your dependent then you may be able to file as a head of household. Check your 1040 instructions for details.

Q—I received social security tax last year of my pay on both jobs I had last year. Is there anyway I can get part of this back?

A—If more than $144.00 was withheld from your wages last year for social security taxes, that excess may be claimed as a credit against your income tax liability. Any excess should be entered on line 5, Part II of your form 1040.

Copies of Schedule D are available at local IRS offices as well as many banks and post offices.
