Draw near to God and he will draw nearer to you.—(James 4:8).

We should be receptive to God's guidance and inspiration when we have a problem to solve, pray to God to be shown how to think and speak in order to arrive at the correct solution. Express confidence in Him, for under God's spiritual guidance we can work out our destiny. He knows us in everything we do. Our burden is lightened and every cloud is brightened, when we turn to God.

Future Of Travel Business Development Discussed May 22

Four areas of importance to the future of travel business development in Kentucky were acted upon by the Kentucky Travel Council Board in session at the Holiday Inn in Elizabethtown May 22.

The Board endorsed action on the Monday Holiday Plan; offered the services of the Travel Council in serving as coordination of the 1974 Celebration; appointed a committee to study the feasibility of setting up a state-wide reservations program; and endorsed a Kentucky Chamber of Commerce plan to establish an ambassadors' corps of former Kentuckians now residing in other areas of the nation.

On the Monday Holiday plan action was taken to initiate the follow through on proposed legislation to the 1970 Kentucky General Assembly, probably in line with the federal proposal for holidays by federal employees and in line also with other states taking action on the holiday plan. The plan would involve the annual observance of four holidays on a Monday, in addition to observance of Labor Day.

The board of directors offered the council services as coordinator of the 1974 Celebration now in the early stages of planning on a state-wide basis. Speaking to the board on the subject of the Celebration was Kentucky Public Information Commissioner James Host. Host reported on the status of the study action thus far.

John M. Lewis, Executive Vice President of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, the parent organization of the Kentucky Travel Council, discussed with the council board a program to establish an Ambassadors' Corps to be formed of persons formerly residents of Kentucky but now living and working in other areas of the nation. The corps would be kept closely informed of all activities in Kentucky economic development, travel facilities, etc., in order to keep their interest in the state at a high level. The Kentucky Chamber Board previously had endorsed the program.

Appointed to the Executive Committee of the Council by John Carson, Chairman, were James A. Bingham, Professional Relations Representative, Blue Cross Hospital Plan, Inc., Lexington; James Host, Commissioner, Kentucky Department of Public Information, Cosby Popplewell, Owner, Alligator Boat Dock, #1, Russell Springs; and Thomas H. Maxedon, Executive Director, Kentucky Petroleum Marketers Association, Louisville.

Local Families Move Less Often

NEW YORK, N.Y.--What proportion of Nicholas County's population consists of people who came from other parts of the country to make their homes in the local area?

How many families have been living at the same address for more than five years?

According to facts and figures released by the government, local residents are less transient than the majority of Americans. They tend to move less frequently than most.

Details on the movement of population, covering all sections of the nation, are based upon an analysis of data compiled by the Department of Commerce, the Market Research Bureau and others. The purpose was to get some idea of the extent of internal migration in the United States.

The shifts and swings of population are such, it was found, that one family out of every five in the country changes its home address each year.

And, in a period of five years, as the last census showed, close to half of the population moves.

Nicholas County residents prove to be somewhat less mobile than most. About 41 percent of those over the age of five were found to be living at a new address after five years.

This was lower than the five-year mobility rate in the United States as a whole, 47 percent. The rate throughout the East South Central States was 48 percent in the State of Kentucky.

Of the total number who moved, 2,467, some 1,915 merely changed to different homes within the local area.

The other 552 were new comers, who came from outside the county.

No figures are given, however, to show how many local people moved away during the five years.

Various factors lead people to change residence, according to the findings. Some of them are economic. If their incomes go up they may want to live in better style as they switch to swankier homes in more expensive areas.

Frequently, a job offer or a business opportunity in a different locality presents itself, and a move is in order.

Or a change may be called for because of an increase or a decrease in the size of a family.

which is a nuisance to many people in the Myers Community.

3. It is recommended that Morrison's Restaurant consider some plan whereby the parking area surrounding the Restaurant be discontinued as a place for people to congregate after 11 p.m. at night.

4. All officials, Sheriff, City Police, State Police, County Judge, County Attorney, Circuit Judge or anyone having authority are urged to strictly enforce all laws and punish any offenders brought before them so as to ensure law and order in the community.

The Grand Jury expresses its appreciation to the Circuit Judge for his instructions of their duties to them and for the manner in which he conducts the Circuit Court in this county and also extends their thanks to The Commonwealth Attorney and County Attorney for the courtesy extended by them to the Grand Jury.

All of which the Grand Jury of the May Term, 1969, respectfully reports to the Court, and having completed its duties on May 19, 1969 respectfully request that it be discharged.

Hickory Ridge

heard for miles, as it was called The Ridge for a long time. Another reason mentioned for the name was because of the heavy growth of hickory timber there as in other areas, such as Walnut Grove, Locust Grove, Pine Ridge and Persimmon Ridge, another reason advanced was the name because of the toughness of the neighborhood, but this was discredited, as the people who lived there were industrious and generally law-abiding.

Note,

I am sure there are others who can add to this or fill in the gaps. It seems that Nicholas county has been fortunate in the attitude of both the Negro and the white people toward each other and this was the general opinion of those with whom I spoke. The Negroes who were mistreated wanted complete freedom, but those who were well treated wanted to remain with their original masters and work for a salary, even those who left their masters were eager to help the white landowner as a freeman and with wages. When they moved to Henryville, they were nearer the white neighbors than they were in the settlements. we still need each other and need to be compatible with one another, not just tolerant of each other.
