

Can't Say We're Sorry

The search for the Loch Ness monster continued last week. The tourists and the searchers, including the famous psychic medium, have packed up and are leaving the shores of the loch to the water police.

The results of this year's search were reported in the "Loch Ness Phenomenon Investigated" report on this year's observation season. James D. Watson, who was in charge of the search, said that the Loch Ness monster was not seen during the search.
