Carlisle Little League Wins Mt. Sterling Tourney

The Carlisle Little League All-Stars captured first place in the Mt. Sterling invitational tournament Friday, August 22.

Carlisle ended the season on a good note by defeating Paris in the tourney final 3-2 in 7 innings.

Trailing 2-1 entering the final frame, Billy Darrell led off the inning with a long double to rightcenter field. Darrell then stole third, but injured his knee on the play. Doug Finch ran for Darrell and later scored the tying run on a bouncer to third off the bat of David Darrell.

Paris failed to score in their half of the seventh which set the stage for Carlisle's winning tally.

Norval Garrett led off the inning with a single to center and later moved to second on a wild pitch. Ricky Hicks hit a bouncer back to the pitcher, but the throw to third was to late to get Garrett. Greg Letcher followed with a bouncer to the shortstop, but again the throw to the plate was not in time and Garrett had scored the winning run. It was Letcher's second RBI of the game. Earlier in the third inning, he had tied the score at 1-1 with a line single to right.

The only other Carlisle hit was a single by Hugh Wilson in the first inning. Wilson also starred defensively by making a fine over-the-head catch in centerfield. Other outstanding defensive performances were turned in by third baseman, Jackie Flora; catcher, Marshall Fryman; first baseman Hicks; and second baseman, Letcher.

The winning pitcher was Garrett who pitched brilliantly throughout the tournament. In six tournament games, Garrett won 5 and lost 1. He pitched 39 innings and gave up 6 runs only 1 of which was earned. He also had shutout performances of 6-0 over Lexington, 7-0 over Camargo and 5-0 over Clay City.

Overbreathing Underwater May Prove To Be Hazardous

The eerie underwater world can be beautiful. But treacherous.

Swimming through that world has its thrills and hazards. Overbreathing is one of the hazards.

What is overbreathing? It happens when a swimmer breathes deeply and quickly many times before diving. By this extra breathing, he hopes to build up his supply of oxygen. And, as a matter of fact, he can double or triple his time underwater.

But the swimmer who overbreathes may stay under a lot longer than he wants. He may never come up. Overbreathing can sometimes be fatal.

To avoid underwater tragedy, swimmers usually should not take more than two or three breaths before plunging into the beautiful, watery world. Two or three breaths.

What happens when a swimmer overbreathes? The bursting feeling in the lungs that signals swimmers to come up for air may never happen after overbreathing. And an unexpected blackout makes these swimmers lose consciousness and drown.

Tragedies take place every summer on the beaches across the country. Some of them overtake expert swimmers who overbreathe. Underwater disasters can be prevented if people know the facts about breathing.

More information about breathing and how the lungs work is available from your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. Before your next trip to the beach, check out the facts.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
The Bible

Let us rise up and build.—(Neh. 2:18).

God's miracle-working power goes to work for us. When we meet life with the faith that with God all things are possible, we break from the bondage of false ideas, and become free and confident. We then express ourselves freely and easily, for God's love inspires us to know that we can. We appreciate life and its blessing, opportunities and responsibilities. The words, we can, inspire us today.

Life-or-Death Decisions

St. Paw Christian, Mississippi, 23 people came to the conclusion that the best way to cope with Hurricane Camille would be to gather in a well-constructed apartment building and stay there until the storm had passed over.

To while away the time they decided to have a hurricane party.

This was a fatal mistake. Hurricane Camille, with winds reported up to 200 miles per hour, passed over the apartment house and demolished it.

Twenty-three bodies were found in the wreckage of the building. Bodies of people who had decided to have a party there, instead of fleeing to safety while they had plenty of time.

It was not that they had not been warned. Everybody on the area had been told of the coming of the hurricane and had been advised to go to safe places, away from the danger zone.

Many did—but some didn't.

Another Fateful Party

The party which was held just before disaster overtook the participants is reminiscent of a party recorded in the Bible—because disaster overtook the party-goers in that case, too.

The Bible tells us that King Belshazzar, who was a ruler of the Babylonian empire, had a party for a thousand of his lords.

It was a drinking party and Belshazzar drank copiously. In the middle of the party, he commanded that the captured gold and silver vessels which had been consecrated to be used in the temple worship of Jehovah be brought, so that he and the others could drink out of them.

This was done and the king was enjoying the occasion immensely—when suddenly he was startled to see on the wall, over against him, the fingers of a man's hand, writing on the wall an inscription in a language that he could not understand.

Terrified, he called for someone to read and interpret the hand-writing on the wall.

Daniel was summoned and he told the king, "This is the interpretation of the thing: Mene—God hath numbered thy kingdom and finished it; Tekel—thou art weighed in the balances and found wanting; Peres—thy kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians."

In that very night, the invading army entered the city and Belshazzar was killed.

Important Decision

There is, of course, no reason to believe that the 22 people in Pass Christian were as wicked as Belshazzar. But there is reason to believe that they were as foolish.

They were partying when they should have been saving their lives.

There is a constant temptation to do that which is pleasant, instead of that which is important.

How many of us go through life, caring more about partying than about salvation.

Which have you chosen?
