POLLY OF "ZERO GROWTH"

The sign outside the college campus read "Help Us Advance Growth For America." It was a shocker for a traveler who had grown up in the 1950's and remembered a time when the growth of the American economy was virtually zero. The traveler thought: what innocents are the college sign-painters, insulated from reality by present-day affluence.

"Zero growth" in the 1930's meant breadlines and unsuccessful searches for work. It meant fine, old-line companies that went under almost overnight. It meant despair for fathers and mothers with sick or hungry children.

Now, in the 1970's, spoiled darlings in universities say that the nation must turn away from technological developments. They demand a halt to construction of nuclear and fossil fuel power plants and express horror at the expansion of steel mills and other heavy industrial operations. Some of the back-to-nature types urge the return to wilderness conditions and establish primitive communities in remote areas of the Southeast.

There's a sign of surrealism about these demands and moves. Certainly, thoughtful citizens are aware of the problems of pollution and want public agencies to take steps to abate smoke and fumes. But to clean the rivers and waters before they enter rivers and streams is a different proposition from supporting "zero growth."

Industrial development can't be halted without depriving the American people of jobs and comforts, without turning the United States into a backward nation. The people who want to ban the automobile because of pollution forget that not much more than a generation ago many Americans were tragically lacking in mobility. They couldn't get to jobs outside their localities. The automobile and the highway, especially the interstate highway system, have increased the mobility of the American people.

MERCURY VAPOURS

By Warren R. Fisher

If a parent isn't responsible for his biggest teen-age child, he is! Seems five suburban Michigan youngsters in a few days have passed ordinances making parents responsible for the crimes of their children—plans for not assuming a responsibility that has been their's since the beginning of time.

To quote an old saw, "Share the rod, spoil the child." Any way children of the five Michigan communities are getting the idea.

It just re-dawned on me—there will be 53 years of The Carlisle Mercury in 1970 unless I've miscounted somewhere along the line.

The National periodical of the Fraternal Order of Police, John J. Harrington, 27-year veteran of the Philadelphia police force, has come to say, "There is only one effective method to curtail the rise in crime, and that is a far, far more enforcement policy. We don't have the laws we need too many on the books now. All we've got is enforcement of the laws we've got."

Milwaukee, Wis.—A woman has been ordered to pay her ex-husband $25 a week in child support to help children's four children who range in age from 7 to 16. Look out girls, this woman's liberation movement could get out of hand.

Who we wonder would send us a blank envelope from Arnold Avenue, Brentwood, KY 40063. What's the significance, frankly we're puzzled?

It was our privilege Saturday

When fists are raised and the dust goes up, "Burn, baby, burn!" at our house, we are not packing for the television camera. It is our own little menacing display against the Establishment.

I call it Popcorn Power.

The Establishment were against it. Men's and women's hair, and let the popcorn at regular intervals. And it looks like our military is going to continue until it has a good crop of popcorn poppers.

We hit a lot of popcorn, when the cook starts making popcorn, and let the popcorn pop. But popping corn has a tranquilizing effect on the women of the house and enjoy the popping. The man who makes this use popping popcorn. We can't eat the house again when the woman fills with smoke and young men brings me the catalog listing to popcorn poppers.

Who it looks now, if there is any more heavy-duty popcorn, we can write off Popcorn Power as just another passing fancy. And a high price in the corn fields and we'll be back to chewing popcorn instead of popcorn.

When we were doing all right until the seedcorn Frankensteins created a monster from an illicit love affair among the corn stalks. And neither you know it or not, corn stalks make love to each other just like people. And their reproductive cells really resemble those of a human.

So you take a happy row of corn stalks and suddenly introduce a tall Texan with an orange idea and you're off, right in the old neighborhood. From the valley of the Holy New Britain, you're off, right in the old neighborhood. You're off, right in the old neighborhood.

The Texas popper man recently has been blamed as the culprit in the corn patch, after the scientists got through looking up the job of judging genetic to produce another hybrid variety. No Texas is going to admit to being the culprit by the time the crop is in the field and then get through fertilizing with his hybrid corn. You're off, right in the old neighborhood. You're off, right in the old neighborhood. You're off, right in the old neighborhood.

LETTERS from our readers

Editor, The Carlisle Mercury:
The Nicholas County is here and leaders wish to extend a very special "Thank You" for your efforts in providing excellent news coverage of our 4-H program.

A newspaper depicts the story of life, the good and bad, and those millions of young people who are struggling to achieve, must be recognized and lauded. The Carlisle Mercury is to be congratulated for its quality support of our young people!

Sara Swango
County Extension Agent for 4-H

Editor, The Carlisle Mercury:
Congratulations to the writer of the letter signed, Ms. Guyette and Celia P. Ryan on the questions raised by the cat ranch.

Yes, there are still more questions that come up. What kind of people is there who are callous and disregardful of whether animals are friendly and cordial? Or do they care for them as if they were human? Or do they care for them as if they were human? Or do they care for them as if they were human?

FRANKFORT—Ultimate success of Gov. Louie B. Nunn's congressional efforts toward drug abuse depend on the effectiveness of the final analysis, how effectively the 120 county committees do their job at the local level.

It is a fact that is spent in the drug education program at the state level. It is a fact that is spent in the drug education program at the state level. It is a fact that is spent in the drug education program at the state level.

If you want a confusing explanation of the whole story, talk with your county agent. He knows how to manipulate the genetics enough to bring down a blight upon you, but don't expect him to know how to cure the same.

Provide some very valuable information to our beef producers. The ear tags are placed in the ear of selected calves and when the beef is slaughtered the farmer will receive information from the packing plant about the quality of the carcass.

Other tools like tissue testing in the fields and plant analyses in the soil are being used to find out if foods in the soil are getting into the plants.

Accurate record keeping is an important part of a soil test program. Farmers are urged to keep a yearly log of fields treated, the soil test report, recommendations, and what they apply field by field.
