Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

I DO hope no one was really overly ambitious during the Thanksgiving holiday and made the Pecan Cake. The recipe in the Nov. 26 issue gave the amount of baking powder as 2 tablespoons. It should be "2 teaspoons"! If you did make it, I think the only thing would be maybe a lighter texture cake, so don't worry. Cut a little wedge and try it instead of worrying.

* * * * * * *

Someone has asked me what I mean when I say 1 cup--tea cup, measuring cup or what have you.

When I say 1 cup, I mean I measuring cup, 8 ounces.

What nicer way to say "Merry Christmas" to your neighbors or friends than to give them a home baked Christmas goodie. This week I'll give you recipes you can make now and that keep well. (If you can resist them.)

Last week I gave you the recipe for Pecan Cake. This makes a very large cake and you can cut wedges or slices for giving. Now here is a delicious cookie you can make now, store in the refrigerator, then slice when you want to. It makes two rolls an inch or more in diameter and about 18 inches long. I keep these in my refrigerator the year round. So handy to slice a dozen or so cookies, place on cookie sheet and bake while the kettle heats for tea. You will find they are both ready about the same time.

ICE BOX COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 1/2 cups brown sugar (sometime I use half white and half brown)
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup nuts, chopped fine (Either pecans or English Walnuts. I prefer pecans)
3 cups sifted flour (approximately)

Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg, salt, vanilla, nuts and flour--enough to make dough stiff enough to handle.

Divide dough in half and roll in waxed paper until about 1 inch around. As you roll the dough, push and pull lengthwise. Wrap each roll in the wax paper, then in a piece of aluminum foil and refrigerate until ready to use. Slice very thin, place on cookie sheet, not touching and bake in 375 degree oven. Watch closely, it doesn't take long and you do not want them brown--just around the edge and they are done.

DUTCH REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 egg
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts

Cream together shortening and sugars; add egg and beat well. Sift together dry ingredients; stir into creamed mixture. Add nuts. Shape into rolls in wax paper about 2 1/2 inches across. (These are larger cookies than the "Ice Box Cookies").

Wrap in wax paper and chill. (Wrap again in aluminum foil if you are going to keep them very long). Slice VERY thin, Bake 1 inch apart on greased cookie sheet in moderate oven (375degree), 5 to 7 minutes or until lightly brown. Remove at once to rack.

ORANGE BALLS

1 6 ounce package semi sweet chocolate morsels
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup water
2 1/2 cups finely crushed vanilla wafers
1 cup finely chopped nuts
1 teaspoon orange extract

Melt chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from water. Stir in sugar and corn syrup. Blend in water. Combine vanilla wafers and nuts, and add to mixture, add orange extract. (I usually add about 1 teaspoon of grated orange rind.) Mix well and form into 1 inch balls. Roll in a mixture of powered sugar and white sugar. Let ripen in covered container several days. These will keep for 3 or 4 weeks. In fact they improve in flavor when held.

This is a switch from cookies but a good "make-ahead" frozen salad. So quick and easy you will want to keep some in your freezer all the time.

CRANBERRY SALAD

1 can #300 crushed pineapple well drained. (It is important to drain well to keep salad from being icy.) 1 #303 can of whole cranberry sauce, 1 carton of sour cream.

Mix ingredients well and spoon into paper cup cake cups that have been placed in muffin tins. Freeze. When well frozen remove from tins and place in plastic bag for easy storage.

When ready to serve, peel paper from salad and serve on Bib lettuce topped with mayonnaise. Remember to get the salad out early enough so that it will not be frozen too hard.

program that could be designed, although health authorities are providing help for the addicts who request care, or parents who bring their children's problems to them.

Gov. Nunn is stressing that parents learn the symptoms, some of the language used by youths in referring to drugs of various types, and how to recognize the shape and color of the various pills, capsules and other forms.

There will be a host of exhibits and material on display at the Dec. 3 meeting in Louisville that will be beneficial in the education program.

School people in all counties have been asked to join in the program. Many schools throughout the state are sending school people and the local committees in Louisville in school buses.

Dr. Dale Farabee, commissioner of Mental Health, says all the Regional Mental Health Centers accept patients with emotional problems. "Therefore, whether or not they already have a specific drug problem, they are accepting patients with drug problems as regular mental patients."

The Kentucky Department of Education has received a federal grant to extend drug education to all teachers in the state. Teachers have attended the regional workshops staffed by the Texas-trained teams, and some high school students have also attended the sessions.

The widespread use of marijuana by youths in one Central Kentucky County has generated a plan to eradicate the wild growing hemp next spring with the use of chemicals.

The Dec. program in Louisville begins at 10 a.m. Displays and exhibits will be open until 6 p.m. for those wishing to stay that late. The education program, featuring speakers closes at 3 p.m.

Nursing Home News

By Virginia Smith Donovan

Wouldn't this old world be better If the folks we meet would say I know something good about you! And then treat us just that way! Wouldn't it be fine and dandy, If each hand-clasp, warm and true, carried with it this assurance, I know something good about you.--Author unknown.

Uncle Tom Jackson was heard whistling. One lady said she never could whistle much and after she got her "store teeth" she couldn't whistle at all. Uncle Tom told her she just didn't get her mouth in the right shape.

Esther Swartz told us that her mother, Mrs. Pelphrey was still in the Mercy Hospital, in Portsmouth, Ohio.

That "old scamp," Uncle Tom Jackson has even gotten us to read the Bible more. He tried to tell us about the signs of the times. Uncle Tom is a unique character. To get most of his stories, one has to travel with him as he walks the halls, and as he talks, you have to listen to "his form of talk," for he smiles and cuts his words off quickly. The pattern was surely lost when the Lord make him! This news is real fun!

Sam Grey and Avery Barbee were up from Cowan to see the Fleming County folks.

Mrs. True Mackey, Joe Barbee, and Nona Sellers came from Robertson County to visit "Doc" Abee and Willie Sargent.

"Pud" Goodwin said he couldn't tell his age, it would take too long.

There comes a time in the life of every home when the children leave to make their way in the world. The house feels empty and there is an echo in the rooms, and in the two old hearts remaining there. Memories are precious, but flesh and blood children are closer and warmer, especially at the sunset hour.--Warren Walker

Majel Rice is quite busy for she works two nights each week and is also taking care of her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Rice, who is recuperating after a recent operation in a Louisville hospital.

J.P. Barbee likes to joke. He was heard saying to one of the helpers, that she was lovesick and too young to marry. The widow of several years got quite a "kick" out of this.

Alex Crawford of Robertson County was around to see his friends and neighbors.

When Harvey Ellison was asked how he was; he quickly replied that he was still able to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harney of Winchester came Sunday to see Raymond's mother, Mrs. Ida Harney.

Mrs. Liza Ockerman said she was trying to be good, We believe she has always been good. At least that's what everyone says.

Patsy Terry of Mr. Sterling was around to see her mother, Mrs. Robert Boyd. Mrs. Boyd's children in the county and the two out of the county do everything they can for her.

Mrs. Ellen Kenney says she would just as soon be dead as not to be able to talk. We agree with Mrs. Kenney.

Herman Conyers says "Pud" Goodwin was surely a good neighbor to his sister and brother-in-law when they all lived on the Moorefield Road.

Mrs. Price and Mrs. Blake came to see "Miss" Maggie Hammonds and the rest of the Fleming County folks.

Walter Stone's great granddaughter, little Evelyn Shrout is home recuperating after a recent eye operation. The folks at the home just love to have her talk to them.

Mrs. Stella Watkins is really popular. This last week her granddaughter, Ruby Watkins Elbert, came from Chagrin Falls, Ohio. Her daughter, Lois (Mrs. Tebay Rose) came on Tuesday from Lansing. Sidney Watkins Sapp sent her pecans from Wacross, Ga, and Leona Watkins Dixon sent her a beautiful blue duster, and called from Blackshear, Ga.

While on vacation, Lizzie Ratliff had a birthday party for her daughter, Wanda.

Rev. Herman Kamlage had charge of the weekly worship service. He read from the 18th chapter of St. John's gospel and gave a talk advising the old folks to make Christ the King and center of their hearts. He offered a prayer and sang two songs, "Crowning With Many Crowns," and "To Jesus Christ Our Soverign King." Several of the residents attended and the other patients enjoyed listening over the intercom.

LAURA ABNEE, Nicholas County, Roger Powell and Malcolm Caudill, VICA Club members at the Montgomery County Vocational School, Mt. Sterling, enjoy a bit of music during a leisure moment. VICA members do your part to help.
