I shall pass through this world but once. Any good therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect, for I shall not pass this way again.

No one knows who originally wrote this poem though it has been attributed to Victor Hugo, to George Eliot, to a Quaker missionary named Stephen Gerellet and to others. More than a century has passed since this was written, but the poem is very true. Think it over.

It looks like now days the grandmothers are trying to keep up with the grandchildren. It's really a hard job, but Pansy Richey is trying to keep up with her granddaughter, Rebecca Kimes. They each got a permanent the same day, and both look real pretty.

Marcus Boyd from Erlanger came Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Robert Boyd. Marcus is very faithful, comes real often.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Barbee of Cowan came Sunday to see Avery's father, J.P. Barbee. It seems as if the people of Fleming County happen in real often. They like to drop around and see Mrs. Maggie Hammonds, Ward Hammonds and J.P. Barbee. After all they don't have far to travel.

Ill gotten game never did anyone any good.

Mrs. Helen Smith comes every two weeks from Paris, usually on Thursday. She is a dietary consultant. Sheila and all the rest of the good cooks need a little help along the way for they have so much to do.

Mrs. Ray Morgan came from Maysville, Sunday to see her father, Leroy Cooper.

F.H. Bowles is a new patient, has been at the home about ten days. Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Ritchie of Georgetown visited Mr. Bowles recently.

Mrs. Walter Shrout with just a little help, said, "There's so much bad in the best of us and so much good in the worst of us, that it doesn't behove any of us to talk about the rest of us."

Anything is either right or wrong no place else to put it.--Uncle Tom Jackson.

Behind a smiling face is many an aching heart.

Although the snow is melted and no more on the way, we hope, we are still sleigh riding. Sterling Vice has been trying to get to tell this story and there has been so many interruptions, but we think we have the story about finished. Mr. Vice says he remembers when he was about twelve years old and worked for George Hardin that Bill Owings, Hardin's son-in-law, would come over with his wagon bed on the sled which was drawn by a team of horses and they would start out for Jordon, some called it Jerden. Bill would load up the sled with Hester, his wife and the three "kids," Clarence, Ruth, (deceased), and Clyde. The stork must have later come along with Pansy (Mrs. Joe Beatty). Allen Howe and Blanch who is now deceased, Mr. Vice said they really had fun, said he couldn't remember the names of several others who always went along but could remember that Mattie Pierce always had a seat on the sled. It must have been quite a few years later that Mr. Bill moved into town and kept the jail for quite a few years.

A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world.--Mohammed.

In this day and time it's hard enough to keep the collectors away from the door much less having to fight the wolves.

Mrs. Don Black came from Independence: Wednesday to look in on her grandmother, Mrs. Ed Black.

Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never happen.

Dissipation of any kind never leads upward but always downard.--Earl L. Douglas.

How many of you old timers remember Pill Bill Richey, who was the Raleigh man and kept his medicine aids in the upstairs of the Greater building?

It's nice to have Mrs. Maggie Hammonds and Harvey Ellison back from the hospital.

Clinton Dayton, an old neighbor of Mrs. Minnie Mitchell, comes up from Pleasant Valley real often and talks to "Miss" Minnie who is real glad to see him. Mr. Dayton said when he was a boy the boys on the farm got to go to school until they were about ten or eleven, got about as far as the fifth grade and then had to get out and work. Clinton Dayton can play the piano real well and every once in a while he makes the piano in the day room really hum.

If from life you take the beat, And if in life you keep the jest, If love you take from out your heart, No matter how the years go by, No matter how the birthdays fly--You can not grow old.--Arthor Unknown.

Blue Jacket Statistics Show Improvement

By John Soper

Coach Bill Anderson may be building a "New Blue Machine" with Nicholas County's current basketball team. The Bluejackets have nine wins and six losses despite losing a young ball club with only one senior on the starting five.

A look at this year's statistics compared to last year's team gives some of the reasons the Bluejackets are playing to a full house on the local court. The team is averaging 72.2 points per game while holding opponents to 62 points. This compares to last year's team that averaged 62 points per game while Nicholas County's opponents are averaging 64.3 points. Coach Anderson states there are two good reasons for the ten point bulge over opponents--rebounding and moving the ball better. The current Jackets are averaging 40 rebounds per game, eight more than last year. Steve Kimberling and Rodney Hatton are leading the way with 14 and 10.2 per game. Improved ball handling is showing up as this team is averaging 21 recoveries per game compared to 10.9 last year. This team has also increased its number of assists per game over last year (9.5 to 4.3).

Dennis Allison, the Bluejackets' play maker, is leading the team with five per game. Jimmy Parker and Dennis Allison are averaging 5.5 recoveries per game. More rebounds, assists and recoveries are enabling the Jackets to get off about ten shots more per game than last year. They have proved to be a good shooting team, hitting 40.2% and Parker and Hatton with 42 shooting percentages.

In the free throw shooting department the Jackets are showing on the minus side. This year the team is hitting for 53.5% while last year's team cashed in 60.7% of their free throws. This year's team leader is Dennis Allison with a percentage of 68.

Coach Anderson is pleased with the balanced scoring attack of the Bluejackets. Per game averages are Hatton--18, Kimberling--17, Allison--13, Parker--12, and Reg Boyd--7.

These five plus the bench strength of Tommy Lane, Ernie Compton and Reese Smoot are making even the large schools take notice of the "New Blue Machine". If you haven't attended, come out Friday night for the home game with Mt. Vernon.

'DAYTON MIKE'

To differentiate between the two Mikes, Pratt and Casey, one Kentucky fan dubbed them "Dayton Mike" and "Lexington Mike." "Shelby Mike" can be the shelf with a mending leg, but "Dayton Mike" is having his finest season with the Kentucky Wildcats. The 6'4, 217 pound senior hails from Dayton, Ohio, of course.

Mike grew up in Dayton and excelled in basketball, football and baseball by the time he reached high school. His idols, he recalls, were the Dayton Flyers and Mickey Mantle. "Basketball was always my favorite sport," says Pratt, "it has been ever since I was a small boy." There never was any doubt in his mind but that he would some day play with the University of Dayton. "I came down to Lexington my senior year in high school just for the visit," Mike explains, "but after I saw Kron and Conley and that 1966 team run and shoot I knew that was the way I wanted to play basketball." Kentucky fans are glad Pratt liked what he saw; a few months later, he signed a grant-in-aid to play for Coach Adolph Rupp.

Coach Rupp says the burley boy from the Buckeye State is one of the strongest players he has ever coached. Pratt says for Rupp's quite understood why he is strong. "It's just natural with me, I guess," Pratt comments, "but I think getting position and blocking out is the reason I'm able to rebound against taller front line men."

Does Pratt have any regrets about coming to Kentucky? "How could I have any regrets," he asks, "playing for Coach Rupp on a consistently ranked team? We've been to a post-season tournament ever since I've been here. I love it here at Kentucky."

The feeling is mutual, "Dayton Mike." The feeling is mutual.

Luxury Camp Ground

"We don't want to take the laurels away from the state, we just want to be the second best park system in the nation," is the attitude of Sam Bennett, president of Interstate Campgrounds Inc.

By spring 1970, Bennett's firm will open Riverwood, a luxury camp ground in Bullitt County. Riverwood is typical of private campsites springing up across the state and nation.

The camp ground will cover 87 acres of a 127-acre development off highway 44, one and one-half miles east of the Shepherdsville toll plaza on I-65. The 20 acres which are located north of the highway are zoned commercial and will be improved to blend with the camping area. Another 20 acres are included in the camping facilities are on the east side of the project and will become an ultra-modern mobile home park.

The low density mobile home park will be landscaped to include a park, boating and fishing facilities in Salt River, off-street parking, and a private pool. Bennett says the mobile home facilities are being planned as the finest in a five-state area.

Bennett said Interstate wants to keep the campground as natural as possible and to maintain quality employees year-round. In achieving proximity to the Interstates, the firm hopes to culture year-round business, thereby giving their employees a permanent status.

When Riverwood is open it will have an estimated 300-400 camp sites divided into three categories. Resort camp sites, which cost up to about $5 per night, are equipped with sewer facilities, water and electric hook ups and other extras, will be the maintstay of the camp ground. Transient sites, the next in popularity, provide water and electricity, and some are provided with a sewer hook-up. The other category of camp site is called primitive, in which no utilities are provided except that water is "nearby."

Bennett insists his corporation is planning for the future, and to prove it they have contracted the services of Miller, Wihry, and Brooks, Landscaper, Architects, and Engineers. The firm makes most of the decisions as to "how many sites at a particular facility," and where the pool will be.

At the Riverwood facility, the acreage is being laid-out so the mobile home dwellers will not even know there is a camp there, and the campers won't be able to detect the existence of the mobile home park. Interstate Campgrounds is investing $750,000 in the Riverwood site.

Bennett's corporation started a little over a year ago. The firm has its home office in Lexington.
