W. W. Cook Retires After 22 Years In Levy County Fla. School System

The long and happy association between the W.W. Cooks and the Yankeetown, (Fla.) community came to an end with his retirement June 30. Approximately 200 people attended an open house celebration given by friends in their honor at the Yankeetown Woman's Club on Sunday, June 7, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook are retiring after serving 22 years in the Levy County school system. Cook has been Principal here since 1951, following a two year teaching and coaching assignment at Cedar Key High School. He first taught in Florida as a coach and social studies teacher at the Yankeetown High School, moving to the state from Kentucky in 1948.

The Paris, Ky. native has long served as a teacher and coach, with his first assignment as a teacher in a one-room school at Barterville in 1931.

Mrs. Cook, the former Gladys Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Everett D. Smith, of Carlisle, is leaving the school system after 15 years service as a school secretary. She first served at the Cedar Key High School the second year they were there and has been employed in the same capacity at Yankeetown for the past 14 years.

R.A. Lynch, school board member from this district for the past 12 years, presented the Cooks a stereo channel master multiplex receiver AM & FM radio complete with two speakers, on behalf of their many, many friends in the area.

Mrs. Cook wore a corsage made from a rare and beautiful chartreuse fringed Orchid (Brassavola Digbyana) which had been made up and presented to her by friends who had brought the plant from Honduras.

A highlight of the open house was a large cake which was a replica of the Yankeetown School building. This ambitious and artistic baking project of Mrs. R.A. Lynch included both wedge and was covered with icing in exact colors of the beautiful native stone building, even to the green and white trim. Trees, shrubbery and a green station wagon completed the display. A boat rested on top of the station wagon, an outboard motor could be seen in the tailgate window and looking out was a tiny dog, representing their pointer, "Jake."

Cook was joshed about his love of fishing but insisted that the shining waters of the Withlacoochee River and the sparkling Gulf of Mecico had afforded wonderful relaxation for him but were only a part of the reason for staying for so many years.

Promoting the education, health and welfare of children have been "high on Cook's list of priorities". In fact, children have been his first concern. During his administration the school has grown from a tiny three teacher school with grades one thru six to one with eight teachers plus a librarian, full time secretary, two full time teacher aides, a one-half time art teacher, two part time special education teachers, a part time speech therapist and a part time music teacher for grades one thru eight.

Among the improvements noted during these 19 years is a lunch-room program which has received state recognition for high pupil participation which averages about 95%. Convinced that nutrition is of utmost importance to the child, Cook found some way for everyone wanting to eat to be provided with a hot lunch.

The greatly enlarged playground area now includes a baseball field. Here, he has spent countless hours training budding high school stars. He built a challenge obstacle course for the elementary pupils and just weeks ago had the basketball and tennis court re-surfaced.

Cook was a member of the first library board in Yankeetown. He also took an active part in a successful appeal to have a bookmobile serve the rural area and the school. He is a member of several professional organizations and is a past president of the Levy County Administrators and Supervisors Association.

The couple, who believes a healthy child is better able to learn, has served the community in many ways. Their work has included being co-chairmen of the oral polio program, measles immunization program, and screening indigent children for the county dental clinic. By contacting individuals or organizations providing child services, they have helped provide necessities and remove problems individuals have had which would handicap them in their progress in school. Many times they have furnished the transportation needed for children to travel to medical centers for attention.

In addition to working to improve the health of children, Mrs. Cook has given freely of her time in all phases of school work while serving as a secretary of the school. Many hours have been devoted to local unit PTA work and as a member and officer of the PTA County Council.

Prior to becoming school secretary she was active in home demonstration work winning the county dress revue one-year. She also served as a 4-H clothing project leader in the community for several years.

Soon, Gladys and "Red", as they are known to their friends, will look up to their travel trailer and head for their home in Kentucky to spend retirement years traveling out of Carlisle for sightseeing and fishing trips. They plan to return to Florida for the winter months to visit with the people who have made Yankeetown home for them for nearly a quarter of a century.

Parents, past and present school associates, students, neighbors and friends from throughout the area attended the gala celebration. Among those attending were Mrs. Cook's sister, niece, and nephew, Mrs. Louis (Idell) Rondolino, Tina and John Sue of St. Petersburg; their minister, Rev. Paul Ausherman; associate minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Ashley from the First Christian Church, Ocala; personnel including the county superintendent, supervisors, directors of education, principals, teachers and friends from Bronson, Williston, Cedar Key and other communities in the county.

All wished them good luck, good health and much happiness. They will certainly be missed but we in the community feel fortunate the Cooks are planning to be among their Florida friends a part of each year.

THE W.W. COOKS were honored by the Yankeetown PTA at a dinner held recently at the Crystal River Holiday Inn. About 60 persons enjoyed this occasion. Mrs. Louis Rondolino and children from St. Petersburg were among those attending.

AT THE LAST MEETING of the Levy County Education Association held in Bronson, Gladys S. Cook and W.W. Cook were each presented a Certificate of Service in appreciation for many years of faithful and meritorious service to the Levy County Public Schools. Best wishes and thanks from the school board accompanied this expression of graditude.

ton price for coal was $7.83 and the bid was adjusted to $9.93, effective May 7, 1970. The new bid for fall is $12.93 per ton from South-East Coal Sales.

Morehead State University will use an estimated 7,500 tons. The 1969 price was $8.42 and the bid for this fall is $14.92.

The University of Kentucky Medical Center will use approximately 16,000 tons and paid $9.93 in 1969. The new bid is $14.93 per ton.

The 19 state Institutions listed in the notice will use an estimated 106,000 tons of coal for the year.

The School for the Deaf at Danville got a bid that was almost double the price of $8.30 per ton for last year, that was then adjusted to $9.70. The bid for the coming season is $18.60. McCubbin noted that "Quality" (sizing) improved over last year which accounts for some of the increase in price.

The Charles Buddeke Coal Co. of Louisville noted on its bid--"Due to conditions within the coal industry, we are unable to guarantee delivery of the coal because of the inability of mines to ship, and of the railroads to make deliveries. We are unable to give a firm price beyond a 30-day period. Therefore, this letter must become a part of our bid."

Western Kentucky State University's coal was bid at $10.50 a ton for this fall.

The note on Buddeke's bid is one of the chief reasons Christen is urging the Institutions to stockpile during July, August and September.

Strange things happen in the Capital City.

One of the highest arbiters of Kentucky's laws became aggravated enough last week to abridge the laws that he interprets.

Court of Appeals Commissioner Robert K. Cullen, finding the parking place assigned to him at the Capitol occupied by another car, took direct action. He bought a chain and lock and chained the car, or had it chained, to the iron post holding the "reserved" sign.

A Capitol employee, on leaving work, found her car chained. She called Frankfort City Police. The police took a bolt cutter and freed the automobile.

His plan backfired. Apparently he expected the employee to come to him to get the car freed. Now, he's out the price of a chain and lock.

The Capitol City is public property. There is no statute on the books that says it can be reserved for an official. In practice, people observe the reserved parking spaces as a courtesy.

The question being tittered through state government buildings in Frankfort is--"Did Cullen violate the law, and is he liable for court action?"

CARD OF THANKS: We want to thank all our neighbors and the men with the fire truck who worked so hard to contain the grass fire on Monday. Possibly preventing greater damage and distroying the barn and other buildings. Mrs. Clarence Buntin, Mrs. Harold Hamm. 7-2-1tpd.

Clean, flameless electric heat is your invisible housekeeper

...permanent, full-time, live-in help!

It's nice to know that electric heat is on the job. The fresh, clean, odorless air softly drifts from room to room ...out of sight. And while warming your home, it's helping to give you a head-start on housework.

You see, flameless electric heat doesn't make dirt. It's the cleanest form of energy known. Naturally you save hours of housekeeping time. With gentle heat sweeping through the house you save money on cleaning drapes and furniture. With clean air quietly wiping the walls, you decorate less often. More savings.

That new home stays bright and clean. One of the several types of installations will be just right for your home--with room-by-room control if you wish. You'll "play it cool" with modern, electric heat as your invisible helping hand.
