

Kay's Kitchen

As now in the peak of the "apple season," so my mind turns to using this all round delicious fruit NOW. As you probably know by this time, I'm great for serving any fruit or vegetable in season. We are just lucky that apples are with us thru most of the winter. Then we can look forward to the fairly transparent ones.

Naturally my mind goes to apple pie with good cheddar cheese. I'll give you a good basic recipe you can serve it with anything you like—cream, cheese or ice cream.

APPLE PIE
 Pare 5 to 7 tart apples and slice thin. (I prefer Jonathan or Wilcox.) Use enough apples to fill generously a 9 inch pastry shell.

Earl Francis, is a missionary and his recipe— "Apple Mollie-bake."

"If you do include 'quickies' for the harassed housewife who has had an afternoon at a bridge party, collected the idea from school on the way home and arrived home 10 minutes before dear husband, the following is offered as a treat.

"APPLE MOLLIEBAKE"
 Core the apple, fill with seedless raisins, garnish with a tablespoon of "black track" (dark syrup or molasses). Cook in water for the time the main course is finished, then remove to a platter with thick cream to taste. It is as delicious as the dish that cooks it in me.
