Now some statistics on the filthiest, most worthless bird on this planet. The Starling was imported from Russia in 1890 and let loose on our East Coast. Just 30 years ago we had none in Kentucky, now we have trillions. They have almost covered our country to our West Coast. They are a grave danger to our well being. They carry two diseases fatal to people. In winter and early spring, they stay in huge flocks daily traveling 30 to 40 miles, rain, snow or blow. They stop, going and coming, at every barn, poultry house, silo, cattle and hog fee lot. They go a different direction every day. If one farm in your state had Cholera or any other contagious disease, they would carry it to the whole state in two weeks time.

They have destroyed almost all of our Flickers, Woodpeckers, etc. Any bird that nests in a hole, the Starling goes in, throws out their young or eggs and raises their own family. They raise two and three broods each year, six to eight at a time. Our good birds eat only certain things and raise a family of two to five each year. The reason the Starling can thrive and multiply so fast in all climates is that they eat anything, and cover such a large area. They look larger but can do in a 1 3/8 inch hole easy.

If they aren't destroyed, in 20 years, we will have no birds except Starlings and a few sparrows, but they may put us out of business first.

Editor, The Carlisle Mercury:

The Nov. 12 issue stated that The First Christian Church was the first church that had been built in 64 years. This is not so. The Assembly of God Church was built in 1955. It was started around 1940 by Rev. James Hartshorn. It is a small church at the corner of Mulberry and Walnut.

Sincerely,
Clarine Finch

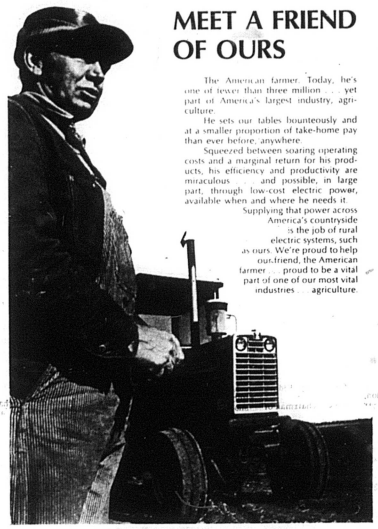
MEET A FRIEND OF OURS



The American farmer. Today, he's one of fewer than three million . . . yet part of America's largest industry, agriculture.

He sets our tables bounteously and at a smaller proportion of take-home pay than ever before, anywhere.

Squeezed between soaring operating costs and a marginal return for his products, his efficiency and productivity are miraculous . . . and possible, in large part, through low-cost electric power, available when and where he needs it.

Supplying that power across America's countryside is the job of rural electric systems, such as ours. We're proud to help our friend, the American farmer . . . proud to be a vital part of one of our most vital industries . . . agriculture.
