Nursing Home News

By Virginia Smith Donovan

The following poem was written by our own nurse, Mertie Jones. She scratched this out for us this morning.

BEHOLD HIS GOODNESS

See the making of the Master
Behold the hand of His hand
Be thankful and happy
That He gave us this great land!
Thank Him for His tender Mercies
For His guidance and His care
For His watchfulness over us
And for His great love to share.
Make us aware of His presence
As we struggle in this land
To proclaim our Master's goodness
And His coming once again.

See the making of the Master
As we gather in the store
Let us proclaim His being
From every land and shore

Last week we stated that there was a new patient named Ethyl Goodwin. Then we hadn't heard that he was Nicholas County's own "Pud" Goodwin. He made brooms and mops for 65 years. "Pud" knows a lot of people in Carlisle and Nicholas County.

Mrs. Jack Marshall of Cynthiana visited the home Sunday and was delighted to have a talk and meet John Smitson who was the contractor and with the help of Jimmy Hardin built the Republican Christian Church. Mr. Smitson and Mrs. Marshall agreed that the church was built in 1923. Mrs. Marshall's husband and another young man hauled the bricks that were used to build the church. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are members of the church.

Herman Wells of Harrison County visited his aunt, Mae Wells.

Mrs. Claudia Wells is a new patient. Her daughter, Mrs. Ann Scales of Los Angles, Calif, and her son, Arthur Wells, Nicholas County's "egg" man came to see that she was well situated.

Earl Smucker's son from Lexington and the one from Sharpsburg were around to see him on Sunday.

Some people still remember their old school teachers. Lucille Whaley Clark and "Buster" went to see Miss Effie Anderson. Miss Effie taught both of them in high school when they had high school at Moorefield. She said she boarded with "Buster's" folks.

George Soshy's daughters from Lexington, Winchester and Nicholas County were around to see him on Sunday.

Mrs. Bertha Shoensigel was really dressed up Sunday. She was the first one we "spied" when we came in the day room, for she was wearing a beautiful yellow, hand knitted sweater. Her niece made it and sent it to her from California.

Enjoy yourself. These are the good old days you're going to miss in 1980.

A little boy prayed; Lord, if you can't make me a better boy don't worry about it. I'm having a real good time the way it is.

A political war is one in which everyone shoots from the lip.

Mrs. Gertrude Woodall's brother of Cincinnati visited her on Sunday.

It's better to wear out than rust out.

Thanksgiving Day is only our annual time for saying grace at the table of eternal goodness.--James M. Ludlow

The doctor told his overweight patient I want to see three-fourths of you at this time next month.--Batesville (Ark.) Record

God's grace enables us to face the music when we don't like the tune!

It was nice to talk to Thelma Morris over the phone. She said she was taking her vacation, house cleaning, making her Christmas candy, having her children as guests, and if she had any time was stripping tobacco for her son, Stanley of Harrison County.

Varnished surfaces can usually be cleaned nicely with a cloth dipped in cool, weak tea. That's right, cool, weak tea!

To stop leaks in vases or brica-brac, pour melted paraffin over the leaky spot and let it harden.

"Tiny" Earlywine says he can say "ditto" to Thelma Morris' statements. About the only difference is that she's not stripping tobacco for her son, it's for her husband, Frazier.

Son: Mother, you had better get me a gun and holster tomorrow.

Mother: Why son?

Son: Well, the kindergarten teacher said she is going to teach us how to draw.

Policeman: So you're lost, little boy. Why didn't you hold on to your mother's skirt?"

Boy: I tried to but I couldn't reach it.

Most of the older people of Nicholas County especially around Stoney Creek remember "Aunt Sally" and "Uncle Charley" Thompson. Herman Conyers, Harvey Ellison and Orville Howard do. "Aunt Sally" died April 1, 1928 and "Uncle Charley" died a couple of years latter. "Aunt Sally's" people were slaves and were born and lived on the Crockett farm which now belongs to Charles, Lander, and Miss Maurine Crockett. When Vernon Summers of Henryville was a tiny baby, just a few days old, Aunt Sally took him to raise. Vernon is the son of George Summers. We almost forgot to say that Aunt Sally and her family were owned by the grandfather of Charles, Maurine, and Lander Crockett. Harvey Ellison and Herman Conyers remember seeing the old Negro couple as they sat on the back seat at the Stoney Creek Christian Church. Once Uncle Charley was asked how he liked the services there. He said he liked them just fine, but there was one thing wrong with their singing, "they didn't get their 'spiritual' up high enough." Harvey Ellison said at one time he lived on their little farm and later when Harvey's house was burned, Uncle Charley and Aunt Sally gave him a bed which was gratefully appreciated.

Mrs. Cora Gaunce said her cousin, Mrs. Lawrence Kennedy of Cynthiana called up and asked her folks at the nurse's station how she was. "Aunt Cora" really appreciated that, she said.

Miss Effie Anderson's sister, Helen, said Margaret Wells Anderson kept Miss Effie in flowers and jam cake, Margaret, you have surely picked the lost "posie." Now you can spend your time on jam cake and maybe you'll have more of it to pass around. You know it is a Nicholas County specialty.

Frances Kash Royce was around making her usual weekly visit to see her mother, Mrs. Lula Kash. She's always carrying something in the food or flower line.

Mrs. Claudia Well's grandson's wife, Mrs. Lloyd Wells, came from Mt. Olivet to see her. She brought her mother, Mrs. Virginia Martin, also of Mt. Olivet.

Dorothy and Jody Watkins had a nice trip to Clarkrange, Tenn. over the weekend.

Willie Sargent's daughters of Lexington and Winchester came to see him. A friend, Mrs. Bethel of Lexington, came with them.

Ruth Brambiett, who lives somewhere in Northern Kentucky, was around to see her mother, Mrs. Ida Harney.

Really, Mary Clay Blount's name hasn't been mentioned in regard to her faithfulness. She comes everyday to see her mother, Mrs. Eva Blount. Thanks to Blanch and Stanley Kenney, Mary Clay is very helpful around the home. She would make a good aide. She comes around to Miss Eva's neighbors and does little acts of kindness which some of us never think about doing, such as putting more covers on their feet.

At this writing, we are glad to say that no one is in the local hospital.

There isn't room for another Thanksgiving poem. All of you get your Bibles out and read Psalm 100. It wouldn't hurt you to try to memorize it. After all we should celebrate Thanksgiving everyday the year round.

TAXPAYERS ASK IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I just sold my house and had to pay points to get financing for the buyer. How do I handle this cost for tax purposes?

A) Add what you paid in points to your other selling costs. This is a factor in determining gain or loss on the sale.

Points paid by the seller to get financing for the buyer may not be deducted as interest.

For more details on the sale of a home, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for Publication 523, Tax Information on Selling Your Home. This booklet is free.

Q) Instead of shutting down businesses for not paying taxes why don't you let them stay open so they can earn the money to pay what they owe?

A) Before enforcement action is taken the taxpayer is given ample opportunity to meet his tax obligations. Only when all attempts to gain the taxpayer's cooperation fail, does IRS take enforcement action to meet its responsibilities under the law.

Many times IRS is forced to close a business for not paying taxes when the owners use the taxes withheld from employee wages for their own purposes and do not deposit them with the government as required. Unless the business cooperates in such a situation, the longer it is allowed to continue operation the larger the tax liability will become.

Q) I want to buy a foreign car while I'm vacationing in Europe this summer. Do I have to pay an excise tax on it when I bring it home with me?

A) Yes, the manufacturer's excise tax of 5 percent applies to imported cars, new or used, that are purchased while on vacation abroad and brought back to the U.S. before January 1, 1971. For details see Publication 707, "Excise Tax Information on Imported Foreign-Made Automobiles," available free by sending a post card to your IRS district office.

Q) When I filed my tax return earlier this year I forgot to deduct some expenses I had in operating my farm. Is it too late to do it?

A) No, changes in a tax return can generally be made within three years from the filing deadline. To make the change, obtain a copy of Form 1040X and Schedule "F" (Form 1040) from your IRS District Office.

Q) Our first baby is due next month. When can we start taking an extra exemption?

A) When the child is born you may make a change in your withholding. To do this, another withholding certificate, Form W-4, must be filed with your employer.

Keep good records of your medical expenses this year as well as reimbursements you receive from medical insurance. This information will be helpful if you decide it's to your advantage to itemize deductions on your 1970 income tax return.

Frontier Christmas in Mason County, Ky.

Three words describe the scene in Washington, Ky., on Dec. 5 and 6. They are "busy, busy, busy." It's what the local ladies call Frontier Christmas and this is its third year.

Six restored historic buildings are being decorated with the materials used in the 1800s when Washington was the second largest town in Kentucky. All six will be open to the public free of charge during the afternoons. They are Medford Station, built in 1787 and the last of the flatboat houses in America; the Old Church, built in 1848 by Methodism's first converts in Northern Kentucky; the Albert Sidney Johnson House, birthplace of the renowned Confederate general; the Cane Brake, built in 1790, one of the town's original log houses; Paxton Inn, built in 1810 with a secret stairway in the chimney; and the Old Presbyterian Church, rebuilt in 1844 and the third building to house the congregation that was formed in 1791.

All manner of diverting activities are to be seen. You can watch hand-candle-dippers doing their thing, see cane chairs and baskets made with hickory bark, watch an artist paint portraits, see another artist making a Kentucky rifle by hand and, of course, inspect the wealth of museum items on display.

You can buy wassail and country ham sandwiches and candies and transparent puddings and other Kentucky specialties.

The celebration will close when all the bells in the village ring out and call people to a candlelight vesper service in the Old Church at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Shearer Admitted To VA Hospital

Virgil Shearer was admitted to the Veterans Hospital in Lexington last week after a short illness. Cards may be sent in care of the main building, Unit 1-2, second floor, room 242.

Concert Set Dec. 5 At Lexington

The Central Kentucky Youth Concert Orchestra will present its Christmas Concert on Saturday, Dec. 5, at 3:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall, on the campus of the University of Kentucky at Lexington. The concert is open to the public without charge.
