WHAT'S FOR DINNER?
This question is easy to answer once the main dish is planned because the main dish is the hub around which the rest of the meal builds. With meat the most expensive item on the grocery list, extending it with foods such as pasta, cereals, vegetables, etc., is a good way to ensure serving satisfying nutritious meals at lower cost. Here are some suggestions for economical main dishes which may help add interest and variety to everyday menus.

Hounds Kennel
A view of Licking River Hounds Kennel on the Far Cry Farm, As the gentlemen in the picture may have said, "I can't go hunting tonight, but I'll go chasing women." In his high school days of course--Mercury picture.

I Can Dream Can't I?
"Yet if once we efface the joys of the chase! From the land and out-root the end Goodbye to the Anglo-Saxon race! Farewell to the Norman blood!"
Many devotees of the popular sport of fox hunting will make all efforts and sacrifices to be in Nicholas County for the hunt that is deer-hunt of 1944-45-46, yet more penetrating and far more exhibiting.

Oct. 12-15, Nicholas Countians will see the faces of many new and old devotees of the old and universally loved sport, faces that bear the looks of great anticipation, eagerness and sheer joy.
Local for the hunt this fall will be the famous "Clay Farm" (now Sky View Farm, Inc.) which in these years attracted wide attendance among lovers of the ancient sport from all over Kentucky and from many other states.
This 4700 acre tract of land near Myers is renowned as a natural habitat for the wily quarry of foxhunters and possesses a topography which is, in the opinion of experts of the sport, splendidly adapted to the chase. The Sky View Farm, Inc., is an elevated plateau that offers a view that is unsurpassed by any other farm in Nicholas County and is ideally located in that it borders the Licking River with a 12 mile frontage. Veteran foxhunters will go as far as to say that the "Sky View Farm, Inc." is the best fox hunting country in the nation.
Bored and saddled, apron and formal attire, finely trained horses and keenly developed hounds combined with jovial huntmen will make this gala occasion one of robust proportions, striking beauty and unsurpassed in the history of foxhunting.
The spectacle of beautifully dressed and very graceful horses, finely attired gentlemen, one gallant hunter and his dog, mingled with the eager, unexpressed haying of impressive hounds will inevitably add such a zest to the crisp October air that the nature-lovers and sports-minded hunters will be unable to fully describe or relate their breath-taking experiences. Nothing short of a perfect casting and a superior showing of the hounds will be expected of this milestone in the fox hunter's life. It's great, good fun--this age old case. When he finished, judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500. He had sued for $200.

Tribute

We imagine it seemed like an ordinary day on Sept. 23, a hundred years ago, at Warrensburg, Mo. There may have been a few extra buggies and wagons at the courthouse hitching rack on account of some special legal talent that had come that day to defend a man who was on trial for shooting his neighbor's foxhound.
But it was a "Tribute To A Dog" from a young Kentuckian, the attorney, on the other side, that made the day memorable and won the case for the plaintiff. This Tribute is now engravered on a statue to Old Drum placed in the courthouse yard in Warrensburg, Notable for the way he held of the dog's loyalty, this Tribute by George W. Vest has been translated into more than 40 languages.
