FRANKFORT—The University of Kentucky has "robbed" Gov. Louie B. Nunn's administration

of one of the most promising young stars on the government scene. The talent larceny came about last week when the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees hired budget director Lawrence Forgy Jr. to Lexington as vice president of business affairs at an annual salary of $72,500.

of the most promising young stars on the government scene. The talent larceny came about last week when the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees hired budget director Lawrence Forgy Jr. to Lexington as vice president of business affairs at an annual salary of $72,500.

Forgy began his college training at the University but transferred to Washington University and worked in the office of Sen. Thurston Morton while obtaining his undergraduate degree, and in 1963, when he was recruited in 1963.

Forgy worked for Sen. John Sherman Cooper. His next move was to the Federal Trade Commission and then to the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Forgy was named Deputy Finance Commissioner under Albert Harrison and then moved to the latter position as handling bond sales and other fiscal matters of the state.
