Letters from our readers
Continued from Page 2
Four years ago, when our high school band marched down the football field, down Main Street, or played a formal concert, anyone in Nicholas County could proudly say, "That is our band!" I dare say there is not one person who can say the same today...

Commissioner Miller on Kentucky Agriculture
Harvest of Kentucky's namesake crop, "Blue Grass," is now underway, and an excellent yield is expected.
"Last week's "Blue Grass Field Day" on the Walco farm in Woodford County provided an interesting and informative look at this marvelous grass, Julian Walden, a nationally known seed producer and authority on Kentucky Blue Grass, showed the group just how productive this crop can be. Walden not only realizes good pasture and forage from his fields of Blue Grass, but is also a major producer of seed and, a tour of his farm will quickly demonstrate why this grass holds a position of prominence among those who appreciate good grasses.
