

Corn Blight Hybrids

Responding to questions concerning its seed situation for next spring's planting season, DeKalb AgResearch, Inc. announced that it expects to have significant quantities of hybrids highly resistant to Race "T" of the Southern Corn Leaf Blight. Resistance has been achieved in two ways, first, most modern hybrids with normal cytoplasm (produced by crossbreeding) are highly resistant; second, some hybrids show a marked degree of genetic resistance even with sterile cytoplasm. Susceptibility has been traced to the use of the Texas male sterile cytoplasm commonly used by all corn companies.

Banks Provide Farmers More Services

Kentucky banks were providing farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Emerson Baker, Carlisle, First National Bank which represents the Kentucky Bankers Association as Nicholas Agricultural chairman. During 1969, the banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit according to a summary of the Agricultural and Rural Affairs Committee of The American Bankers Association. Mr. Baker reported that at the beginning of the year, Kentucky banks were helping farmers with $325 million in loans, six percent more than a year previous. This total included $159 million in production loans and $165 million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $76 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $135 million by the Federal Land Banks; $141 million by Production Credit Associations, and $16 million in non-real estate loans, plus $7 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About one-half of the non-real estate credit extended by lending institutions to Kentucky farmers came from banks.

Tuberculin Test Set For Oct. 19

The Nicholas County Health Department has set Oct. 19, as the tentative date to conduct its tuberculin skin testing program in the Nicholas County schools. The purpose of the skin test is to identify those students who have been infected at some time of their life with the tubercle bacilli, the organism that causes tuberculosis. It has been noted that the tubercle bacilli causes little or no symptoms during its first attack. The person usually has enough resistance to check the growth of the germs with little damage done to the lung. The person seldom knows he has even had the infection—unless he gets a TV skin test. The danger of this first infection lies in the fact that though the infection is cleared up for the time being, it may break down and progress to an active case of tuberculosis in later life.

The eventual eradication of tuberculosis depends on two factors: the finding and adequate treatment of people who already have the disease, and the identification and treatment of the infected person before he develops the disease. The TB skin test is the chief means of finding these infected persons.

Research begun in 1955 has proven that Isoniazid (INH), the drug used to treat active tuberculosis, is also an effective means of preventing active tuberculosis. Therefore, the health department is urging all parents to sign the card each child brings home giving their permission for their child to receive the tuberculin skin test.

Most of the children will have a negative test; they have never had a TB germ in their body. If a child does have a positive test (that had a germ in their body), the child must be re-tested and when his physician determines the need, placed on the preventive drug, that will minimize his chances of ever developing a case of active tuberculosis.

It is emphasized that a positive skin test does not mean a person has active TB. It means only that he has been exposed to the germ and that there is a possibility tuberculosis may develop in later life.

This test will be available at the schools to all students with a signed permission card and all school personnel. The test is available to other persons from their private physician or at the local health department on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

playing considerable genetic resistance in the sterile portions.

Over 20,000 detasslers were employed in DeKalb seed fields this summer. All told, the 45 hybrids, combining the highly resistant with blend production should approximate 80 to 90 per cent of the entire quantity of seed delivered by DeKalb last spring.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight should pose few problems in 1972 as DeKalb plans to switch completely to detassled production of seed in 1971 and expects to be able to more than meet the needs of the market.
