"Converting to electric heat was easy... easy on our budget, too!"

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Newby of Versailles, Ky.
"I thought converting would mean a big mess," says Mrs. Newby, "but it was simple. And electric heat certainly makes no mess. We've noticed real savings on redecorating and cleaning costs."
"It's a comfort in more ways than one," says Mr. Newby. "I just don't shell out any more for maintenance and repairs. That's economy for me."
Electric heat offers a wide choice of modern systems. But, if your present heating is forced air, your new electric furnace installation is already half completed. Your central air conditioning too.

Listen to facts not fiction. Call our nearest office for an accurate estimate of all costs of converting to and enjoying electric heat. Then you decide.
Flameless electric heat is pure comfort

Said he could read a book a day, his window was full of National Geographic Magazine. He showed the picture of a rooster that had a tail 30 in. long. He really thinks a lot of Bobby Sparks, Dr. Sparks, said Bobby's little five year old daughter, Pamela, had gone to Pike Co. and was going to be a nurse. All by herself. Herman Coopers will celebrate his 83 birthday Aug. 15. He was a week, all by herself. He would have for him.
Mrs. Pattery said her granddaughter, husband, and two children had been in the hospital for a week. The grandson-in-law, Roger Allen, is in the US Navy, they had just been from Manchester, Ohio, but Allen is taking them back to Florida while he is out on sick for more months. "Miss" Vada said she had seen little Shane but had never seen seven weeks old Shane.
Mrs. Phyllis Ott and her daughter-in-law of Lexington came to visit Landon Stewart, Sunday and took him for a drive and Chit Vest their Poodles. "I'm pop" went along too.
Groom: "What are you looking for, my beloved?"
Bride: "I just washed the ice cubes in warm water, and now a new nurse is looking for me."
Mrs. Helen Fisher is a new nurse in Lexington.
The weekly worship service was given Monday afternoon Aug. 9 at the Rev. Dallas Scott of the Baptist Church.
Boy, Sugg is a good musician. He led the singing and even without a piano the singing went so good. We sang quite a few old hymns like, "Jesus Jesus Christ," "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," "I Shall We Gather At the River and others.

By Virginia Smith Donovan course his good daughter, Nancy Shaw, came to see me. Mrs. Dawes McCracken of Paris was around one day to see Miss Etta Anderson, Mrs. Gertrude Woodall and others. Thelma Morris and Uncle Tom are running a race on this grandchild's business. Thelma has a new granddaughter, Tammy Lynn Morris, born July 29.
For love birds, the billings began 30 days after the cooling. Follow next door spent a bundle on screen this spring. Wants the silver Fredrick celebrated his 90th birthday Sunday, was kinda of a surprise. They didn't bring food, but he really didn't need it. Almost forgot to say "Red" more wheel chair. Because several of the patients had to be taken out of the wheel chairs, put into chairs while they went back into the room and brought others out. If the inter-com had been working the others could have heard from their beds. Several of the workers as they had time for a minute or two stood in the doorway to hear the service.
James and Henry Lowe came to the home Sunday afternoon and left took him for a drive and Chit Vest their Poodles. "I'm pop" went along too.

Dove Shooting Times Changed for '71 Season

Many Kentucky sportsmen will applaud the recent action of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission in halting the shooting of doves one-half hour before sunset.
The unlimited it makes little difference whether the shoot continues until sunset as it formerly did, or is closed 30 minutes earlier.
There were birds, despite the heavy hunting pressure put on them, continue to exist in good numbers. Actually, in the eastern United States where the hunting pressure is greater, the population continues good. But, the Department of Interior reasons, even with the healthy dove population, a dozen a day is plenty for a hunter. Accordingly they reduced the limit to 12 per day or 24 in possession after two or more days in hunting. Last year and the year before the limits were 18 and 36, on an experimental basis.
Except for these major changes the dove hunting regulations for this fall remain about the same as for last year. The season opens on Sept. 1 and continues through Oct. 31, and continues through Dec. 9. Shooting hours, remember, are from 12 noon, prevailing time, until one-half hour before sunset.
But, the reasoning behind the commissioner's action is good and should have the approval of the majority of sportsmen. Veteran hunters are tired of the earlier closing. Only the shooter who hopes to harvest great numbers of doves is opposed, most usually.

Rooftop shooting, which will be circumvented by the half-hour earlier closing and was the reason for this change, is most destructive to a dove population. As the birds whir from their favorite roosting spots and congregate there literally by the thousands, they are set up for those who like to shoot away and see one or more doves fall.
At this late period some estimate that half of the great number killed are wasted. The hunter fires away, with no attempt to stick with his kill until after the last minute he is permitted to shoot, and by that time it has grown so dark he is unable to find many of the downed doves. The new regulation will prevent such wanton waste of the dove population.
The avid dove hunter applauds the change for another reason. They point out that doves of a given variety have a single roost to which they return each night. Doves bunch up, especially in late afternoon, and many thousands will spend the night in a relatively small woods. They'll return there each night and then forage into the fields the next day in search of food.
So long as there is food available nearby, they'll remain at that roost and in that vicinity. A loss of food will cause them to move out. So will the constant bang-banging of their roost. Often bugs droves have been driven from an area

CONGRESS VOTES Large Spice Rack

"Congress Votes" an impartial newsletter. Issued every week that Congress is in session, it will cover all votes on record and reports the position taken on each measure by the Congressman John C. Watts, 5th District Representative.
For week ending Thursday, July 22, 1971.
Whether to pass H.R. 9265 which authorizes a drug treatment program in the Veterans' Administration for servicemen and veterans.
Whether to direct a memorial to Mary McLeod Bethune, Negro Educator (S.J. RES. 113), Yeas 285, Nays 199.
Whether to adapt a resolution (H. RES. 424) to consider H.J. RES. 3. The latter establishes a Joint Senate-House Committee on the environment. Yeas 372, Nays 18.
Whether to pass H.R. 9265 which authorizes a drug treatment program in the Veterans' Administration for servicemen and veterans.

THE SHAKERTOWN SPICE RACK is a little larger than most... but that's because it's alive and growing just outside of the five dining rooms of the Trustees' office in Kentucky's restored Shaker Village. A large garden off the main building provides the produce for the authentic Shaker dishes served in the Trustees' office, but nearly all of the fruits and vegetables as well. The Village—Shakertown at Pleasant Hill, Kentucky—is located between Lexington and Harrodsburg on US Route 68.
