

The cause of crime

One of the greatest causes of crime is salacious literature. The right to have pornography all over town is the right to destroy our country from within. Americans spend two billion dollars a year on pornographic literature. If the same amount were spent on education, it would be paid enough. But the same amount is spent on pornography in the United States falls into the hands of young boys and girls in their early teens.

To attack "open-mindedness" and conclude that smutty literature has its place, is to condone national suicide. As James Kilpatrick pointed out in The Sins of Pederasty: "The heart and soul of this racket is not the grown-up sucker. It is the curious child... Police officials point to the remote, rebellious adolescent; social disease; homeless children; shattered lives of unwed parents; an expanding population of sick parents; a self-indulgent class that condones adultery; and the destruction of the home."

Psychiatrists point out that pornography is a major cause of the mental health of hundreds of thousands of Americans. It is published in the Philadelphia county and is recently being advertised in the greatest single cause of sexual immorality, for it causes the mental health of millions of people to be ruined. It is a major cause of the mental health of millions of people to be ruined. It is a major cause of the mental health of millions of people to be ruined.

When the paper doesn't come

My father says the paper he reads isn't put up right; He finds a lot of faults, too, he does, perhaps, but I don't; And that is to print the kind of stuff the people need; He reads it and says it's exactly the way he wants it; He says that he can't remember when the paper doesn't come.

He reads about the weddings and he smoothes like all get out; He reads the social do's with a most interesting eye; He says they make the papers for the women folks alone; He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan; He says that information it doesn't have and he'll be up; He says that he can't remember when the paper doesn't come.

He is to find to grab it and he reads it plumb clean through; He doesn't miss an item, or want to add, or change a word; He says they don't know what he wants, the darn newspaper guys; "I'm going to take a day sometime and go and put the paper down; Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb; He says that he can't remember when the paper doesn't come."

I Say What I Think

FRANKFORT — Reapportionment is going to be one of the big headache for the 1972 General Assembly. They have to do two jobs at one time—redraw the boundary lines for Kentucky's seven congressional districts and House and Senate districts for the state.

While the legislature is about this chore, it might as well reorganize the Court of Appeals districts, this poses no problem since this number can be picked up in Jefferson County by taking in part that is now the overpopulated Third District.

But when this is done, the trouble begins.

The Fourth and Sixth, Northern Kentucky and the Central Blue Grass area around Lexington are both overpopulated. The Central Blue Grass area around Lexington are both overpopulated. The Central Blue Grass area around Lexington are both overpopulated.

MERCURY VAPOURS

By Warren R. Fisher

It's tough when one skips a couple of weeks of column writing. One knows one must, but what will the subject or subjects be? ...

It looks like the Mercury office sports three front doors, but really it's one door. It's the one nearest the Snapp property. I and when we can find additional keys for all our employees, the lower door will be removed. Then the public will only have two doors to contend with, and the door in the center of the building leads nowhere—It's a bullet hole. It is behind that bullet hole is insulation and steel and panel work so even you should manage to open it the center door is in not the best way in. Now have I confused you enough? Two times Monday I did my best at going through the lower door, just barely I guess.

We know there are a few leeches in Carlisle, that are using this means to streamline their wallets. But according to a national news source, Britain's policemen are getting too far riding motorcycle and squad cars and may be forced to resort to bicycling to lower their budgets, which is also a police journal reports.

Another article from the same news source is headlined "Man advertises his taste in meat". A. G. Gray knows the kind of woman he wants for a bride down there in New South Wales, Australia. All Manila knows too, a two-column, three-color advertisement in the Manila Chronicle begins. They don't want to split hairs, or quarrel, or just a few dollars, to make 100 House districts balance and the 38 Senate districts. The Republicans might be satisfied by adding Boy, Garard and the rest of the state's race. When you move westward you run not meet, the one man, one vote standard, but they stand for two years' race.

To meet the court standards, each of the seven congressional districts must be very close to the ideal of 459,887 residents.

The real problem lies in the fact that the state's population is concentrated in the Third District.

The congressional districts must be reapportioned to conform with the U.S. Court of Appeals one man, one vote decision. The U.S. District Court at Lexington has told the legislature that the redistricting job done earlier this year on House and Senate districts does not meet, the one man, one vote standard, but they stand for two years' race.
