Jaycees Planning Community Survey

Jaycee Week Plans Are Revealed

The Carlisle Jaycees are making plans for the celebration of "Jaycee Week", Jan. 17-23. This is the week 6400 Jaycee chapters celebrate their birthday. They're entering their 51st year of community service.

The local Jaycees have been serving their community since 1959, and have grown to a membership of 50.

Plans thus far for the local celebration of "Jaycee Week" include the kick-off of a community survey and the "Do Something" program, and a "Jaycee Week" banquet to be held on Wednesday, Jan. 20. Guest of honor will be Mike Mangoot of Covington, who is the Jaycee Chairman of the "Leadership in Action" program. He will have an interesting presentation and film on the role of the Jaycee organization in the area of leadership training. Any young man between the ages of 21 and 35 who is interested in learning more about the Jaycees and who would like to attend the banquet is asked to contact any Jaycee.

The Carlisle Jaycees announce plans for a community survey to be started during Jaycee Week, Jan. 17-23. The survey is designed to discover community needs, and the results will be used to formulate future Jaycee programs of community service.

The survey results will also be used in carrying on the "Do Something" program, a program designed to provide citizens with an opportunity to help change conditions they don't like by making a commitment of time and their abilities within areas of need in the community.

The survey will consist of personal interviews between Jaycees and selected individuals in the community, and is expected to reach several hundred people.

Charles Whaley Retires From Soil Conservation Service; Replaced by Son

Charles Whaley, at left, was presented a watch in recognition of his 26 years service on the Nicholas County Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors. His retirement was effective Dec. 31, 1970. The watch is presented by Edgar Allen Darrell, board chairman at a dinner Jan. 6, at Gymbasia.

Whaley during his tenure, served on all elected offices, including secretary-treasurer, vice chairman and chairman of the board. He has represented the Nicholas Soil and Water Conservation District at many area, state and national meetings.

He said that during the quarter of a century of service, he has missed only one regular monthly meeting. The Board values his opinion so highly that on one occasion they met in his hospital room, as he recuperated from surgery. Perhaps no other Supervisor in Kentucky has such a record.

The Board's Plan of Operations created a new criteria for District operators through the state. He was largely responsible for the Nicholas Soil and Water Conservation District being selected Area Winner in a conservation contest in 1959.

Realizing the need for heavy equipment to do conservation work in the county, he encouraged operators to update their equipment by loans through the District from the State Revolving Fund, $214,717.50 have been borrowed to buy more than $300,000 worth of equipment.

Whaley, selected long ago as a "Master Conservationist" was also selected area winner in the State-wide Green Pastures Program. His vacancy will be filled by one who is also recognized as an outstanding farmer. He, too, is a "Master Conservationist," who was a few years ago selected as the Jaycee's "Outstanding Young Farmer in the County"—Fred Whaley replaced his father on the Board of Supervisors, effective Jan. 1, 1971.
