Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

During the holidays I'm sure we all indulged in too rich a diet. And I'm sure I am not the only one who feels a waist band a bit tight! By next week I hope to have a few recipes that will be good and on the slimming side. So until then just try eating less. At the Mercury Office we hope to "finish off" the last box of candy befoire Monday, and if "goodies" come to the office we will just have to use will power and refrain from taking that second piece.

Whatever You Do With Your Back During the Day... We'll Support it at Night!

Sure beats a cannibal's cauldron . . . the way our Spring Air Back Supporter will comfort you with sleep that supports your back as it deserves to be' supported. No wonder it's rated #1 for comfort and durability. Innerspring or foam latex, with Health Center*.

VEGETABLE SOUP

Should the weather be anywhere near normal for January, soup recipes should come in handy. Soup for lunch on a cold day or for supper if you have your main meat at noon is hard to beat.

If you are making vegetable soup from soup meat, I suggest you cook the meat and bone the day before. I do this and refrigerate over night so the fat can be removed easily from the stock and meat. Too while the meat is cold and after fat is removed, cut the meat in small pieces "across" the grain.

When cooking the meat, add a bay leaf and if you like it, a pod of dried hot red pepper and salt. After removing fat, cook vegetables in meat stock. Use any combination of vegetables you like, diced potatoes, sliced carrots, and a green vegetable like canned cut green beans (drained), peas, or lima beans. Sliced okra is also good. As a rule I do not add tomatoes. I use them to make tomato soup. Of course add onion if you like. Should you want your soup a little thicker than just beef stock and vegetables, you may thicken it with a thin paste made from cornstarch and water or flour and water. The amount used depends on your preference.

HOMEMADE POTATO SOUP

Boil diced potatoes in small amount of water as possible with about three strips of bacon, one or two ribs of celery with tops; one medium onion sliced . Boil until tender. Remove bacon and celery. Add three or four cups of milk--(Depending on amount of potatoes used and number to be served.) Thicken to desired consistency. Serve with a dash of Tobasco and Worchestershire Sauce and freshly ground pepper.

CORN CHOWDER

Saute slowly until lightly browned: 1/2 cup chopped salt pork or bacon; add and saute until golden brown; 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper; add and simmer; 1 cup raw peeled diced potatoes, 2 cups water 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 bay leaf.

When the potatoes are tender, combine until blended and bring to the boiling point and add to the above; 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup milk; add 1 1/2 cups hot milk, 2 cups whole kernel, canned or frozen corn.

Heat but do not boil the soup. Serve it sprinkled with chopped parsley. Yields about 6 cupfule.

CHICKEN GUMBO

Cut into pieces and dredge with flour 1 stewing chicken. Brown it in 1/4 cup bacon grease. Pour over it 4 cups boiling water.

Simmer the soup covered until the meat falls from the bones. Remove bones from soup and cut meat into small pieces.

Add 2 cups peeled tomatoes, 1/2 cup canned corn, 1 cup canned or frozen okra, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup diced onion, paprika to taste, and 8 cups water. Cook until the vegetables are tender. Add 3/4 cup cooked rice. Yields about 12 cupfule.

on a grave. Strawberry time was something to look forward to. Many of the graveyards contained plenty of wild strawberries. These came ripe after school had closed for the summer. The berries averaged the size of a pea, mostly picked too soon. If you had lots of indurance, you might get enough to fill a saucer. They were very sweet and tasted real good, especially when "Old Granny's" thick cream covered them. Mother was always ready and willing to go to the outside cellar and skim the cream off a gallon crock of milk which was covered with a board. No one was reminded of the size that he or she might be for having too much sugar on the berries. "These were the good old days."
