

The Military and Drugs

(The Carlisle Column)

The United States is doing a better job of drug control in the military than it is doing in America soldiers that it is doing in the United States.

According to reports in this newspaper, deaths due to heroin use are accelerating in the military. In the North Vietnam were attributed to heroin. But in December, 1969, the number of deaths jumped to 46, and to 35 for the first 18 days of October in September, 69 percent of all cases admitted to medical facilities in Vietnam were for drug-related illnesses.

The figures are grim. Some 300,000 veterans have already returned home with the habit.

There's a cat somewhere under the Mercury office floor. Now there are blue working papers and all are affixed. Not a one can be found in the office. The magazine of the display machine, the California Tayavara Association, in the publication of the "Tax" Foundation, which some years ago found a list of 100 names on a page, and made the usual remarks such as "a woman's hat, has added to its catalogue of hidden taxes. Now it lists 116 hidden taxes on a man's suit."
