Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.—Henry Ford

Francis Kaab Royce made her regular trip from Winchester and great grandson David Royce brought beautiful daffodil blooms to great-grandmother, Lola.

Sorella Sothy was visited by Mrs. Mayme Peters and Mrs. John Clinebarger, earlier in the week. Roy, Peters made her call too. They probably called on others.

Mrs. Eva Blount celebrated her 80th birthday April 26. She received several gifts, bath powder, cake, candy, lots of cards and a beautiful legging—pretty as I ever saw—from her grandson, Joe and wife Mary, and great-granddaughter, Sarah Catherine.

Mrs. Margie Bailey's son, Dallam Bailey and family of Ashabula, Ohio visited her recently. Dallam belongs to U.S. Navy and is being transferred to San Francisco, Calif.

Elmer Frederick is a lively old soul. He will soon go to the hospital and at the age of almost 90 he has no fears. He says he began farming when he was nine; worked with a cross cut saw for 25 cents per day; said he wore that saw out, but has two others at his little home. He said he'd never got much schooling after the age of nine. Mrs. Elmer says he has lived on several farms in Boone and Nicholas Counties, said he lived on Bill Ross' place on Hinkson, worked and saved up $1000, then took off to Locket

He hails from the Goose Creek section, said there were seven in his family, and he was the last one. When asked if he was related to the late Jess Rogers, he said that a brother was all. Just then it was reminded that he and Maude Booth Hardin were good friends. Remember one Christmas Jess gave her a box of chocolates. Like most families of eight at that time of year, there was too much candy around, and her mother hid the box and produced it sometime in February. It really tasted good then!

Roy Snapp just can't understand why there are so many dandelions in the home yard and not one on the hillside!

Clara Ruth Craig says she is just a mother. "Teacher says I gotta write so's she can read it and if I do, she's going to find out I can't spell!"

Recently I heard one senior citizen say if he only had one prayer to make, it would be, "Oh God! Let me grow old gracefully."

Louise Rogers is a new resident.

Mrs. Arrah Lee Sexton's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Estill Glass of Georgetown visited her earlier in the week, but we are sorry to say at this writing that Mrs. Sexton is in Central Baptist Hospital. Elmer Frederick, William Kimberling and Mrs. Louella Dixon are in the local hospital.

It's hard to keep up with Miss Anna Belle Gill. One day last week she and Kenneth Creech accompanied by her friend Bob Livin-good, motored to Lexington to see her home specialities. The report was good. On Sunday afternoon her pastor and wife of the Mt. Zion Church, Rev. and Mrs. Louis Hauer, came. Their home is in Georgetown, Ohio.

Rev. Melvin Hunt of the Henryville Church, was out one day and conducted the worship service, and Rev. Herman Kamlage came the following week.

Taylor Ring is a new patient. Mr. and Mrs. Aucus Smith of Anderson, Ind. visited Mrs. Min-nie Mitchell Sunday.

Mrs. Homer Woodall of Covington made Miss Effie Anderson a visit one day recently.

Uncle Tom said he had been so busy cutting bushes and hauling rocks; said he could do twice as much as any farm hand.

Roy Snapp and his daughter, Ruth had come to Paris to visit his company by her friend Bob Livin-good. Joe and brought back a good report on him.

Hargaret Brogman said her son, Carlos, came from Cincinnati for the weekend and visited in the home on Sunday afternoon. Also visited some old friends, one especially, his old teacher, Miss Effie Anderson.

Peace cannot be kept by force. It can only be achieved by understanding.—Einstein

Surprise Party Given Friday

Five years ago on Nov. 14, 1967 the parents and children came to the opening of the first Special Education class in Nicholas County.

We have many people to thank for the happy times we have had in these five years. The parents have been loyal, the teachers of this idea of helpfulness and loyalty they came to the celebration May 7, 1971 and gave the teacher and Mrs. Billy Hunter a surprise appreciation party.

We are still unable to thank them enough for the beautiful thought, the potted plants, and the refreshments.

Encouragement like this makes us want to do a better job helping the children in our class.
