No one is useless in the world who lightens the burden of it for anyone else.—Charles Dickens

Mr. and Mrs. W. Troup Clark of Paris visited Taylor Ridge. They both looked so "spry" and happy and had just celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary. Mr. Ring had some pretty flowers in his room and several visitors. They went by to see Mrs. East Daltzell too.

Miss Anabel Gill was being visited Sunday by an old friend and neighbor, Awry Mitchell. There was a pretty flower on her table. This was from Sue Kinggood.

Mrs. Jack Shearer and children Terri, Scott and Sheila of Louisville visited old friends of their late grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Ida Smith. Terri wanted to visit "Miss" Pearl.

There was a pretty flower arrangement in Mrs. Eliza Ockerman's room. The tag read "Hilly and Chester".

Miss Lucinda Burns of Lexington and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Burns of Paris visited Miss Anabel. "Coochie" one day recently. Miss Franklin of Shady Nook and her 91-year-old father, George Florence of Cynthiana visited Mrs. Serilda Sosby.

"Mr. Tony" said the same old crowd had been around to see him. Mrs. Made Hamilton says she really had few relatives, but she always welcomes Frances Sue Chastor and Anna Bell Burden, nieces by marriage.

The Mother's Day favors were given by Headquarters Church Youth Class.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wells of Paris visited Margaret's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Woodall on Tuesday.

Mrs. Margie Bailey has left the home to go to be with her daughter, Miss Bailey of Lexington.

Sheila Barrett was wearing a pretty red carnation corsage Sunday. It was a gift from her husband, John who we are sorry to say is still in the local hospital.

Louis Rogers is an interesting old fellow. He rooms with J.P. Barlowe, Jr., was having his toe nails trimmed and Louis said it reminded him of a story Butler McClanahan told when he ran a little blacksmith shop down on 68. Said Mr. Butler said a fellow brought his horse in to be shod and her hoofs were so tough that he had to saw them off with a cross cut saw, said Mr. McClanahan could tell big tales like that.

Louis Williams is a new helper who used to work in Lexington.

Mrs. Yada Peirley said her daughter, Dorothy of Aberdeen, Ohio, called her and said she couldn't come Sunday for she had to work.

Mrs. Ellen Kenney had a pretty pot of chrysanthemums on her table. The card read "Blanch and Stanley". Mrs. Ellen said she was the sweetest "thing" that ever lived, said she had pretty dress after dress that Blanch had made her.

Elmer Frederick said he didn't have to stay at the hospital and was glad. Said they said he was too old to cut on, and he was glad to get back to the home, for everyone was good to him and it was a nice place to stay.

At this writing Mrs. Arrah Lee Sexton is still in a Lexington hospital. Mrs. Keith Dodson and William Kimberling are still in our local hospital.

"Happiness is a rainbow. A dream that reaches far; The beauty of a sunset. The glory of a star. The joy that comes from abating a kiss with one you love; The light that lies in baby's eyes. And faith in Heaven above.—Mrs. Mae Berry

There was a nice box of chocolates in Grammy Hogg's room, must have been from her son, Albert of Richmond, Va.

Jullan Mitchell of Indiana visited his mother, Mrs. Minnie Mitchell and took her for a long drive. There were presents galore in her window, and candy and flowers which she shared with her roommate, Mrs. Dalzell.

Mrs. Serilda Sosby is walking again without the help of her walker. She and her roommate, Mrs. Eva Bloom, really should make "the dust fly." For they received dusters and gloves of all colors from Mary and Joe Bloom, Mrs. Sosby's sister-in-law of Lexington, granddaughter, Linda Mitchell and Irene Hilton. Mrs. Sosby spent the weekend with her daughter and family. Mrs. Tapp of Bourbon County. On Sunday they took her to Sharpburg and they all enjoyed a nice dinner with her son-in-law's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tapp.

Several enjoyed a delicious Sunday dinner in the dining room. Among them were the Shearers from Louisville, Mrs. Kenneth Kearns and her mother, Mrs. Essie Dalzell; Mr. Kerne, and sister, Mrs. Henry Allen of Bourbon County, and Mr. Price's folks from Lexington.

There were pretty red roses in Mrs. Claudia Well's room. They were from Dan and Berrie Floort; a pretty begonia from Junior Chandler's and pictures of her great-grandchildren. She said her boys were so far behind with their "cage business!"

No wonder Thelma Morris is too old to get to work. She has a new granddaughter, Tina June Ismael, born May 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mynear and four children of Lexington visited Mrs. Myra's father, William Kimberling are still in our local hospital. Sometimes I may spell a word wrong, get the places wrong or something like that. I

Medical Corp. Promoted Faster

Qualified men and women may now receive faster promotions as well as special training in selected medical skills under the U.S. Army's Medical Skills Enlistment option, Sergeant Meadows, local Army recruiter, announced today.

To enlist under this option applicants must meet basic eligibility requirements and be qualified technically in the medical specialty. Applicants may be married or single, however women applicants must have no dependents under 18 years of age.

After satisfactory completion of medical corpsman training, the applicant will be eligible for promotion to the grade of Corporal or Sergeant without regard for time in grade or length of service. Sergeant Meadows said.

For further information on this liberal program, interested persons should contact Sergeant Meadows at the Army Recruiting Station, His phone number is 987-6812.
