

Nursing Home News

Better to try to do something and fail in the deed, than try to do nothing. And almost certainly Taylor King is again living at the home. Several of his children, those in the county and out, came to see that he was well situated. Mrs. Minnie Mitchell had a birthday Sept. 17, haven't heard about it as yet.

Laws are necessary and Christians, of all people, should respect and help keep and protect them.—Billy Graham

"Tried to have a little 'chat' with Aunt Cora. Of course she wanted to know about Mr. Conley, told her he was in Ireland. She said that maybe he went there to sing them a song. Joe may do that very thing too."

Mrs. Eva Bloom was glad to see her grandson Joe Bloom, wife, and little great-granddaughter.

Light

Light warns prowlers, vandals and burglars to "keep out." Darkens inside them. Security lights on your premises are like a watchman always on duty. Light also protects you and your family against the hazards of stairs, steps, and dark walkways—makes them easier to see and safer to use after dark.

"Light Watchman" wages — just pennies per night! Bargain protection for your family, home and business. Turn on right inside day and protect your property with light.

It was nice of Mrs. Kathleen Paria McClanahan of Zenta, Ohio to write about the pick of meat chairs, she wants to know the cost of one and how she could help provide one.

The family of Mrs. Lula Kaah was so kind as to bring flowers to some of her old roommates and close friends.

Monday afternoon Rev. Charles L. Cooper, pastor of the United Methodist Church, came and conducted the weekly worship service. We were asked to meet in the dining room. As yet there is no piano, but we were fortunate enough to have the musician, Mrs. Sterling Blake, who led the singing for the week.

TREATMENT: Free application of alcohol to the inflamed lips as soon as the sores begin to make their appearance. Repeat four or five times during the day and twice during the night. If no alcohol is in the house, spirits of camphor may be used instead.

"Tell me nurse," screamed the brand new father, "is it a boy or girl?"

"The one on the right is a girl, the other two are boys."

Mrs. Gertrude Story and her sister, Mrs. Whittaker were around to see their father, George Soby on Sunday. Gertrude said she no longer lived in Lexington, but had moved her trailer near her son, Jack Randolph.
