Most of the students of the center live outside of Maysville and have no private means of travel. A transportation problem is not unusual in mental retardation programs, but the solution at Maysville was unique.

Hall appointed UK basketball coach

Joe B. Hall, successor to Adolph Rupp as basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, said Friday the appointment was a realization of a dream nurtured many years ago on the dirt and driveway courts of Cynthiana.

Hall, who has the tremendous task of replacing the famed "Man in the Brown Suit," never set out to be basketball coach, per se, at Kentucky, but he said such a goal is in the background of every coach's mind.

It is especially true of the native Kentuckian who cut his teeth on basketball and has dedicated his life to the game.

During his entire career, Hall said he always has concentrated on the task at hand, rather than looking ahead to other goals. That attitude carried him through a fine high school and collegiate career, both as player and coach.

At Cynthiana, he lettered three years in basketball and football and was captain of both sports his senior year. He played freshman basketball and one year of varsity basketball in the "Fabulous Five"

From Regis, Hall moved to Central Missouri. In 1964-65, when he guided the Mules to their first MIAA Conference championship since 1951, and to their first conference Christmas Tournament title in history. He was named MIAA Coach of the Year for 1964-65.

When Harry C. Lancaster was named permanent athletic director Feb. 1, 1969, Hall became No. 1 varsity assistant and head freshman coach. His coaching record with the freshmen is 60-15, including an undefeated season just ended.

After being named as successor to Rupp, winthropes collegiate basketball coach of all time, Hall said he couldn't wait to be in a better place. "I realize I still have a day-to-day job to do," he said. "I have not reached the end of my goal. I have only started in the job I hope to do."
