Geranium blooms signal opening of tourist season in Washington

By Marianne Kohler

So you long to flee the maze of modern living and return to the enchanting life of your pioneer forefathers? To stroll down a flagstone walk, pause in the shade of a tree and chat with your neighbor. . .or inhale the essence of homemade breads and fresh vegetables being unhurriedly prepared in someone's kitchen?

There is still such a place where, for a few hours, you can step back into history for a most refreshing experience.

Washington, Ky., an original community of the 1700's, will again open its season for visitors April 29-30 with a traditional Geranium Day salute to spring. When the geranium blooms in Washington, the town seems to wake from a winter sleep and get ready for visitors.

Washington, the first town in the United States to be named for its first president, has refused to change since 1786, when two aggressive Kentuckians purchased 400 acres of land from Simon Kenton and built a settlement. Still laid out in the same town plan and using the original flagstone walks along its streets, the little community survives today much the same as it was in its earliest days.

Situated at the point where the Ohio River flatboat travelers and overland travelers on the Zane's Trace met, Washington's inns provide a convenient haven of rest. Tourists now throng there each season to touch base with its serenity out of the past, and to savor the life style of a frontier town.

Guided tours will be conducted Saturday, April 29, from 11:30 to 4:30 and on Sunday, April 30, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Special events will include a pancake fry sponsored by the Lions Club on Saturday, and an Old Fashioned Gospel Sing at the Old Church Museum on Sunday at 3 p.m. For visitors, a light lunch will be available Sunday, prepared from some fine old Mason County recipes. And there are picnic tables for those who will bring lunches themselves.

Tom Strohfeldt, a gunsmith from Williamsburg, Va., will be visiting craftsman for the opening weekend.

The Old Church Museum, site of the Gospel Sing, was erected in 1848. A piano built by a company in Cincinnati in 1830 still is used for special occasions. It was made on Cincinnati's Canal Street and shipped down the Canal to the Ohio River, then up to Maysville, where it was unloaded and carried by wagon to Washington for the Durrett family, prominent early settlers. It was the first piano to come to Mason County.

There will be exhibits in all the buildings, among which are two communion sets from churches in Robertson and Mason Counties no longer in existence.

Highway US-68 to Washington is now open, and though some detour signs are still up until guard rails are finished, one may drive through without delay. Even against the hindrance of construction on the highway last year, Washington had over 3,000 visitors on scheduled trips from all sections of Kentucky and many surrounding states between May 1 and Labor Day.

Prospective visitors can contact the Cane Brake Shop, Washington, Ky. 41096, for special tours. Admission for adults is 50 cents per building; for children 12, it's 25 cents for a tour of all five buildings.

Suiting up

Dee Dee Metter, Fairdale sophomore at Morehead State University, prepares an artificial suit of armor for John Martin, Columbus, Ohio sophomore and a member of the cast of "Man of La Mancha". The popular musical opens a three-night run April 27 in MSU's Button Auditorium.

Registered nurses to meet in Maysville

A "first time ever" event will occur on Tuesday, May 9, when the Kentucky Nurses Association District No. 3 will convene at the Maysville Community College.

The Association's president, Mrs. Mary Flagg, requested that this monthly meeting be held in the Maysville area. All registered nurses from Mason and surrounding counties are invited to attend.

Dr. Mitchell Denham, well-known Maysville physician, and former legislator, will be the main speaker. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the college auditorium.

A Dutch Treat Dinner will precede the meeting. This will be held in the Capri room at Capriotti's restaurant at 6:00 p.m.

Miss Catherine Malone, chairman of the MCC Nursing Program will take reservations, and asks all interested nurses to call the college, 759-7141, ext. 29 by April 28.

Mrs. Mary Jo Theis, secretary for the Kentucky Nurses Association, whose headquarters is in Covington has informed Dr. James Shires, director of the Maysville Community College, that more than 12 members of the northern Kentucky membership will be in attendance. Both Dr. Shires and Miss Malone are hopeful that all registered nurses will take advantage of this meeting, which is being held for the first time away from the headquarters city.

Hatchery contract awarded

A contract for the second and final phase of construction for the Minor Clark Fish Hatchery, near Moorehead has been awarded to the Twin Cities Construction Company of Olive Hill, according to Bernard Carter, assistant commissioner of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Department.

Including in the approximately $690,000 contract is construction of an administration-hatchery building, three residences, a shop-garage building and a display pool in which all four species of fish produced at the hatchery will be exhibited to the public. Landscaping and necessary paving will also be done by the Twin Cities Company.

Work on this phase of the hatchery is to begin within 10 days and will be completed in about a year. Already under construction on the area, which comprises some 300 acres, are over 100 ponds. Total cost of the project will be nearly $2.5 million.

Muskellunge, walleye, rockfish and largemouth bass will be produced at the hatchery, Carter said.

Wildlife resources to conduct survey

"Is there a hunter in the house?" That's the telephone question for 3,000 Kentucky households between April 25 and May 10.

The calls will be from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources annual telephone survey, in an effort to determine how much game was harvested by Kentucky hunters during last year's hunting season.

If yours is one of the 3,000 households contacted by phone, the caller, a woman, will ask if there is a hunter in your household. If there isn't, the caller will thank you and hang up. If there is a hunter, however, she'll request that you

State Parks open May 1

By Marianne Kohler
Travel Writer

Ah, springtime in Kentucky! You can smell it in the new buds. . . feel it in the air. . .and see it working when everybody gets the urge to travel and the parks throw their doors open to a new season of hospitality.

Over the past several weeks, the Kentucky Department of Parks has been shining up its lodges and cottages, cleaning the grounds, painting boats and docks, rechecking motors and oars, shaping up golf courses and opening campground facilities, readying for another big year.

All 42 state parks and shrines will be open by May 1. Over two dozen campgrounds will open in the parks April 1. Two resort lodges (in addition to nine that have been open all winter) will open April 1, at Rough River Dam State Resort Park, Grayson, and Kenlake State Resort Park at Hardin. The remaining four resort lodges to open in May for the season are in these parks: Greenbo Lake at Greenup, Pine Mountain at Pineville, Buckhorn Lake at Buckhorn and Pennyrile Forest at Dawson Springs.

Commissioner of Parks Ewart Johnson says, "The Kentucky park system has long been known for its outstanding accommodations and variety of recreational activities. We plan to maintain this fine system and concentrate on enlarging our campgrounds. We have always encouraged recreation the entire family can enjoy, and now, more than ever, Kentucky state parks offer opportunities for family groups to vacation together in some of the most scenic country anywhere".

USDA raises allotments for food stamps

Because of the increase in grocery prices, food stamp recipients will receive larger coupon allotments, effective July 1, Russell H. James, Southeastern administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service, reports.

James said the increase, as announced in Washington, is in accordance with the Food Stamp Act of 1964, as amended, which requires the value of coupon allotment be adjusted annually to reflect changes in the price of food published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In addition, he added, the amendment increases maximum income eligibility standards and raises purchase requirements correspondingly for households at the upper end of the income scale. The cost of the increased benefits will be approximately $200 million. James said that no household will receive a reduction in benefits as a result of this amendment.

It was noted that the allotments of food stamps are geared to the cost of the USDA economy diet, with the amount of money paid by households not to exceed 30 percent of income. Based on Bureau Labor of Statistics data, the cost of the economy food plan for December 1971 was $111.10 for a family of four with school children.

Accordingly, USDA raised the value of the coupon allotment from $108 to $112 for a family of four and made appropriate adjustments for other household sizes. Maximum income standard for the four person household will be increased from $360 to $373 nationally.

Starting July 1, eligibility standards will be; one, $178; two, $233; three, $307; four, $373; five, $440; six, $507; seven, $573 and eight, $640. Each additional household member over eight will add $16 to the eight-person household stamp allotment and $53 to the eligibility level.

James listed the new monthly coupon allotments as follows: one person, $36; two, $64; three, $92; four, $112; five, $132; six, $152; seven, $172, and eight, $192.

Maysville Community College students earn higher grades

Maysville Community College students earned higher grade averages than students from any of the other thirteen community colleges in Kentucky according to a UK survey completed last week.

The study, which analyzed the ranking of students transferring to the Lexington campus in the fall of this year, showed that Maysville Community College students earned a grade point average of 2.44 at the end of the semester.

The average for all community college transferees was 2.16. The G. P.A. (Grade Point Average) is a system of numerically calculating students' academic achievement, G.P.A. ranking of 2.00 is equivalent to a C average. Ranking of 3.00 equals a B. MCC students proved to be considerably better than average when transferring to Lexington.

"Further analysis of the study shows that students from MCC entering UK earned higher grades while attending Maysville Community College, MCC students' G. P.A. while here was 2.97 compared to 2.76 for the community college system as a whole.

Dr. James Shires, MCC director, was most pleased with the findings of the study. He commented; "The outstanding performance by our students on the Lexington campus indicates not only that they are better than average, but that our faculty and staff are getting the job done, We've known for some time that MCC was top, while the community college system office only suspected it. Now, we all know, Maysville Community College is number one."

Mini-courses planned at Georgetown College

A mini-course plan for summer graduate study in teacher education has been announced by Georgetown College.

Each course will be completed within a period of two or three weeks and give two or three hours credit. Such courses will be available over a nine-week period throughout the summer, according to Dr. Ray Alexander, chairman of the education department.

"Teachers have expressed concern about the difficulty of completing graduate study during the summer while fulfilling other obligations--summer teaching, family vacations and military service agreement. Adhering to our belief in individualizing programs to student needs, Georgetown College has arranged graduate courses to enable teachers to complete one or more short courses or study for the whole summer if they desire," Dr. Alexander said.

Courses for the summer include: Guidance and Personnel Work in Public Schools, Human Development, Behavior and Learning, Guidance in the Elementary School, Guidance in the Secondary School, Testing, Measurement and Statistics, Recent European History, Independent study in speech, physchology and education, Interpreter's Theatre, Teaching in the Elementary School, Teaching in the Secondary School, Individual Appraisal for Guidance, Problems in Teaching Reading, Fundamentals of Kindergarten Education and Philosophy of Education.

Dr. Alexander said under the mini-course plan, students could complete two-thirds of their full-time residence in eight weeks. Residing on campus is not required however. No graduate record examination is required for students with a 2.5 grade point average or above.

Information on the mini-course plan can be obtained from Dr. Ray Alexander, director, Graduate Study, Georgetown College.
