Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

My sister told me that when we were in Vietnam that most of my dessert recipes were rich and called for a lot of cream, and when she saw the words "whipped cream," she just pointed to the bottom of the canning. Well since coming home I have done a lot of anti-fat. One cup of whipping cream, which increases volume when whipped, can not have as many calories as rich pies and cakes. For you see, that one 1/2 cup of cream combined with fruit or other ingredients usually serves from 8 to 8 persons. According to my calorie chart there are 720 calories in one cup of thick cream. Add a few more calories for fruit or sugar you might add. Then divide by 8 or 8. That is the number of calories you would get in your dessert. For those of you who are calorie conscious, I hope this makes your holiday dessert eating happier. If you want to save on the calories do with the recipe.

- RED WINE ROYALE: This is elegant enough for a fancy dinner party... CHEAM DE MENTHE: Combine in a 1 1/2 quart blender... LEMONADE-APRICOT PAIRAIT: This fruity sauce is wonderfully refreshing... CHERRY-ORANGE CHIFFON: Put a spoon of whipped cream in the bottom of each glass...
