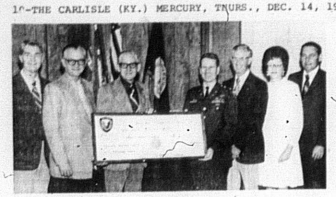
'Hire a Veteran' poster contest winners announced



National winners of the "Hire a Veteran" high school poster contest that drew 10,200 entries and savings bonds awards of more than $51,000, were announced in Washington recently.

The winners and their scholarship prizes are Michael Winsor of Delcastle Vocational and Technical High School, Wilmington, Del., first prize of $1,500; Thomas L. Jenkins, 17, of Walsingham Academy, Williamsburg, Va., second place winner of $1,000; and Frank Saenz, 17, of Colton High School, Colton, Calif., $500 third place winner.

The awards were presented by Assistant Deputy Administrator Richard L. Roudebush at special ceremonies in the VA Central Office, across the street from the White House.

Top winner Winsor also was presented with a handsome bronze sculpture "Omen of Life" by Sculptor Michael Naranjo, of Albuquerque, N.M., who was blinded in Vietnam by an enemy grenade. Naranjo last year presented his most prized sculpture "The Dance of the Eagle" to President Nixon. It is an art that Naranjo created and cultured during his long period of rehabilitation in VA hospitals and centers.

All prizes in the contest were donated by veterans organizations and other civic groups.

They also were given a VIP tour of the White House Saturday morning; were the luncheon guests of the VA's Youth Committee, and took sight-seeing tours with the families of VA employees they reside with while in Washington.

In pointing to the success of the national poster contest, Johnson explained that its purpose was to undersgore the activities of the national "Jobs for Veterans" program.

"While we do not have the responsibility for finding jobs for veterans," Johnson said, "the VA has been instrumental in bringing thousands of veterans and prospective employers together at job marts and job fairs throughout the country".

VA leads all Federal agencies in hiring of Vietnam Era veterans, with 17,000 on its rolls in October, and is adding about 1,000 a month.

The youthful artists will be the personal guests of Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson at the Presidential Wreath Laying Ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery on Veterans Day which will be attended by members of the President's Cabinet, top military officials and other dignitaries.

ANOTHER RECORD—Lexington-Blue Grass Army Depot employes contributed $54,858.66 to the 1972 Combined Federal Campaign, a record for the second consecutive year. Donations last year totaled $50,566.54. Dr. Alvin Morris (third from left), University of Kentucky vice president for administration and 1972 chairman for United Way of Fayette County fund campaign, accepts a "display" check from Colonel Ernest A. Valey Jr., depot commander. The donations will be distributed to Fayette, Clark, Madison and other Central Kentucky counties. Witnessing the presentation are, from the left: John Sowders, assistant depot chairman; Ed Bresnahan, United Way executive secretary; Albert D. Paschal Jr., chairman; Miss Imogener Westfall, secretary-treasurer, and Howard Rogers, assistant chairman, all depot employes. The installation's goal was $55,000.

Kentucky maintains fourth ranking

Kentucky has maintained its ranking of fourth in the nation in the number of persons rehabilitated to employment and independence.

In Fiscal Year 1972 a total of 321 persons per 100,000 population were rehabilitated in the state, reports Ben F. Coffman, assistant superintendent for Rehabilitation Services, Department of Education.

Rehabilitation services were received by 24,828 disabled persons in 1972 with 10,534 rehabilitated into jobs and later paying back costs in taxes. Of the 10,534 rehabilitated, 1,913 persons were public assistance referrals.

Kentucky's rehabilitation program spent $15,064,078 on services last year and the average cost per rehabilitation was approximately $1,430, Coffman explains.

The administration costs were 2.2 per cent--the second lowest administrative costs in the country. Yet according to statistics from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Kentucky has one of the most efficiently operated programs nationally. The average Kentucky rehabilitant will pay the government back in taxes in an average of 4.9 years.

Introducing new teachers at Nicholas County Elementary

MRS. LEE R. MARTIN JR.

Kathleen G. Martin teaches sixth grade at Nicholas County Elementary and lives in Sharpsburg. She plans to return to West Virginia University next summer to complete the last two courses needed for her Master's Degree in Education.

Mrs. Martin is married to Lee R. Martin Jr. who is presently attending Lexington Theological Seminary. He is serving the First Christian Church in Sharpsburg while attending school.

This is Mrs. Martin's third year of teaching. After graduating from Fairmont State College in Fairmont, W.Va., she taught a year at Kingwood Elementary School in Kingwood, W.Va., the next year she taught at Rivesville Elementary School in Rivesville, W.Va. Both years she taught the sixth grade.

MISS BILLIE JEAN HUDSON

Miss Billie Jean Hudson, a first grade teacher, at Nicholas County Elementary, received her A.A. Degree from Lee's Junior College in Jackson. She then attended Eastern Kentucky University where she graduated in May with a B.S. Degree in Education.

Miss Hudson was born in Perry County, and has lived in Breathitt County all of her life.

MISS ESSIE GAY JOHNSON

Miss Essie Gay Johnson, a native of Morgan County, teaches the fifth grade at Nicholas County Elementary.

Miss Johnson, one of eight children, graduated in 1970 from Morehead State University with a B.A. Degree in Education. Prior to attending Morehead, she attended Midway Junior College where she received an A.A. Degree.
