MRS. DAVID RULE
Mrs. Betty Louie Rule, 45, 432 Chambers Street, Paris, died at 1:45 a.m. Wednesday, July 12, 1972, at the Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington.
She was a native of Nicholas county and was a daughter of Preston and May Hunter White, Coatsville.
She was a member of the Central Baptist Church and a teacher in the Sunday School in the Lexington Department for many years.
Other survivors include her husband, David Rule; four sisters, Mrs. Hattie Hollingsworth, Lexington, Mrs. Marion Scott, Mrs. Charles Scott, and Mrs. Marvin Purvis, all of Bourbon County; five brothers, Woody White, Lexington, Jerry White, Georgetown, Frankie, Doonie, and Cecoy White, all of Paris.
Services were conducted at 2:30 p.m., Friday, July 14 at the Central Baptist Church by Rev. William P. Cabino. Burial in the Paris Cemetery.

The Lexington Lions Club presents its 12th annual Blue Grass Fair, July 21-29 at the Red Mile with an array of "free" entertainment.
Grand opening ceremonies will be held in front of the grandstand at 6:30 p.m. July 21. Armed Forces participation includes the U.S. Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force. A Hyper and a hand concert by the U.S.A.F. will be highlights of the ceremony.
Immediately following ceremonies, the world famous Budweiser Clydesdales will parade in front of the grandstand, Darryl Sallou, world famous teen idol, will entertain you with his dancing feet. He can be seen twice each evening with the Clydesdales making one appearance at 9:00 p.m. each evening.
Rex and Wanda Ross's All American Rough Riders, the Nation's No. 1 trick ropers and fancy riders, and Tex Ritter and Band will give two shows each on Friday and Saturday evenings in the grandstand.

Darryl Flesher's Hurricane Hell Drivers (24) (25) (26) will keep you "glued" to your seat with their "death-defying" auto thrill show.
Be on the grounds early, Tuesday, July 25, at 6:30 p.m. to view the famous "Golden Knights"; U.S. Army Parachute team exhibit their "free-fall" techniques. They will jump at approximately 12,000 feet, landing in the half-mile track in front of the grandstand.
Among other featured attractions are Hank Williams Jr., Kenny Rogers, and Jeanne C. Riley. There are just a few of the many things to see.

20% social security increase

Social security beneficiaries need not apply for the 20 percent increase signed into law by President Nixon on July 1. Ray C. Colwell, Social Security District Manager in Lexington, said that all social security beneficiaries who are on the benefit rolls September 1 will receive the increase automatically. The increase is effective beginning with the payments for the month of September.
The average monthly benefit for a retired worker aged 65 up from $184 to $222; for a retired couple, from $224 to about $271. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average social security benefit of about $326, up from $322. For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $354, increased from $275. The special monthly payments that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for a regular social security benefit will also increase to $290 from $257 for a couple. The new law also includes a provision for automatic annual increases in social security benefits as the cost of living rises in the future—a recommendation made by President Nixon in his 1969 message on social security.

Under the new law the contribution and benefit base—the maximum amount of annual earnings that is counted for benefit and contribution purposes—will rise from the present $9,000 average $10,000 in 1973 and to $12,000 in 1974. Thereafter, the amount would be adjusted automatically to keep pace with rising wages. This means that an earnings-rise workers whose earnings are at or above the level of the maximum earnings base are paying contributions on higher earnings—but they also will have those additional earnings counted toward the benefits that will be payable to them and their families in the future.

State to register welfare recipients said that plans are now to have a Central Kentucky league in which Nicholas county would be played at home next year.

Fryman was quoted as saying, "With five or six good players coming off the Babe Ruth All Star team and all of the players back for next year, this should be a good baseball team and a real 'fan' attraction."

Next month Kentucky will begin registering able-bodied welfare recipients for jobs, according to state Economic Security Commissioner Carl S. Hoecker.
About 25 per cent of those on the rolls of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) will be required to register under a new federal law which became effective July 1.
The new law requires able-bodied welfare recipients to sign up for work or job training and offers tax incentives to business or firms to induce them to hire such persons.
Under the law, lists of those who register will be turned over to local employment offices, which will be responsible for interviewing the recipients, finding them jobs or assisting them to training.

Once the plan is underway, either the local employment office or social workers will check on whether the recipients have jobs and how the jobs affect their welfare status and will help them with any problems such as childcare needs.
As of April 30, Kentucky had an AFDC caseload of 40,676 families, representing 144,344 individuals, Hoecker said. She said about 75 per cent of them will be exempt from registering or job training programs such as having children under six years old, being incapacitated or lacking available day-care services.
CREATE (Community Resources for Employment and Training Effort), a similar job-finding program, has been in operation in Kentucky for two years. That program, launched by the 1970 legislature, required some welfare mothers to accept jobs or job training or have their welfare checks cut.

Playhouse

Palm Beach, Fla., is confronted with native customs and attractive Gelsia girls as he tries to teach democracy and establish industry in the tiny village of Tobiki. Assisted by his interpreter, Dennis Driskill of Louisville, Capt. Flaby bewilderingly labors through governmental documents attempting to economically put the natives back on their feet. The native hearing they can write "Uncle Sam" whenever they please try to confuse the Captain and the U.S. Army as they adapt to democracy. In gratitude they present Flaby with many gifts including a Gelsia girl, Lorna Blossom, portrayed by Cindy Zach of El Paso, Texas. They also persuade the captain to build a teahouse instead of a pentagon-shaped school as outlined in the government's "Plan B". When Flaby's monthly "progress reports" reach his commanding officer, a blustering old colonel, George Proctor of Bloomington, Ind., the colonel dispatches a psychiatrist, James Dudley of Clinton, N.C., to the remote village to see what "the name of occupation" the captain is doing. The psychiatrist joins the captain in "going native" causing the colonel himself to visit the villagers.
Add to these ridiculous situations beautiful Gelsia dancers and everyone will enjoy an evening of comedy and entertainment. Playing nightly except Sunday through July 29, "Teahouse of the August Moon" will amuse and capture the hearts of all those visiting Pioneer Playhouse. Be sure to come early for a delicious check-wagon dinner and take their 18th century village. For reservations write U.S. 150, Danville, or call 606-636-2747. Dinner is at 7:30 p.m. and curtain is at 9:00 each evening.

College enrollment up 33%

Dr. Walter E. Watson, Academic Dean at Midway College, announced this week that Sunday, Aug. 27, 1972 has been set as the college's annual Registration Day.
Currently the school is engaged in the first capital fund drive in its 123 year history in an effort to procure funds for the construction of a new student center and a new health and recreation center.
Midway, an independent college for women, has processed acceptance forms to date for students from nearly every Kentucky county and anticipates a fall enrollment in excess of 260 girls, an increase of over one third since Aug., 1971.
Scholarship funds for Midway applicants are still available and are expected to remain available through Sept. 10, 1972. Historically, Midway has charged each student individually according to family income.
