

Louisville-World Center of braille publishing

From acetate to yeast, a wide variety of products come from Kentucky industries, and braille is near the top of the list both alphabetically and in uni-quesence. Louisville's American Printing House for the Blind is the world center of Braille preparation and production of other materials for the blind.

Founded in 1858, the Printing House is the oldest national, non-profit agency for the blind in the United States and is by far the largest publishing house for the blind in the world.

Its activities center around the publication of literature for the blind, including textbooks and other educational materials. The industry, which originated in 1820, is now a $100 million industry.

Between 140 and 150 thousand books are produced each year by the Printing House, and it prints and distributes over 60 Braille magazines on schedule— from weeklies to annuals.

For the benefit of visually handicapped students who are able to read, larger than average print, but who cannot read ordinary size type, the Printing House publishes large-type textbooks.

The original text print copy is set in large type photographically and printed in a quarter-inch-high, or 16-point, type. At a comparison, newspaper text is commonly in 10-point or smaller type.

In addition to this multiple-copy reproduction of large-type texts, the Printing House has a short-run process for the special production of only one to five copies of text.

This is useful in cases where a teacher may have only one visually handicapped student who wishes to use the same text as the rest of the class. On special order, the Printing House enlarges and reproduces the text.

Talking books—that is, recordings of books and magazines by professional readers on disks and magnetic tapes—are also produced at the plant at the rate of nearly 3,000,000 records per year. They include foreign language and 29 nationally known magazines.

Another manufacturer, however, offers a large variety of educational aids and appliances for the blind. One is the Braille abacus, a device. This simple device for writing Braille fits to the blind what the pencil is to the sighted.

The Braillewriter, another product, is a typewriter that imprints large braille characters at a single stroke.

Other educational aids, such as relief maps and globes, geometric in the m.e.c. forms, precision learning devices and action measuring kits are produced in Louisville for the benefit of the blind everywhere.

Noted around the world for its wide range of research and development activities for the blind and visually handicapped, the Printing House is the official schoolbook printer for all primary and secondary blind students in the United States and its possessions.

The plant, located at 1839 Frankfort Avenue, is open for tours between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday. Ask print catalogue of the thousands of items manufactured by the Printing House are available upon request.

IS YOUR REFRIGERATOR COLD ENOUGH? How can you tell the best temperature setting for your refrigerator—so that both the freezer and the fresh-food section will keep foods at their best? UK Extension home management specialists suggest that you check the milk and ice cream— they're just like thermometers when it comes to showing whether refrigerator controls are properly set. When milk sours in the refrigerator it is a good, cold drink, the refrigerator section will maintain 36 to 38 degrees where it should be. When the freezer keeps ice cream very firm, the freezer will be at approximately the proper zero degree.

Don't throw away plastic bags says UK Extension

CHIFFE PILLOWS with PLASTIC BAGS. Don't throw those away, plastic dry-cleaning bags soft, they're great for stuffing throw pillows. UK Extension home management specialists say they make a comfortable, soft stuffing, that only needs a light shake to fluff up. Instantly. For safety's sake, though, cut up the bags for stuffing while you're saving up enough to start a pillow. Whole plastic bags are so dangerous, especially around children, that they've been banned by the face and cause smothering.
