Honorary doctoral degrees for 10 Kentucky notables and a 1973-74 student of 417,235.50 have been approved by the Morehead State University Board of Regents.

Eight of the doctorates will be awarded during the spring commencement on May 19. Recipients will include L. G. Julian Carroll, U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins, former Gov. Louis B. Nunn, former Gov. Earle C. Clements, Murray State University President Harry Sparks, Corbinel Hubbard of Louisville, Henderson Blazer of Ashland and Gordon Hood of Ft. Mitchell. Carroll also will be the commencement speaker.

Hubbard is chairman of the Board of Henderson in Kentucky, interior decorating firm. Blazer is chairman of the executive committee of Ashland Oil, Inc. and Hood is chairman of the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education.

Receiving doctorates at the summer commencement on Aug. 2 will be Gov. Wendell Ford, who will deliver the main address, and author Jesse Stuart of Greenup County. This year marks the first time MSU has conferred honorary degrees on the doctoral level.

The new budget reflects an increase of $72,000 over the 1972-73 figure. Of the total for 1973-74, slightly more than $10 million will come from the state general fund appropriation and $3.3 million from student fees.
