

Construction progresses at the new Charleston Bottoms Power Station on Highway 8 near Mayville with much of the effort being devoted to building the bases of the turbine-generator and the stack. Completion of this East Kentucky (Wichester) Power Cooperative station is scheduled for 1976.—Jerry Schreman photo.

Stack base

The stack base, which is continuing to be reinforced by large amounts of steel and concrete, will ultimately support an 80-foot stack.—Jerry Schreman photo.

Steel reinforces

Workers stretch to help guide a piece of reinforcing steel to the top of the turbine-generator base, which is now some 30 feet high.—Jerry Schreman photo.

Champion cow sets another world's record on Southern States Feed

• Here's "Ballad" (Reinharts Arthur-Farms Ballad) of Glen-Lu-Knoll Farm near Frederick, Maryland. Winner of the world's twice-a-day milking record in 1970, she's made dairy history again by becoming the first registered Holstein ever to produce three consecutive 305-day lactations of 30,000 pounds or more!

Her feed is Southern States 32% Milk Maker mixed with home-grown grain. Her consumption peaked at 60 pounds of concentrate daily. The rest of the 42-cow Glen-Lu-Knoll herd gets the same mix, and produces an average of 20,937 pounds of 3.8% milk.

We carry 32% Milk Maker along with a full line of Southern States dairy feeds. Why not see what they can do for your herd? Come in to see us.
