Eight journalism scholarships given

The Carlisle Mercury and other newspapers of Kentucky this week awarded eight journalism scholarships to journalism students in three Kentucky colleges. The awards were made possible through the Kentucky Press Association's Journalism Foundation, established in 1956 with contributions from newspapers over the state.

The grants for the fall semester were made to two 1973 high school graduates and six students who received the KPA scholarship last year.

Receiving the awards were: Ron Garrison, Somerset; Miss Nancy Dally, Lexington; Miss Linda Ellen Carnes, Richmond; and Ron Mitchell, Lexington; all students at the University of Kentucky; Miss Delma J. Edwards, Lancaster; Miss Kathleen Gallaher, Louisville; students at Eastern Kentucky University; Miss Betty Vaughn Clinton, and Miss Joyce E. Clark, Marion, for study at Murray State University.

The students at Murray State University are first year journalism students and the other six awards are recipients of previous grants made by the Kentucky Press Association.

All eight scholarships will be eligible for renewal for the spring semester.

Prize winners listed

The winners of prizes in the ninth anniversary celebration of Economic Opportunity, Inc. were listed by Carroll Biddle, radio operator in the store in Paris.

He said the prize of an AM-FM stereo console was won by Sterling Hill, Carlisle, Rye, Ky.

Other prizes were won by Mrs. Adrian Smith of Bourbon County and Mrs. Mary Ann Harrell, secretary, who are full time staff members of the Center.

Cadet Manley attends camp

FT. HILLEY, Kan.—Cadet Daniel B. Manley, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Manley, Route 1, Sharpshooter, received a practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps Advanced Summer Camp at Ft. Riley, Kan., from June 5-7-9-10.

Cadet Manley is one of some 7,000 students who attended Army ROTC training at installations in the U.S.

The ROTC Advanced Camp provides an opportunity for students to develop leadership capabilities in a formal training environment. The instruction supplements theories and concepts which cadets learned in the classroom on campus.

Cadets normally attend the training between their junior and senior years. This enables them to better comprehend their final year of classroom work and to function as cadet leaders on campus.

Three Nicholas teachers receive masters degrees

Morehead State University recently awarded degrees to 461 persons at summer commencement, including three from Nicholas county.

Nicholas county graduates include Jane Becker, AMED, Morefield; and Annalee Burden, AMED, and David McMillen, AMED, both of Carlisle.

More than 2,000 persons witnessed the ceremony in Westley Gymnasium where MSU President Adron Doran conferred 221 masters degrees, 25 bachelor's degrees and six associate (two-year) degrees.

MSU has now awarded more than 15,000 degrees. The school reached the 5,000 mark in 1963 and graduated its 10,000th alumna in 1970.

Squirrel hunters can expect good year this season

FRANKFORT—Squirrel hunters can expect a good year for a couple. "This doesn't mean that every eligible person or couple will be getting that much from the Federal government this year," Colyer said. "The amount of the Federal payment any person gets will depend on how much other income he has."

"Eligibility for Federal payments will depend not only on the amount of income people have but on the value of their assets," Colyer said.

"If you're single—or married but not living with your husband or wife—you can own things worth up to $1,500 and still get Federal payments," he said. "A couple can own things worth up to $2,500 and get payments. Not everything you own has to be counted toward your total assets, however."

"A home of reasonable value will not be counted as an asset. In addition, the Federal Government will not place on the homes of people getting Federal payments. Personal effects and house-holdings are not counted in most cases. Insurance policies or a car may not affect eligibility either, but will depend on their value.
