MRS. HANDLE E. CLAY

MRS. RUSTY LAWRENCE

Mrs. Basha W. Clay, seventh grade teacher at Nicholas County Elementary, holds a BA degree from Morehead State University where she graduated in 1972. She majored in Sociology and minored in Health.

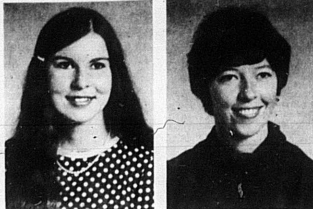

She was born in Lexington, but has lived in Sharpsburg all her life. Mrs. Clay is married to Handle E. Clay (formerly of Carlisle). Her parents are Mrs. Genevieve Webb and the late John Elbert Webb.

While attending Morehead she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority in which she held the offices of treasurer and social chairman.

Mrs. Brenda Lawrence teaches Special Education at Nicholas County Elementary. She majored in Elementary Education and minored in Special Education at Morehead State University where she received her AB degree.

Before moving to Carlisle, where her husband, Rusty Lawrence, is a pharmacist, she taught second grade in the Fleming County School System. She was born and attended grade school in Mason County. She graduated from Fleming County High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis of Flemingsburg.

Mrs. Lawrence is a member of the Carlisle United Methodist Church, the Carlisle Junior Woman's Club, and she is a Girl Scout leader.

Dressed up for the Parade

Kathy Thornberry, Ashland senior at Morehead State University, sports the "Betsy Boone" costume that will be worn Jan. 28 by MSU majorettes in the Presidential Inaugural Parade. In keeping with the parade's patriotic theme, the girls will wear red hair like Mrs. Boone, white boots, mull and "coon skin cap", scarlet tights and blue sequined uniforms. Kentucky's theme for the parade emphasizes Daniel Boone. The band is Kentucky's official representative in the parade.
